

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The Hon. G. Hilton Scribner, Secretary of State, administered to the members present the oath of office prescribed by the twelfth section of the Constitution of this State, and the said oath was thereupon subscribed by the members.

Mr. Husted offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following:

The Clerk put the question whether the House would agree to said resolution, and it was determined in the affirmative.

Henry Smith having received a majority of all the votes given, the Clerk declared Mr. Smith duly elected Speaker.

The Clerk appointed Messrs. Husted and Jacobs a committee to conduct the Speaker to the chair.

Upon taking the chair, the Speaker arose and addressed the House as follows:

Gentlemen of the Assembly:

Appreciating that you have conferred upon me a distinguished honor in selecting me to discharge the duties of this place, I now return my thanks.

I realize that I am entering upon a work of grave and solemn responsibility. I shall bring to the discharge of the duties of this place my best ability. I shall endeavor to perform its functions with a single regard to the public good, and the sole desire of acting with justice and impartiality toward all. That I shall fail in some particulars I have no doubt, and I must crave your indulgence and your support as we enter together upon the duties, and the discharge of the obligations to which we have so lately taken our solemn oaths.

Such suggestions as are deemed proper in reference to legislation will, at the appropriate time, be communicated to you from the proper department of government, but I trust you will indulge me, while I am entering upon the discharge of my duties, to make some suggestions in reference to my views of the duties of this place and of members of this House. To make laws is the highest and most responsible duty that ever was undertaken by man in his political capacity. The peace, the harmony, the prosperity, the liberty, the personal protection which we all enjoy depend upon the wisdom and propriety of legislation. It will call upon us in the discharge of this duty to exercise the highest degree of ability of which we are capable.

You and I are representatives of a great State with varied interests. Laws of a general character, laws as to internal improvements, laws as to municipalities, laws as to corporations, are required, and wherever you look, from whatever point of view you consider this question, every right minded legislator must be deeply and solemnly impressed with the awful responsibility that rests upon him; and, while it requires the exercise of the very best ability, it requires that it should be exercised with purity, and with a sole desire to the public good.

Party considerations, political considerations, private considerations, every consideration, must be made subservient to the common good of all, and I feel assured that we as a body realize these things, and that no man here will permit in a direct or indirect manner, however remote, his judgment to be affected, or himself to be swerved in the slightest degree, by any improper considerations whatever.

The wisest man and the most accomplished will find that there is demanded of him in the discharge of these duties the most constant industry, for in the time usually allotted to legislation each year in this State the wisest men on earth could not discharge its duties without the most constant and the most undivided devotion to this public duty, and I trust that all of us shall feel, that while it is a demand upon our private interests and may involve sacrifices in our private affairs, we shall realize that we are in the discharge of a high public duty, and these considerations must yield to that.

I may be allowed to say, I trust, with propriety, here, that the sessions of this Legislature, if you will intelligently consider the questions that are to come before you, must be constant through every business day. There is no time for a recess. There is no time to go home, and I trust from the time when the organization of this House shall be effected until it shall finally adjourn, every one will be steadfast in insisting that we shall keep continuously in session until we shall have discharged the duties resting upon us.

More in the way of industry is required, and, may I suggest from the little experience I have had, deferring, of course, to others who have had more experience than I have had in reference to the discharge of our duties, that it is of the highest importance that gentlemen of the Assembly should realize that when we are convened here it is for the purpose of transacting business in session, and every member will best economize his time and will best fit himself for the discharge of his duty upon final votes of questions that may be presented for consideration, if, while he is here and the House is in session, he will give his undivided attention to the proceedings that are pending before the House.

If that is generally done, there will be no occasion, as sometimes happens, to inquire of the chair what the question is, and there will be no occasion for such repeated calls of absentees on the lists. The sessions can be made much shorter and much more effective, if members, when they come together, will realize that they come to discharge a business duty like any other, and that it can only be successfully accomplished like any other business transaction by attention to the business interests.

The successful management of the business affairs of the House of Assembly requires the aid of many subordinate officers. I think that I should express to you my views in reference to the question of these officers, because if they are entertained by a majority of the House it may involve the necessity of some pretty prompt legislation. The Legislature is the representative of the people. It has absolute power to legislate except where it is restrained by the Constitution. The House of Assembly is but a branch of the Legislature, and it has no power or authority, except where it is conferred by the Constitution, to create an office or incur one dollar's expenditure of public money.

The law provides for some of the details of the organization of this House. It authorizes the election of a clerk, a journal clerk, engrossing clerk, two clerks for miscellaneous duty, sergeant-at-arms and assistant, door-keeper and assistant, librarian and assistant, and ten messengers. Deferring, of course, to your judgment upon this subject, so far as I am left to act I shall deem myself bound by this law, and shall be compelled to respect it. If experience shall prove that more assistance is required, then let it be done according to law, and let a suitable bill be introduced extending the range of offices to such extent as is essential to the discharge of the duties of the respective places involved in legislation.

We shall need no one about us here, holding official connection with this House, who is not absolutely required. We shall need no one but to whom we can afford honest and legitimate employment, and, I am under the impression, if constant work shall be furnished to those who are in the employ of this House, there will not be so many enthusiastic patriots willing to enter into its service.

It is no favor to a man to appoint him to a place here unless it is required in the discharge of some public duty. We should set a poor example to the people of the State if we shall encourage idleness, and we confer no favor upon a man by appointing him temporarily here unless there is actual work for him to do.

It is better for every one who needs employment in this broad, fertile and glorious country to go somewhere where he can always be sure of constant and remunerative employment than to depend upon the caprice of public places.

Gentlemen, I enter now upon the discharge of the duties of this place without a feeling of unkindness towards any gentleman here, and I trust that this feeling may remain thus when we have finished our duties. I have an apprehension, however, that in one particular especially I may at some time for a moment seem to be over-stepping the duties of this place, and I want to say in regard to that, that while I occupy this place, I shall feel it my duty, with sternness and emphasis, if necessary, to maintain perfect and complete order in this House. And if I should find, no matter who it may be on the floor of this House, transgressing thoughtlessly, as is often done, those rules that are required to maintain perfect order here, I shall not hesitate, because I believe it my duty to call his attention, to the matter, and I speak now to the end that if such a thing shall at any time become necessary, growing out of the thoughtlessness of any one who for a moment may allow himself to be diverted from some other subject that that before the House, he shall appreciate that I do it in the spirit of no unkindness, but with a sole desire to remind him of what I know he will realize as a public duty. I entertain the hope that I shall enjoy your support, and that we shall all together enter upon the discharge of our duties with integrity, with zeal, and with fidelity, and that we shall conclude with eminent success.

The House then proceeded in the same manner as in the election of Speaker to the election of Clerk.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, January 2, 1872. }

To the Legislature:

It is my duty to make known to you the general condition of the State, and to recommend to you such matters as I judge expedient.

STATE DEBT.

The unpaid principal of the war bounty debt was, on the 30th September last ($16,887,206.57) sixteen millions eight hundred and eighty-seven thousand two hundred and six dollars and fifty-seven cents. This portion of our debt will by the annual tax provided by the terms of the act authorizing the loan, be paid in full in about five years. It was contracted and is to be paid in our present legal-tender currency.

The residue of the State debt, which amounts to ($12,595,495.95) twelve millions five hundred and ninety-five thousand four hundred and ninety-five dollars and ninety-five cents, was contracted before the war, in gold, and the honor of the State and good faith demand that it shall be paid, both principal and interest, in gold coin. It is to be paid (except $48,860.11 loan of credit to the Long Island Railroad) out of revenues pledged for the purpose, and not by taxation, unless the sinking funds "shall prove insufficient to enable the State, on the credit of such funds, to procure the means to satisfy the claims of the creditors of the State as they become payable."

Of this last-mentioned species of debt ($2,257,900) two millions two hundred and fifty-seven thousand and nine hundred dollars of principal will be due on the 1st of July next, and ($847,500) eight hundred and forty-seven thousand and five hundred dollars of principal will be due on the 1st of January, 1873. The Comptroller is of the opinion, in which I concur, that there will be no difficulty in obtaining the means of meeting these payments, on the credit of the sinking funds, as authorized by the Constitution.

The entire State debt was, on the 30th of September last, ($29,482,702.52) twenty-nine millions four hundred and eighty-two thousand seven hundred and two dollars and fifty two cents, the amount of principal paid in the last year being ($2,926,441.74) two millions nine hundred and twenty-six thousand four hundred and forty-one dollars and seventy-four cents.

TAXES.

The State tax levied the past year is five mills and seventy-nine one hundred and twentieths of a mill. Of this tax, two mills were required for the annual payment on the war bounty debt, one mill and a quarter for the support of the public schools, three-eighths of a mill to meet payments for work on the new Capitol, seventy-nine-one hundred and twentieths of a mill for canals, and one mill and three-eighths of a mill for general purposes. The total yield of the State tax is eleven millions six hundred and thirteen thousand nine hundred and forty-three dollars and sixty-one cents.

NEW CAPITOL.

The new capitol commissioners report to me that of the six hundred and fifty thousand dollars appropriated by the Legislature at its last session, they have expended three hundred and forty-three thousand six hundred and thirty-one dollars and thirty-one cents up to the twenty-second day of November last; making, with what has been previously reported, about two millions thus far expended on the construction of the building, independent of about six hundred and fifty thousand dollars paid for land.

SALT SPRINGS.

The quantity of salt from the Onondaga salt springs, inspected during the last fiscal year, was eight millions five hundred and seventy-nine thousand one hundred and ninety-three bushels. This shows a decrease of production, compared with the previous year, of two hundred and seventy-two thousand and fifty-four bushels. The net revenue to the State has been twenty-six thousand six hundred and fifty-six dollars and seventy-nine cents, which is seven thousand two hundred and fifty-four dollars and twenty-eight cents less than that of the previous year.

BANKS.

On the 1st of October last, sixty-nine banks were doing business under the banking law of this State. During the fiscal year circulating notes to the amount of forty-seven thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven dollars have been destroyed by the department. Twelve banks have been credited with lost circulation to the amount, in all, of sixty-four thousand seven hundred and twenty-five dollars; the time for redeeming the same, after the usual legal notice, having expired.

The amount of circulation outstanding, including that of incorporated banks, banking associations, and individual bankers, was, on the 1st of October last, two millions one hundred and forty-one thousand four hundred and thirty-five dollars and fifty cents. Of this amount, the sum of one million three hundred and eighty-three thousand five hundred and twenty-five dollars is secured by deposits of stocks, mortgages, and cash. The residue, being circulation issued by incorporated banks in existence prior to the passage of the general banking law, is, of course, not secured by any deposit in the bank department.

SAVINGS BANKS.

There were, on the 1st of July last, one hundred and forty-three savings banks doing business in the State, with assets to the amount, in the aggregate, of two hundred and sixty-six millions two hundred and fifty-three thousand five hundred and ninety-four dollars. These assets may now be estimated, upon the ratio of increase of the year before, at two hundred and eighty millions of dollars. The number of persons having deposits in these institutions was, on the 1st of January, 1871, seven hundred and twelve thousand one hundred and nine.

I ask your especial attention to the necessity of being very cautious in the enactment of charters for savings banks. Some failures have occurred among this class of institutions during the past year. Being intended to induce saving habits among those of small means, by enabling them to obtain interest on the sums which they can, from time to time, lay aside from their daily earnings, it is the duty of the Legislature to provide in their charters every possible safeguard for the protection of the depositors. The object kept in view should be security more than high interest.

At my instance (Senator Palmer, then chairman of the Senate committee on banks, cordially co-operating with me), a law was passed at the legislative session of 1869 (chapter 213 of the Laws of that year), requiring that all persons desiring to organize a savings bank should execute a certificate, setting forth the name of their projected institution, its intended place of business, the name, residence, occupation and post-office address of each member of the association, and containing a declaration from each one of them that he is willing to accept the duties of a trustee in such institution; and requiring that such certificate, with a copy of the proposed charter, be filed with the Superintendent of the Banking Department, at least sixty days before the annual session of the Legislature. The law provides also that notice of intention to organize such an institution, giving the particulars contained in the certificate, shall be published in a newspaper of the neighborhood where it is proposed to be established, for six weeks. It then makes it the duty of the Superintendent of the Banking Department to transmit to the Legislature at its next meeting, a report concerning the expediency of incorporating each one of such proposed institutions. Every legislative committee to whom a bill for incorporating a savings bank shall be referred, which has been introduced otherwise than in the manner and with the preliminaries above described, is, by the terms of this law, required to report against the passage thereof. Of course, this law may be disregarded by a subsequent Legislature; but I recommend a strict compliance, on your part, with its provisions, as calculated to avoid a needless increase of these institutions and to guard against carelessly framed charters. I recommend to your consideration the propriety of restricting, by a general law, applicable to all savings banks, the amount which may be held on deposit for any one depositor, to a moderate sum. Those who deal in large amounts are usually capable of providing investments for themselves. It is not right that the funds of this latter class of persons should be mingled with those of less means, whose circumstances require a peculiar class of institutions, and for whom, specially, savings banks were created.

The tendency of late years to careless legislation in respect to savings banks and other moneyed incorporations, is shown by the fact that during the three years of my administration, I have found myself obliged to refuse my signature to sixty-eight bills for the incorporation of or increasing the powers of savings banks and other moneyed institutions under various names.

In connection with this topic, I call your attention to article 8, section 1, of the Constitution, providing that "corporations shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes, and in cases where, in the judgment of the legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be obtained under general laws." Of late years there has been a tendency to overlook the intent of this limitation upon legislative power. It is true, the judgment of the Legislature is to decide whether, in any special case, they are justified in disregarding the general prohibition. This discretion, however, should be exercised not arbitrarily, but in harmony with the purpose and intent of the whole section; which was, obviously, to take away from the Legislature the right of creating corporations by special act, except where it was very clear that the object could not be obtained under general laws.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

The number of insurance companies subject to the supervision of the Insurance Department was, on the first day of December, 1871, 238, as follows :

New York joint stock fire insurance companies	84
New York mutual insurance companies.....	10
New York marine insurance companies	9
New York life insurance companies	40
Fire insurance companies of other States.....	53
Marine insurance companies of other States.....	2
Life insurance companies of other States.....	30
Casualty insurance companies of other States.....	3
Foreign insurance companies	7
Total.....	238

The total amount of stocks and mortgages held by the department for the protection of policy holders of life and casualty insurance companies of this State and of foreign insurance companies doing business within it, was eight millions fifty-one thousand one hundred and eighty-five dollars, as follows :

For protection of policy holders generally in life insurance companies of this State.....	$4,104,035 00
For protection of registered policy holders exclusively...	2,342,650 00
For protection of casualty policy holders exclusively....	4,000 00
For protection of fire policy holders in foreign insurance companies.....	1,300,500 00
For protection of life policy holders in foreign insurance companies.....	300,000 00
Total deposit.....	$8,051,185 00

The Superintendent of the Insurance Department estimates that, toward reimbursing the loss by the fire at Chicago, companies organized under the laws of this State (not including those of other States and countries doing business in this State) will contribute over twenty millions of dollars.

STATE PRISONS.

The Comptroller's report will show, in detail, the earnings and expenses of the State prisons during the past year. The condition of our prisons is not satisfactory. Improvement can be secured, in my judgment, only by an amendment to the Constitution, which shall concentrate responsibility for their management.

I visited, as usual, all the prisons during the past year, for the purpose of hearing applications from the convicts for pardon or commutation of punishment. More than eight hundred applications for pardon or commutation have been made to me during the year. Eighty-four (84) pardons, twenty-nine commutations, and five reprieves have been granted. I shall, in a few days, submit to you, as has been my practice every year, a statement of the particulars of these cases, including the reasons which, in each instance, have influenced my action.

CHARITIES AND ASYLUMS.

The annual report of the Commissioners of Charities will give detailed information of the condition of the several State charities. I trust you will continue to provide for the early completion of the State lunatic asylums now being constructed, so as to afford additional room for the insane poor; to the end that, within a short period, all of this class may be removed from the county poor-houses. I again recommend, as I did last year, an inquiry into the condition of pauper children in the several counties, with a view to providing for their removal, if found expedient, to proper asylums.

EDUCATION.

The following statistics have been furnished me by the Department of Public Instruction for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1871:

Number of children attending public schools	1,027,089
Total receipts, including balance on hand, September 30, 1870	$10,658,576 87
Total expenditures.....	9,588,356 37
Amount paid for teachers' wages.....	6,678,377 51
Amount paid for school-houses, repairs, and furniture,	1,587,276 39
Estimated value of school-houses and sites.....	23,613,201 00
<hr/>
Number of persons attending normal schools.....	5,129
Total number of school-houses.....	11,721
Number of teachers employed for the full legal term,	17,828
<hr/>

For particulars and for suggestions relating to the administration of our common school system, you are respectfully referred to the annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, under whose care the educational affairs of the State have been so ably administered. I ask for the schools the most liberal legislative encouragement.

STATE MILITIA.

The State militia, known, now, as the "National Guard of the State of New York," numbers about twenty-four thousand officers, non-commissioned officers and privates. The details will be made known in the report of the Adjutant-General. This valuable force, essential to the security of public order, ought to be generously sustained by the Legislature. A contract has been made, in accordance with authority vested in the Governor by the law of last session, for supplying the force with breech-loading rifles.

The Adjutant-General has made very satisfactory progress in obtaining the adjustment and allowance of claims of the State against the general government for expenditures in the late war. At the time he came into office, the balance of the claims which had then been presented to the accounting officers of the treasury of the United States and were on file with them, unsettled, was $932,132.82, of which it had been estimated not more than fifty per cent could be recovered, owing to informalities of vouchers, and irregularities occurring in the hurry of the times when the expenditures were made; and it was suggested that the Comptroller should employ a special agent for the adjustment of these claims, to be compensated by a per centage upon the amount which should be recovered. The Adjutant General, with my approval, placed the matter in the special charge of Colonel Stonehouse, the Assistant Adjutant-General, who was familiar with the origin of the claims, and detailed Captain Butler, of the Inspector-General's Department, to assist him. There has been recovered already the sum of $622,279.10, with the well assured prospect of an early adjustment of the whole balance left unsettled on the 1st January, 1869 (except certain items of interest on temporary bonds issued by the State which will require congressional action), and the prospect also of establishing the validity of further claims upon the government. Additional claims to the amount of $364,107.07, have already been presented to the treasury department, and others to about the same amount will very soon be ready for presentation. The Legislature, at its last session, passed a concurrent resolution, authorizing me to appoint a special agent to prepare and collect these claims, and to award to him such a per centage of the amount collected as I might deem just and proper. I have done nothing under this resolution, being satisfied that the claims can be adjusted and collected quite as rapidly through the clerical force of the Adjutant-General's office, and, of course, at much less cost to the State.

QUARANTINE, ETC.

During the past year, 227 vessels arriving at the port of New York have been quarantined on account of sickness which had occurred on board of them. Upon these vessels, at their port of departure, on the passage, and after their arrival at quarantine, there were 729 cases of contagious and infectious diseases, and 109 deaths.

During the quarantine season, to wit, from the first day of April to the first day of November, 466 vessels, which arrived from ports infected with yellow fever, were detained in the lower bay for observation. During the same period, 542 vessels from suspected ports were examined at lower quarantine, and placed under observation for a period of from two to five days.

These constitute the total number of vessels detained during the year beyond the time actually necessary for examination. Out of this number seventy-five discharged their cargoes under quarantine, being but little over one per cent of the whole number of arrivals from foreign ports during the year.

Seventy of the vessels thus detained were found to have had cases of yellow fever on board, and from these, eighteen patients were sent to West Bank Hospital. Besides these, 205 cases and fifty-one deaths from this disease had occurred on board of these vessels, either at their port of departure or during the passage.

For the five years, ending December 31st, 1870, the total number of vessels which arrived with small-pox on board, was one hundred and forty-two; while, during the past year, there have been one hundred and forty-seven vessels, having on board an aggregate of 80,428 persons who had been exposed to this disease during the passage. The number of cases of small-pox reported to have occurred on these vessels, was three hundred and forty-two, of which two hundred and ninety three were taken to hospital from quarantine. Of these, owing to the crowded state of the municipal institutions on Blackwell's Island, it was found necessary to send a number of patients suffering from small-pox to West Bank Hospital.

Seven vessels only have had cases of ship-fever on board during the past year. On these the number of persons exposed to the disease was 3,778, of whom eight were sent to the fever hospital on Ward's Island.

Three vessels from infected districts have had cases of cholera on the passage to this port; and from these, fifty-two patients suffering from the disease, were treated at the West Bank hospital. The total number of cases of cholera occurring among the passengers and crews of these vessels, was 156; and the number of persons exposed to the disease, 1,432. Of these, forty-three died at sea and twelve in quarantine.

At the West Bank hospital the total number of patients suffering from cholera, small-pox and yellow fever, received during the past year, was 132, of whom 109 recovered and twenty-three died.

The absence of buildings upon the upper structure at West Bank, for the reception of persons who have been exposed to contagious and infectious diseases during the voyage to this port, was temporarily provided for by the transfer of the steamships Delaware and Albany, from the general government to the quarantine department. These vessels were anchored at quarantine in the month of September, and in the case of the steamship Franklin, which arrived on November 11th, with cholera on board, were of the greatest utility in affording facilities for the immediate transfer of the passengers from the infected vessels. The favorable results which followed this transfer, are said by the health officer, to prove the importance of completing at once, the structures contemplated at West Bank.

The foregoing statistics demonstrate the necessity for a thorough administration of quarantine laws. The immunity which the city and State of New York have enjoyed during the past year from the introduction of contagious and infectious diseases from abroad may justly be ascribed to the precautions adopted. All abuses, if any be found, should be remedied, but the inconvenience to a few, by the detention imposed upon only one vessel out of a hundred, is not to be weighed against the protection afforded to the people in the cities of New York and Brooklyn, and of the State, against infectious diseases.

There have been for many years, and under all administrations, complaints in the press against the health officer, and also against the harbor-masters of the port of New York. No proof has been adduced before me of maladministration on the part of the present officers. In one instance, prior to December 15, 1871, charges were preferred against a harbor-master, which were withdrawn. On the 15th of December, 1871, charges were preferred in another case, which are now under examination. In the case of the health officer, one complaint has been laid before me. Although the law gave me no power in the matter, the health officer promptly responded to my request for explanations; the complaint was found to be connected, not with his office proper, nor with his fees, but with certain rates established for contributions to the support of the hospitals at quarantine; and the injustice complained of was promptly cured. Under the law, as it was established in 1863, and as it now stands, the Governor has no power to remove the health officer (and appoint another), even after a formal investigation, during the recess of the Senate; the period of the year when, if ever, abuses are likely to occur. I recommend that the Governor be empowered to appoint the health officer and harbor-masters, including the captain of the port, without the consent of the Senate; and to remove them or any of them at pleasure. A prompt remedy would then be provided against abuses without the delay incident to a formal investigation.

In the single instance of the presentation to me of charges against the health officer, I took the occasion, in referring the matter to the commissioners of quarantine, to request them to inquire into alleged abuses in quarantine administration, giving merchants and others opportunity of being heard. I have received their report, dated December 11th, 1871, which, with a communication from the health officer relating thereto, will be duly transmitted to the Legislature for its information.

It is proper to say, that if citizens who know of and can prove official misconduct on the part of public officers, fail to present the charges and proofs to the Governor, the responsibility for continued abuses rests upon them. The Governor, in such matters, acts in a quasi-judicial capacity, and he cannot, any more than can a court, entertain charges made simply through the public press.

Nor should it be forgotten, that if extra compensation is paid to harbor-masters, it may be too often due to the eagerness of owners and consignees of vessels to get the advantage, one over another, in the occupancy of wharves.

The Governor is always ready to do his duty, and to remove a guilty party when he has the power. Merchants and others fail to do theirs, when any of them pay a bribe to a public officer, or neglect to expose and bring to justice whoever demands or accepts one.

I recommend a thorough examination of the official acts of the health officer and harbor-masters, and such amendments to existing laws, as may be necessary to put an end to such evils as may be shown to exist.

IMMIGRATION.

The number of arrivals of immigrants in the port of New York this year is two hundred and twenty-nine thousand, an increase, as compared with last year, of seventeen thousand.

REVISION OF STATUTES.

A report from the commissioners for revising the statutes may be expected at an early day in the session, showing what progress has thus far been made in their work.

CANALS.

The surplus revenues of the canals, for the past year, have been nearly double those of the previous year, although, for four months of the year 1870, the former higher rates of toll prevailed; the contribution to the sinking fund, for the fiscal year ending 30th September last, being $981,588 68 against $569,974.61 contributed the year before. The expenditures have been materially reduced. The official reports of the Comptroller and Auditor will show the details of expenditure and revenue. It is the unanimous testimony of those engaged in business upon them that the canals are in better order than at any previous period. My opinions as to the true policy of the State, with reference to its canals, have been so fully expressed in three successive annual messages, that it is not necessary here to repeat them. The policy of low tolls, which, when first recommended, met with strong opposition, is now, by general consent, admitted to be wise. The season of navigation of 1871 was fifteen days shorter than that of 1870, yet there was an increase of tolls to the extent of $487,722.78.

I have received a letter from the President of the United States, calling my attention to the twenty-seventh article of the recent treaty between Great Britain and the United States, which article is in these words, to wit:

"ARTICLE XXVII.—The government of her Britannic majesty engages to urge upon the government of the Dominion of Canada to secure to the citizens of the United States the use of the Welland, St. Lawrence, and other canals in the Dominion, on terms of equality with the inhabitants of the Dominion; and the government of the United States engages that the subjects of her Britannic majesty shall enjoy the use of the St. Clair Flats canal on terms of equality with the inhabitants of the United States, and further engages to urge upon the State governments to secure to the subjects of her Britannic majesty the use of the several State canals connected with the navigation of the lakes or rivers traversed by or contiguous to the boundary line between the possessions of the high contracting parties, on terms of equality with the inhabitants of the United States."

The President requests such legislation on the part of this State as may be necessary to carry out, on our canals, this provision of the treaty. My impression is that nothing exists in our State laws, now, to forbid the subjects of another country using our canals on terms of full equality with the citizens of the United States. I recommend an inquiry on your part on this point, and the prompt passage of any laws which may be necessary for the fulfillment of the undertaking made by the federal government.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

The disastrous fire at Chicago destroyed the valuable public law library of that city. It was always open to the free use of members of the bar from other States, and contained complete sets of the reports of this State and of its statutes, as well as those of other States and Great Britain. Upon being informed of this loss by a committee of the bar of Chicago, engaged in the work of restoring the library, and upon their application for such assistance as this State could give, I took the responsibility, in view of the intimate business relations existing between the States of Illinois and New York, of causing to be sent to them the statutes, the reports and the digests of this State, complete, as a donation from New York, knowing that the need was pressing for the work of restoration being promptly effected. In doing this, I was careful not to incur any liability in behalf of the State. I, nevertheless, respectfully ask that you make an appropriation to cover the cost of this gift. Some of the books having been furnished by the State Library, from extra copies in their possession, the total amount expended will not exceed sixteen hundred dollars.

Full rights of inheritance are accorded to the children of American male citizens, without reference to the nationality of the mother, although the children be born abroad; while the children of an American woman married to an alien, are, if they be born abroad, denied like rights. I recommend that the disability of the latter class of persons to inherit be removed by statute.

I suggest, for your careful consideration, especially in view of the several treaties made between the United States and foreign governments, in respect to naturalization and expatriation, whether it would not be wise to remove all disabilities of aliens relating to the acquisition, possession, and transmission of real estate. In several of the States of the Union these disabilities no longer exist, and in England they were removed by statute passed May 12, 1870, the day before the date when the treaty between England and the United States, relating to naturalization, was signed. If you should pass a law removing all these disabilities, the suggestion last made, with reference to children born abroad of American women, will have become unimportant.

I recommend to your consideration the subject of alleged abuses under the referee system in our courts, with a view to providing a remedy, by law, for such abuses as may be found to exist.

The statutes providing for the election of Senators, in case of vacancies occurring otherwise than by expiration of term, are defective. The defect was brought to public notice by the death of Senator Blood, just before the last session of the Senate. I called the attention of the Legislature in my last annual message to the necessity of amending the laws in this respect, but they failed to supply the defect. I recommend prompt action by you on this subject.

I recommend, as I did last year, the putting an end, by law, to the hardship and injustice frequently inflicted upon persons who are detained as witnesses to the commission of crime. The suffering resulting from this, especially in cities, is very great and extends to many unfortunate persons, who are too poor to give security for their appearance to testify. The law should provide that no person shall be detained in prison as a witness in criminal cases beyond a specified time, and that, if the trial be postponed beyond that time on the motion of the prisoner, it shall be only on condition of his consenting that the testimony of the witness may be taken de bene esse, as in civil cases. It may be urged that the people may not be ready to bring on a trial, and may thus, in some cases, lose the benefit of the witnesses altogether. It is better so than to have innocent persons suffer imprisonment in order that even the guilty may be convicted.

I recommend, for the third time, that power be conferred upon the Oyer and Terminer, or upon the Supreme Court at General Term, to grant new trials upon the merits or upon newly discovered evidence, in cases of conviction before the Oyer and Terminer. The courts of sessions, which are inferior tribunals, have this power in cases of conviction before them. A person wrongfully convicted in the Oyer and Terminer, no matter how clear his innocence may be shown by newly discovered evidence, has no remedy save a pardon from the executive.

I recommend that the laws relating to the insane be revised. As they are now, any two justices of the peace, upon the certificate of two physicians, may deprive a man of his liberty on the ground of lunacy, and order him to be confined in a lunatic asylum. A bill was passed, at the last session of the Legislature, upon this subject, but some of its provisions seemed to me to be objectionable, and it was generally objectionable, in that its operation was limited to the city of New York. For these reasons I withheld my approval from it. There can be no doubt that there is room for great abuses under the law, as it stands. I recommend that all physicians who may grant certificates of lunacy, and all magistrates, who issue an order of commitment to an asylum, be required, under heavy penalties, to report their action at once to the county judge of the county within which the order was made, and that all superintendents of public and private lunatic asylums, be required, under like penalties, to report forthwith the arrival of every patient at their respective establishments, to the county judge of the county whence the patient was sent; that the county judge be required to investigate the case, summarily, and confirm or annul the proceedings; and that he be empowered, at any time, on his own motion or on the application of any one interested in the alleged lunatic, to re-open the hearing of a case, and to conduct such rehearing, with or without the aid of a jury, as to him may seem best, and thereupon, in his discretion, to discharge the alleged lunatic. Whether any amendments to existing laws relating to the State asylums for the insane be found necessary by you or not, I recommend that private lunatic asylums be brought under some system of licensing by the public authorities. The Legislature should provide for their supervision and frequent visitation. Inasmuch as the State permits the detention of insane persons in such private institutions, it is right that the same watchful care should be exercised over persons confined in them as over those in our public hospitals.

For the fourth time, I recommend an amendment of the laws relating to murder. Instances of homicide occur where intent to take life is proved, but where the facts are such that the jury are unwilling to find a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, because the peculiar facts do not warrant the extreme penalty of death. They cannot, under our present statutes, define the case as one of murder in the second degree. They are driven, therefore, to either acquit or render a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the third or fourth degree, although conscious that the light penalty awarded by the law to these two degrees of crime is very inadequate. I recommend that either the maximum punishment for manslaughter in the third degree be made much greater, or that when the degree of premeditation does not, or other facts do not, in the judgment of the jury, justify punishment by death, they be authorized to render a verdict of murder in the second degree, to be punished by imprisonment for life, or for a term of years, in the discretion of the court. It is no valid objection to the above amendment that, under it, juries would have too great discretion in the matter of enforcing the death penalty. They exercise that discretion now, in many instances, and do so with the law as it stands, at the cost of rendering a verdict not satisfactory to themselves, and of allowing a very serious crime to go unpunished, except by the light penalty attached by the law to one of lower grade.

I respectfully suggest that all bills, making large appropriations of money be passed by you at a period of the session early enough to enable me to return them to you with objections, if I have any to make; so that I shall not be obliged to consent to items not, in my judgment, proper, as the only means of avoiding the defeat of other just and necessary appropriations. The supply bill, as it is commonly called, has always been sent in for approval after the Legislature had adjourned, leaving me no alternative but to approve of it as a whole, or to let all the appropriations made therein go over, many of them being required at once for the support of the various departments of the government. The practice has grown up of inserting in this bill items of appropriations of money which have no proper connection with the general purposes of the bill as indicated in its title; many of which items, I am satisfied, would not, if proposed in separate bills, receive the sanction of the Legislature. This practice has become a great abuse.

I recommend the immediate repeal of the general town bonding act. Without discussing the policy of this law, I suggest that aid has already been given to railroads, upon the credit of municipalities, to quite as great an extent as is wise, and, in some instances, to the oppression of tax-paying communities. Its early repeal is, in my judgment, important to the general welfare of our people.

EIGHT HOUR LAW.

In 1870, what is commonly called the eight hour law was enacted by the Legislature and approved by me. It provided, among other things, that eight hours should constitute a legal day's work upon all the public works of the State, and that any public officer, who should violate or evade its provisions might be removed by the Governor, or by the heads of departments to which such officer was attached. By this act the Legislature intended to hold out the promise, on behalf of the State, to the laborers who might be employed on any public work, that they should receive a full day's wages, at current rates, for eight hours' work. The spirit of the promise has not been kept; yet no case has arisen where a removal of a public officer could legally be made. The laborer understood the law to provide for a reduction of the hours, but not of the wages of labor. The State ought not, under the forms of law, to deceive any portion of its people. Its practice should be in accord with its professions. It demands a general obedience to its statutes, and should itself set the example of strict conformity with its own laws. While the law stands upon the statute book, the professions embodied in it should be made good by such amendments to it as will render the fulfillment of its purpose certain.

TAX REVISION.

Under the provisions of a joint resolution of the Legislature passed April 25, 1870, I appointed David A. Wells, George W. Cuyler, and Edwin Dodge a commission "to revise the laws for the assessment and collection of taxes;" which commission, in the discharge of its duties, presented a report in February, 1871. The report was so important and exhaustive in its character, and so novel in its suggestions, that although I had supplied copies thereof to the Legislatures of the other States, and to municipal bodies in this country and in the British Provinces, yet, notwithstanding the very large editions issued by the State, the report has been twice reprinted, at private cost, in order to meet the demand for it among the general public, to wit, once in this country and once in Europe; the latter reprint being issued, with a preface by the Secretary of the British Board of Trade, by an association of gentlemen for distribution among the people of Great Britain.

In respect to personal property, the report of the commissioners shows that the whole amount thereof assessed and taxed is not as much as thirty per cent of the real estate assessment, or not in excess of the railroad and banking capital alone of the State; while the probable proportion of such property assessed to its true value is not more than fifteen per cent. The commissioners, furthermore, present a large amount of evidence tending to show that not only is such a result unavoidable under existing laws, but that the tendency of things (through recent court decisions, the offsetting of indebtedness against assets, and the exemption of the United States and other securities from taxation), is to become worse; and that at no distant day, the present system of taxation in this State will be brought down, practically, to an exclusive tax on real estate and bank capital.

Another matter of great importance, to which the commissioners call attention, is the circumstance that during the last few years the legislation of contiguous States, in respect to local taxation, has been of a much more liberal character than that of New York; and that, in consequence, the interests of New York have suffered, and are likely to continue to suffer unless remedial or reciprocal legislation is provided. Thus, for example, the States of Maine and Vermont, and also the British Provinces which border upon New York, have either wholly, or for an extended period, exempted manufacturing industry from all taxation. The new territory of the District of Columbia exempts all evidences of debt, that is, bonds, mortgages, negotiable instruments, etc.; the State of Maryland, all bonds and mortgages for the city and county of Baltimore; New Jersey, bonds and mortgages for a large part of her territory contiguous to New York; while Pennsylvania, proceeding much farther in this same direction, has exempted the machinery and capital of manufactures from local taxation, and, practically also in a great degree, her banking capital, evidences of debt, and all vessels engaged in foreign and domestic commerce.

New York is soon likely to be forced, by considerations of self-interest and self-defense, into giving this whole subject of State taxation careful attention.

The system recommended by the commissioners, and of which an outline code has been already submitted to the Legislature, is substantially as follows:

First. To tax real estate in like manner as under existing laws; provisions for enforcing valuation according to a common and well defined but moderate standard being at the same time prescribed. It is understood that the commissioners favor the creation of an office, whose incumbent shall be especially charged with the enforcement of the laws relative to taxation, and be invested with all necessary powers for accomplishing such object, and insuring, so far as possible, equity and uniformity.

Second. To tax moneyed corporations of the State in conformity with existing laws.

Third. All experience, and especially the experience of New York, shows that the attempt to tax, directly, property other than such as is embraced under the two before enumerated classes, affords little revenue; it fails in execution, and is certain to yield less revenue in the future than in the past, and above all it discriminates against the industry of New York in comparison with other States. The commissioners propose as a substitute and equivalent for all such defective taxation, to tax the occupier, be he owner or tenant, of any and every building used as a dwelling, or for any other purpose, on a valuation of three times the rental or rental value of the premises occupied; but not including under such assessment, any land except such as the building stands on, or is essential for access thereto.

All property not embraced under one of these provisions, as above stated, is to be exempt from taxation.

The principles on which the commissioners have founded this part of their system, are stated by them as follows:

“That the market value of real estate is always proportional to and dependent on the amount of personal property, or rather productive capital, placed upon it, or in its immediate vicinity.

“Only, therefore, as personal property or productive capital is brought in connection with real estate, does its value become appreciable and augment.

"Applying, practically, to New York the proposed system for taxing personal property, through buildings or rentals, as its representative, the commissioners say, that examination will show that the aggregate of taxation, according to the new system, on the occupiers of buildings, will be the lowest in the most sparsely settled agricultural districts of the State. Property here is mainly in land, and the value of buildings is generally much less than the value of this land with which they are connected. As we leave the sparsely settled agricultural districts, and rise through the more densely populated portions of the State, from the towns to the villages, from the latter to the cities, and from the cities to the great metropolis of the continent, we shall find that the value of land, of buildings, and the aggregate of taxable valuation will increase as the amount and accumulation of personal property increases, until land and buildings attain their greatest market and tax valuation in Wall street, Broadway, and Fifth avenue, where the accumulation of personal property is the greatest. It is also to be observed that, starting at the bottom of the scale, with the value of land greatly in excess of the value of the buildings connected with the land, that this difference, as we progress upward through the more densely populated districts, gradually diminishes, until, as is the case very frequently in the cities, the value of the building greatly exceeds the value of the land in which it is situated.

"And yet, while under the proposed system, the agricultural districts would, as now, pay the smallest proportion of the aggregate taxes, and the villages and cities as now also the largest, there would be no injustice; but, on the contrary, one uniform, equitable rule of valuation and assessment.

"The sum of three times the rent or rental value is taken as the substitute for personal property, other than what is invested in the stocks of moneyed corporations, on the assumption that no person can occupy any building, who is not possessed of such property, at least to the extent of the valuation adopted; an assumption fully sustained by evidence and investigation."

The commissioners allege, in regard to their proposed new system, that, under the first and second provisions, nearly all the property now subject to taxation will be embraced; and that, under the third provision, property additional, or rather ability to contribute to the expenses of the State, commensurate to the protection which the State accords to the person assessed, will be embraced to the extent of from five hundred to seven hundred millions; thus reducing the rate of taxation all over the State, and especially relieving the labor and capital invested in agricultural and manufacturing industries, and in shipping, which it ought to be the object of the State especially to favor.

When the report of the commissioners was presented in February, 1871, it seemed to me and to the Legislature advisable that, on account of the novelty of the views presented, the consideration of the whole subject should be postponed for another year in order to allow of the fullest discussion and consideration on the part of the public, and pending all action the Legislature instructed and authorized the commissioners to prepare a code in accordance with their recommendations. This code, with a further report, will be ready at an early period of the present session, and I should fail in my duty if I did not ask for it in advance the most careful consideration from both the Legislature and the people.

STREET PROCESSIONS.

The subject of the regulation and control of processions in public streets has been made one of special interest by unhappy occurrences in the city of New York in July last. The occupation of the public streets by bodies of men for the purpose of civic as well as military processions has been permitted under a custom so long established that it has come to be looked upon as a common right. The local police must have, of course, great discretionary power in the matter of regulating such processions. It has been the practice of New York city to afford them protection by the presence and escort of part of the police force, without reference to the occurrences which the demonstrations were designed to celebrate, or to the race, color or sentiments, political or religious, of those engaged in them. Our respective political parties have been in the habit, on the eve of an election, of getting up such demonstrations, not only in New York but throughout the country, with banners and mottoes indicative of their own views and not unfrequently reflecting with severity upon those of their opponents; all of which are looked upon, usually, by the by-standers of either party, in good humor and perfect toleration. Noted events in our own history have been commemorated by great public demonstrations in the streets, and, in like manner, men of foreign birth or descent, have celebrated occurrences remarkable in the civil, military or religious record of the country from which they sprang, or of the faith and church in which they and their fathers were educated. This right of procession has been considered to be established by custom as firmly as the right of free discussion and as is the right of the people "peaceably to assemble" by the Constitution of the United States, and may be regarded, in some sense, as a practical exercise of those rights.

A procession had been proposed for the 12th of July last, to which objection was made by persons holding views adverse to those to be celebrated, and they resolved to prevent it by violence, if necessary. Opponents of the first proposed procession organized another for the same day, with substantially the same line of march. The police of the city, deeming it almost certain that a serious breach of the peace would ensue, and in order to prevent it, forbade both of the proposed demonstrations. The order forbidding the processions was not submitted to me by the police commissioners, for consideration or approval, nor did they ask my advice upon the subject. The order was made by them in the exercise of their exclusive discretion and lawful power, and it was not my lawful right, on my own motion, to interfere with that discretion. On the afternoon of the day on which the order was issued and published, which was the day before that proposed for the processions, I received, while at the capital, information that the local authorities thought my presence in the city was desirable. I repaired thither, immediately, and advised that the police order be revoked. I was satisfied that it would be generally regarded as having been made by those in authority in submission to the demand and dictation of those who were not, and as subversive of the equal rights of men of all races, creeds and sentiments to protection, and would tend to permanent strife and bitterness, and to the disturbance of the peace of the State, perhaps, for many years to come. In deference to my advice, the order was revoked by the same authority which had issued it. My duty, then, was plain, to wit, to sustain, by the whole power of the State, the local authorities in repressing threatened disturbances, and by so doing, to assert the equal rights of all citizens.

The loss of life that ensued from the use of military force is a matter for great regret. It is clear, however, that whatever may be the cost, the rights and privileges of all classes of men must be alike protected, or none are safe; and that the prohibition of a procession representing one class of sentiment to-day, upon the demand of its opponents, or otherwise, would be taken as a precedent for interference, on another occasion, with one representing the opposite views, to the constantly recurring disturbance of the public peace, and to the abridgment of the privileges of all. I submit to your judgment, whether any new provisions of law are required regulating this matter of street processions and public demonstrations, which, good temper being preserved, have, heretofore, been harmless recreations for those engaged in them and for great numbers of lookers-on. Whatever laws you may pass on the subject should secure equal privileges to all men of whatever religion, of whatever politics, of whatever race, color, or creed.

UNITED STATES SENATORS.

I recommend that you pass a joint resolution respecting the Senators and Representatives from this State in the Congress of the United States to use their efforts to have the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed by the Congress, to wit:

“After the adoption of this amendment, Senators from each State shall be chosen by the people of the several States, and not by the Legislatures thereof; whenever the term of a Senator is about to expire, his successor shall be chosen by the people of his State at the general election for members of the House of Representatives in such State, occurring next previous to the expiration of such term; and whenever a vacancy shall happen, otherwise than by expiration of term, such vacancy shall be filled at the first general election for members of the House of Representatives which shall take place in the State in whose representation in the Senate a vacancy shall have happened, not less than three months after the vacancy shall have occurred, and in the meantime the Governor of the State may make a temporary appointment of Senator until the expiration of one month after the election at which the vacancy shall be permanently filled.”

The Legislature of a State has its own proper duties to perform, to wit: that of providing good laws for the internal government of the State, with which the choice of a Senator of the United States has no natural connection; and the members of a State Legislature should be chosen solely with reference to these, their proper duties, and not with reference to their probable votes for this or that candidate for Senator.

It is obvious, too, that the distribution of Assembly and Senatorial districts in the State may, at times, be such that a majority of the members of the Legislature, although freshly chosen, do not represent the popular majority in the State. In such instances, a Senator may be chosen who is not in accord with a majority of the people, and who, in such case, does not represent the State at large, as he properly should do. I can see no good reason for devolving the election of a Senator upon the Legislature; while the arguments against doing so are many, and, it seems to me, unanswerable. The people are quite as capable of electing a Senator by their own direct vote as they are of electing a Governor; and there is no need of delegating the important power of choosing a Senator of the United States to any electoral body.

NEW YORK CITY.

The recent exposure of great wrongs in the administration of the local government in the city of New York, has aroused public attention, to an extraordinary but wholesome extent, to the necessity of a reform in the conduct of public affairs. In that city especially, the people have spoken in a way which must not be misinterpreted. They demand an improvement in the condition of their local government through legislation, which shall have in view neither party nor personal ends, but the permanent general good. The limits of this message forbid a discussion of the causes which, for a long time, have been contributing to the results recently laid bare. For many years the city had not had a charter under which it was possible for its people, even if they had been willing to attend to their own interests, to have secured an efficient and faithful local government. At one time governed under local laws which failed to fix responsibility anywhere, at other times under varied, disconnected and irresponsible commissions, created to enable minorities in the city to exert political control; confusion, mismanagement and extravagance were apparent to every one, but the responsible authors thereof were concealed under the complicated machinery which was unwisely substituted for a simple government of the people. In my first annual message to the Legislature, while calling attention to evils then existing, I said: "Every dollar paid for taxation should draw with it direct responsibility, and every officer should feel himself at all times on trial for his public acts. No party could then long maintain local ascendancy which did not nominate its best men for office, and did not by economy and good government, make their control of affairs consistent with the interests of the people;" and I added: "No good government can be secured to any great city unless it shall have one responsible head, in whom shall be vested all executive power, and to whom, as the elected representative of the people, all departments charged with executive duties shall be directly and summarily responsible and accountable. If, with this as the fundamental idea, a plan shall be devised which will give to the political minority within the city a just representation in its councils, we shall, doubtless, secure better results in municipal government than have ever before been attained."

The same views, excepting those upon minority representation, had been, on several occasions, in nearly the same language, urged by me while mayor of New York, and were reiterated in my second annual message, as Governor, in 1870.

During the session of 1870 the present New York charter was enacted. It received very extensive favor from the press, and passed by a nearly unanimous vote of both Houses of the Legislature; another form of charter, submitted to them previously at the same session, having been, by a decided vote, rejected. As a whole, the charter adopted was a great improvement on the then existing condition of things. By its provisions, and those of a law passed almost simultaneously with it, the former board of supervisors, the members of which had been designated in such a manner as to leave the people practically no choice in the selection of them, and against whose management of public affairs the complaints had been, for a long time, many and loud, was abolished, and aldermen, elected by the people at large under the new charter, were substituted. It broke up the irresponsible district commissions in which the city government proper had been substantially merged, and provided for new departments, embracing every branch of public duty, to be organized by the mayor of the city. It restored to the people of the city their constitutional right of local self-government, of which they had been for many years deprived. It defined the responsibility of those in authority; so that, in case of wrong-doing, the people could tell at once upon whom to cast the blame.

It was a first step in reform, casting aside, as it did, a very vicious system of government, the evils of which had long been manifest to many, and are now manifest to all. It was not an unusual mistake, that in providing a remedy for then existing evils, others, likely to come out of the remedy itself, were overlooked. This was the fatal error in the legislation which, many years ago, transferred the government of the city from the people to irresponsible commissions. It will need great caution to avoid like mistakes in framing a new charter.

The chief defect of the present charter is in recognizing the mistaken doctrine of the congressional tenure of office law, whereby a subordinate in administrative duties is made independent of the appointing power, instead of being subject to summary removal by the chief executive officer for cause satisfactory to him. The length of term of office assigned to some of the departments would not have been found, in practice, objectionable, if the power had been given to the mayor to remove, summarily, for misconduct. As a substitute for this wholesome power of removal, it was provided, in harmony with the erroneous doctrine so prevalent of late years—that good administration is to be secured by scattering instead of concentrating responsibility—that the mayor should have no power over the subordinate officers, in case of misconduct, except to accuse them before the court of common pleas, as the means (and the only means) of removing them from office, while the mayor himself was not made subject to removal by the Governor.

A somewhat lengthened tenure of office in some departments of the city government, such as are created to carry out, or to administer some special work, may be, for many reasons, desirable; and is not objectionable, if the power be given to the mayor to remove, for cause, to be publicly assigned by him. The parks of the city and the Croton aqueduct have been thus administered from the beginning. All officers connected with the general administration of the city affairs, the comptroller, the counsel to the corporation, the chamberlain and others, should be appointed by the mayor, with or without the consent of the aldermen, be removable by him, and go out of office with him at the end of his term, as a matter of course.

My judgment is not in favor of requiring the consent of the board of aldermen to appointments. To do so leads to a division of responsibility and opens the way for bargains whereby one appointment may be dependent for its confirmation upon the consent of the mayor to give other places to favorites of the aldermen.

Though the charter was not all it should have been, it was the best that could then be obtained, and it promised relief from great and long continued wrong, under which the people of the city had been suffering, and from a system of government, the abuses under which are now coming to light. The misconduct, recently exposed, was not a consequence from any of its provisions.

The responsibility for the wrong-doing, which has very justly aroused public indignation, does not rest so much upon the charter as upon individuals who held office in the city before the charter was passed, and took office also under it. The difficulty with the charter, in this connection, is that it provided no means for summary removal from office. The auditing of the alleged claims against the former county government to the extent of six millions of dollars and upward, to which the public attention has been chiefly directed, was made not under the charter, but under a clause in the bill commonly called the New York county tax-levy; a clause, perhaps not objectionable in itself, if the powers which it conferred had been faithfully and carefully executed. The annual tax-levy of New York should no more be made up by the Legislature than that of any other county. It has been the practice for many years, to have the city tax-levies passed upon by the Legislature, and this has been the occasion of great abuse; the estimates of the city authorities being almost always largely increased by the Legislature. One of the good results looked for from the enactment of the present charter and other laws passed at the same time, was the abolition of the practice of bringing the city tax levies into the Legislature.

I allude to these facts not because I would recommend retaining the present charter, but because I think they ought to be known and understood. Many of the provisions of this charter cannot, in my judgment, be improved upon, but it is under popular disfavor, and I recommend its repeal and the enactment of a new one in which all that is good of the old one may be retained, all that is evil rejected, and all that is defective remedied.

The people of the city have, by their recent concerted and intelligent action, proved their capacity to manage their own affairs, and to redress their own wrongs. They demand of the Legislature now, not a return to systems which have upon trial proved to be failures, but the establishment of the wisest and best form of a strictly local government; the prominent features of which shall be executive power and responsibility in its mayor, clear and well defined accountability of all officials and frequent opportunities for the people to rid themselves of a local administration not faithful to their interests. It would not be wise for the State to take any part of the responsibility for the management of the local affairs of New York city. It is the duty of the State to give to the city a good organic law under which its people can manage their own affairs and protect their own interests, and then let them understand distinctly that success depends on their own willingness to attend to their public duties. If they will not give attention to their own affairs, no form of charter nor provision of law can secure to them good government. Municipal wrongs are not to be cured by the mere passage of a new law, however perfect in its structure; and it is certain that any charter framed to promote personal or partisan interests, will have, as it deserves to have, a brief existence.

New York city needs a permanent charter, as well as a good one; one which cannot be nullified or substantially repealed by the surreptitious insertion of a clause in a tax levy, or some other bill, or even by a specific law, with any and every change in the persons composing the Legislature. The charter of a city of a million inhabitants should be as well considered, as permanent and almost as sacred as the Constitution of a State. It should not only provide for the organization and conduct of the various departments of the local government, and clothe it with power to raise by annual tax the money necessary for its maintenance, but it should limit and restrict its power to create debts, except, by the consent of its people, expressed in a formal and authoritative manner. In this respect it would be well if we could imitate in part at least our own State Constitution, which, after providing sinking funds for the payment of existing debts, forbids the creation of any new indebtedness, except with the express consent of the people, for some single work or object to be specified in the law, which must provide also for a direct tax to pay the interest every year, and the principal in a specified period. This permanent character cannot, however, be secured to a charter, without an amendment to our State Constitution.

In framing a new charter, now, the following point should be kept prominently in view :

1st. Fixing the responsibility for good administration of all city affairs upon the mayor; and to this end giving him full power of appointment and removal of all heads of departments, except the police.

2d. Giving the people an early opportunity for a new election of local officers.

3d. Making the mayor subject to removal by the Governor, for malfeasance in office or neglect of duty.

4th. Providing for a police department, with three commissioners, to be appointed as follows: one by the mayor, one by the chief judge of the court of common pleas, and one by the chief judge of the Superior Court, to be removable, any of them, as in the case of sheriffs, by the Governor for cause. A board thus constituted and so subject to removal would be, as it ought to be, a strictly local board, subject to the same State supervision as sheriffs, who are conservators of the peace in their respective counties, and as free as any board could possibly be from the danger of improper personal or partisan influence.

5th. Requiring full monthly publication of all receipts and expenditures, and of all bonds issued, and frequent publication also of all contracts made by any department, with a statement of the general operations of each department and of their pay-rolls.

6th. Concentrating the responsibility of those composing what may be termed the legislative branch of the city government, by constituting this of only one board, a board of alderman not too numerous; this board, with the mayor, acting as supervisors, levying all taxes. A second board is not necessary. The common council is not called upon to pass laws, but to manage the affairs of a corporation. To divide it into two boards has the effect simply of scattering responsibility, weakening the sense of responsibility and dividing the watchfulness of the public. Making the board to consist of too many members will tend to the same evil results. If any plan can be devised for giving in the legislative branch of the city government, by election, a just and proportionate representation to the minority, it would be a wholesome improvement. In carrying out such a purpose, great care must be exercised lest the choice of their representatives be, practically, taken out of the hands of the people, as in the instance of the late board of supervisors, which was the worst device of modern times in connection with local government. The candidates named by either party were sure of being returned. The proper purpose of minority representation is to secure to the minority the opportunity of being heard in the public councils, without nullifying the rightful control of the majority or relieving it from its just responsibility.

7th. Providing that there shall be no debt created except for some single work or object by authority of law, and also under an ordinance to be submitted to or approved by the people of the city; every ordinance and law authorizing a debt to contain a provision for the extinguishment of the same within a fixed period; or else, giving to the mayor an absolute veto upon all ordinances creating or increasing the city debt. Upon all other ordinances, his vote should not be overruled except by the vote of three-fourths of all the members elected to the board of aldermen; and in the case of ordinances containing several items of appropriation of money, he should have power to veto some of them while approving of others.

8th. Giving compensation to all officers and appointees of the city government by fixed salaries and not by fees.

9th. Providing some well-defined, summary, and effectual remedy in the courts for tax-payers against abuses of trust by municipal officers, with the right also given to them, under proper restrictions, to examine from time to time the affairs of any of the departments.

10th. Providing that the acceptance of any office in, under or connected with the State government or the federal government shall vacate any office held by the same person in or under the municipal government, and that no person shall hold more than one office, at the same time, in or under the municipal government.

These suggestions, although made with especial reference to New York city, will apply generally to all large cities. City charters must, of necessity, according to population and circumstances, differ more or less in detail. What is needed in a city of a million of people, would not be required in one of fifty or a hundred thousand; and a general law aiming at entire uniformity in such characters is, in my judgment, not desirable. The people of any city, with a charter embracing the general provisions to which I have referred, can, if they choose, keep up a simple, honest and efficient local government; and under such a charter, if they will frown down corruption among the seekers as well as the holders of office; if they will condemn the lavish expenditure of money before election to secure office as earnestly as the stealing of it afterward; if they will make those who ask their suffrages understand that the candidate who by money demoralizes the elector is as much a criminal as the representative who takes a bribe; if they will bear in mind that spasmodic reform movements work no permanent good, but that a persistent attention to public affairs, on their part, is necessary to ensure a faithful administration by their representatives; they can secure all that is possible under any law or system of laws.

Simplicity is one great requisite in the charter of a city. Without it, responsibility can never be clearly and unmistakably defined and fixed. All complicated schemes which aim to secure to the minority an equal or unequal portion of the executive and administrative offices of a municipality, and so to make it share with the majority the responsibility of government will prove failures.

PURITY OF ELECTIONS.

At its last session, the Legislature adopted concurrent resolutions proposing an amendment of the Constitution relative to bribery. They have been duly published, and will, I trust, be favorably acted upon by you, so that they may be submitted to the people for their approval at the next general election. The proposed amendment relates to the corrupt expenditure of money to influence electors in voting, and, if it shall be adopted, laws may be enacted which will, if rigidly enforced, tend to check an evil which has assumed proportions of great magnitude. If I may believe current rumors, men of otherwise good repute are in the practice of standing at the polls in many portions of the State—even in this city, the seat of government—with money carried openly in their hands, and of paying it, on the spot, to electors for their votes. No such open and shameless use of corrupt means has been charged in the city of New York, much as is said of election abuses there.

The fact that large sums of money are expended throughout the State at every election is well known. Much of it must be spent for corrupting the electors. In city and in country, men are nominated to office because they have been able to purchase a majority in nominating conventions in the first instance, and because it is known they can expend large sums, afterwards, to promote their own election and that of their associates on the same ticket. Men, not candidates, but who take an interest in public affairs, are called upon to contribute, and do contribute liberally toward securing party success. Individuals and parties are aided by moneyed corporations, who hope in this way to secure favorable legislation for their own interests, or to buy the countenance and support of the government from which they receive their privileges. In this way the moneyed power of the country is brought in to control elections and secure to itself what it deems strength; but it does so at the risk of its own safety; for it thus debauches the moral sentiment of the community. The love of money, we are told, is the root of all evil. It is, assuredly, the root of all evil in free governments; and the lavish expenditure of money in elections is the chief cause of the corruption in our politics. A man who expends large sums of money to secure an office is apt to seek to make it up himself when in office. I do not doubt that the multiplication of officers to be elected by the people has had much to do with introducing or increasing this corruption of our politics. The struggle between candidates for local offices is apt to be more intense than the competition for higher place before larger constituencies. It is easier, too, to calculate the influence of corrupt means, and it is easier, by them, to effect the election of candidates, when the constituency taking part in the election is limited in number. The amendment submitted to you will enable the Legislature to deprive of the right of suffrage every one who shall be convicted of receiving a bribe for his vote or of bribing an elector; and to pass laws providing that any candidate guilty of bribing the electors shall be deprived of the office to which, at any election where he was guilty of this offense, he may have been chosen.

The inconvenience occasioned to the electors, by registry laws, is not to be counted against them, if, by their means, we can insure pure elections. I have little faith in them to prevent fraud at the polls. They have been tried and have failed to prevent it. More frequent charges of fraud and of frauds of a grosser character, have been made since registry laws were put in operation than before. Many who have watched their working insist that they can be easily made, and have been made, a convenient cover for frauds, which, without them, could not have been committed. They have this effect, certainly, that the vigilance necessary to detect illegal voting has to be extended over several days, instead of the one day of election, requiring more time for this purpose than men will spare from their private business; and so the watchfulness over the poll list is, ordinarily, less general and probably less complete than under the system of challenging on the day of election.

Upon principle, a registry law, if any be passed, should apply to all parts of the State alike. Yet I am satisfied that intelligent public opinion in the rural districts, among men of all parties, does not favor one there. The inconvenience and expense to the electors in such districts, from such a law, are very great, with no adequate good result in compensation. The conviction, however, prevails extensively among intelligent men that, in large cities, registry laws can be made useful in securing the purity of the ballot; and this conviction is so strong that the continuance of the system in the larger cities may be advisable. All laws requiring a registry of the electors, previous to an election, should be made as little vexatious and oppressive to honest voters as is possible, consistently with securing proper identification of the person claiming the right to vote and due examination of his right. It must be borne in mind that it is not the province of a registry law to define the qualifications of voters, or to confer or restrict the right of voting. That right is conferred by the Constitution, and cannot be taken away by act of the Legislature, except in the few cases specified in the Constitution. Any law which you may pass, therefore, ought not to be framed so as to work the actual disfranchisement on the day of election of any elector who, for good reasons, such as sickness or absence from home, or his not having arrived at full age until after the last day of registry, was unable to have his name registered.

The complaints with regard to the late election in New York and Brooklyn, made through the press, are chiefly of false counting of ballots and false returns by inspectors of election. The general suspicion of the existence of such an evil is almost as injurious as the practice itself; our people, if led to believe that it is carried on extensively, will neglect to vote, and will lose their habit of submitting quietly to the result of an election. The crime is, under our form of government, one of the worst, in its nature and in its effects, and should be punished accordingly. It is a practice which, persisted in, is more likely to overturn our government than any open war that can be levied against it. We have wisely, in our statutes, restricted the definition of the crime of treason to acts of open war against the State government, and to combinations of one or more persons to overturn it by force. The crime of making false returns of votes cast at an election is, nevertheless, of the nature of treason; for it seeks to take away the lawful power and destroy the rights of the true sovereign in our government, the people.

You have the power to attach what penalty you think necessary to any species of offense against the laws; and those imposed should be sufficiently severe to deter men from committing crimes, yet not so extreme as to be likely to protect them from conviction.

Effectual laws against bribery of the electors and to take away an office obtained by bribery, thorough protection of the right of challenge on election day, severe penalties against miscounting of votes and against illegal voting, ought to suffice for the protection of the ballot, and will suffice if citizens, juries and public officers will do their duty.

PURITY OF LEGISLATION.

The people cannot be too fully awakened to the dangers inseparable from the growth of moneyed power in this country, whether wielded by individuals or corporations. It makes itself felt everywhere in our politics, and aims to control, and too often does control, legislation in Federal and State capitals. We cannot directly strike at it in other States, or at Washington, but we can begin at the capital of our own State, and set an example to others. There is a popular belief that much important legislation, in past years, here, has been influenced by the direct use of money. This belief is so general and wide-spread, that it is due to the people that there should be a prompt and thorough legislative inquiry to ascertain whether it is well founded. If it be so, guilty men should be brought to justice under existing laws, if that is possible. If not, then proper laws should be passed to meet cases which may hereafter arise. The people will be slow to obey laws which, they believe, are enacted by a corrupt Legislature. Their demand to-day is not for municipal reform only, but for reform in every department of government, State and Federal, in which abuses may be shown to exist. Authority, whether executive or legislative, to be cheerfully obeyed, must be respected and honored.

CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM.

A few years ago the people of this State voted in favor of holding a convention to frame a new Constitution; thus expressing their dissatisfaction with the existing Constitution. The convention was held; but, on the result of its deliberations being submitted to a vote, the people rejected the proposed new instrument, with the exception of one article, to wit, that relating to the judiciary. It is not a fair inference from this action of the people that they desired a convention for the single end of amending the judicial system of the State. That could have been done by the simple process of submitting, after due consideration by the Legislature, a single amendment, covering the one subject. The vote of the people calling a convention indicated that they recognized many defects in our existing Constitution. The vote rejecting the substitute proposed by the convention indicated that, in the popular judgment, the remedies suggested for these defects were not sufficient or satisfactory.

In my opinion the present Constitution of the State is very defective as a frame work of efficient republican government. In considering this subject, it must be borne in mind that the population of this State is now larger than that of the whole Union when the Constitution of the United States was put into operation, and that our State has, in fact, in the number of its people and the great interests protected by its laws, the proportions of a nation. It must also be remembered that the comfort, welfare and happiness of the people are affected in a very much greater degree by the laws of the State, and the manner of their enforcement, than by the operations of the general government. The title to property and the rights of, and the restraints upon, the owners of property, are regulated by State laws. The enforcement of business contracts of every nature are, in the main, in the hands of the State courts. The detection and repression of crime are dependent, except in a few rare instances, upon the enactment of proper criminal laws by the State Legislature and their due enforcement. The order of the community is under the guardianship of State laws, and dependent upon State authorities for its preservation. The powers of our municipal governments, whose action influences still more sensibly the peace and comfort of every man's home, are conferred and defined by the State government. It is obvious, therefore, that it is a matter of transcendent importance to every citizen of this great commonwealth, that it should possess a wisely constructed frame-work of government, adapted to secure the most wholesome legislation, the most efficient enforcement of law, the most faithful administration of its affairs, and an uninterrupted maintenance of order.

I do not recommend the calling of another convention to revise the Constitution, at this time. The attention of the people will be much engrossed this year by the presidential election; but I trust that, immediately after that event, the efforts of our best citizens, of all parties, will be united to effect a thorough revision. Nor am I sure that a convention is a necessary or the best means by which to attain the end.

A commission of thirty-two (32) eminent citizens, to be made up by selection of an equal number from each of the two great political parties, would, it seems to me, be as likely to work out a good result as a larger body.

Such a commission could have all the benefit of the debate incident to a larger body through intelligent discussions in the press and the voluntary suggestions of thoughtful citizens; and would be almost certain to agree upon amendments which would secure the popular approval.

If you should be of the opinion that it is wise to appoint a commission, there can be no objection to your creating it at this session. Its report would not be made until after the presidential election, when the public mind would be in a condition to examine calmly, and to decide wisely. True, it is not the mode provided in the present Constitution for a revision of that instrument, but it cannot be doubted that a Constitution prepared by such a commission and submitted by them to the Legislature and by the Legislature submitted to the people in due form, would, if approved by a vote of the people, be regularly established and become substituted for the present Constitution.

You have, moreover, the constitutional power to originate any amendments to the existing Constitution, and if the same shall be concurred in by the Legislature to be chosen in eighteen hundred and seventy-three (1873), they may be submitted to a direct vote of the people, and if approved by them, will become a part of the Constitution.

My convictions are so strong that the present organic law of this State is full of serious defects, that I feel justified in calling your attention to the subject and pointing out the particulars in which, in my judgment, it fails as a means of securing to us the best possible administration of our public affairs.

The Constitution of the United States was constructed by a convention made up of the wisest and ablest men to be found in the thirteen States which then composed the Union. Each of these States had been obliged, some years earlier, to frame a Constitution for its own government. The delegates from the several States did not, therefore, come together as men inexperienced and new to the work they were called upon to perform. They brought with them, from their several constituencies, varying and indeed conflicting ideas of the powers which ought to be conferred upon the new government about to be established, and the manner in which those powers ought to be distributed among its several departments.

There is, of course, this difference between that instrument and the Constitution of a State: that the former originated a special government and conferred on it certain powers and none other, while in the State government all the powers of government inhere except such as, by the Constitution of the United States or by its own Constitution, it may be forbidden to exercise. This difference does not affect the question of how the powers of government may wisely be distributed among the different departments, executive, legislative and judicial, nor that of how to provide the instrumentalities through which the government is to be administered. In most of these particulars the Constitution of the United States may wisely be followed.

Under the existing Constitution, the executive department of the State is not so organized as to insure the most efficient administration of affairs, and the most complete and direct responsibility. The duty of the chief executive officer, the Governor, is to see that the laws are faithfully executed. It is obvious that in the selection of the subordinate officers upon whom, within their separate departments, the duty is devolved of executing the laws of the State and administering its affairs, the chief executive ought to have a controlling voice. The experience alike of public affairs and of private business prove the expediency of a single executive. The laws and the rules under which public or private business is to be managed are to be carefully laid down and precautions taken against their violation; but when, subject to these rules and within their limits, the chief direction of affairs is given to one person, the best safeguard for faithful administration is provided by concentrating responsibility. The Governor ought to be held responsible for every branch of the actual administration of the State's affairs. Under our present Constitution, all the important departments are separated from his control. In the management of the finances of the State, of the canals, of the State prisons, in the prosecution of crime, the chief executive of the State has not, as he should have, the directing power. In order that responsibility may be full, direct, and unmistakably fixed, and that the people may always know who is to blame for any maladministration, all the heads of administrative departments should be subject to the supervision and the correcting power of the Governor. The duties of the Secretary of State are so directly connected with the details of executive action, especially in the matters of appointment to office and the issuing of pardons, that he ought to occupy the position of chief assistant and adviser of the Governor; and ought to be selected by him. The Attorney-General is the legal adviser of the Governor. The chief executive officer of the State should be allowed the privilege which all men exercise, of selecting for a legal adviser such person as is, in his judgment, the most competent. The Attorney-General ought to have supervision over and be responsible for the conduct of all that class of officers, throughout the State, which is charged with the duty of prosecuting for crime and other violations of State laws. Prosecuting officers for offenses against the laws of the State, now erroneously called district attorneys, should not be county officers, but be the deputies of the Attorney-General, appointed by him or by the Governor on his recommendation. In this way responsibility for the due enforcement of the laws could be brought home, as it should be, directly to the Governor, upon whom the duty is devolved to see that the laws are faithfully executed.

It appears to me proper that the Secretary of State and the Attorney-General should be appointed by the Governor without the intervention of the Senate, and hold office during his pleasure; and that the Comptroller, a superintendent of canals, and a superintendent of prisons, should, with or without the consent of the Senate, be appointed by the Governor to hold office during his own term, but removable by him at any time for cause. These officers would form a valuable council to the Governor.

On the superintendent of canals should be devolved all the duties now performed by the three Canal Commissioners and the State Engineer.

The management of the prisons of the State needs great reform which cannot be secured by a mere change of officers; the system is at fault. A constitutional amendment has been suggested putting these institutions under the charge of a board of citizens who are not to be paid for their services. While that would be an improvement on the present system, reflection upon the subject has convinced me that a better amendment would be to supersede the present commission of three Inspectors (elected one every year by the people) by one Inspector of State Prisons to be appointed by the Governor and to be removable by him. An advisory or examining board of citizens might be valuable in addition; but for the actual administration of prison affairs and the appointment of all subordinate officers, it would be better to have the responsibility concentrated upon one man, that one man being accountable to the Governor, than to have this responsibility divided among the members of a board or a commission.

It might be well that the State Treasurer, being the actual custodian of the public moneys, and perhaps the Superintendent of Public Instruction, should be appointed by joint ballot of the two Houses of the Legislature; but all other administrative officers of the State, in addition to those heretofore named, should, in my judgment, be appointed by the Governor, with or without the consent of the Senate, so as to make his responsibility for the good management of the public affairs complete. In connection with this part of the subject, I would recommend that the term of office of the Governor be extended to three years, which was its duration under the first Constitution of the State. If these changes could be made in the Constitution, the people would have an opportunity once in three years, of putting out of power the entire administration and bringing in a new set of men, whereas now they can make only a partial change every year. It has occurred more than once in consequence of a part of them going out of office each year, that some of the administrative officers of the State have been one of party, and others of the opposing party; a condition of things that bewilders the popular judgment when seeking to fix responsibility for maladministration.

In the Legislative department there is great need of providing additional safeguards against faulty and special legislation. For twenty years past, the laws passed exceed an average of five hundred a year; for the last six years they average over eight hundred a year, and it requires now two very bulky printed volumes of above two thousand pages to record the acts of each session. There can be no necessity for this mass of legislation. More than one thousand bills are now passed in a session; as the session lasts only about one hundred days, it will be seen that at least ten bills a day have to be passed through both Houses, and as three readings should be had of each bill in each House, it is plain that deliberation by the members of the two Houses over proposed laws is impossible.

Notwithstanding the deference which it is natural that the executive should pay to the Legislature in matters pertaining to their special duty, that of law-making, I have found myself obliged, in the course of three sessions, to withhold my official approval from an aggregate of three hundred and ninety-one bills. In addition, more than one hundred bills have, after being delivered at the executive chamber, been recalled by the Legislature for reconsideration, in order to correct inaccuracies or strike out objectionable provisions, discovered in my examination of them. It is not right to rely solely upon the Governor to review proposed legislation. It must happen, under the present habit of passing laws, that bills will, at every session, receive the executive approval containing provisions which escape his scrutiny, and to which, if his attention had been called to them, he would have objected. The people must do their part, in guarding against improper legislation, when selecting their representatives in the Legislature; and the organic law should be so framed as to promote a wise selection.

Provision ought to be made in the Constitution securing the actual reading of every proposed law on three separate days in each House, and forbidding any substitute for the full and free discussion which pertains to consideration of a bill in committee of the whole House.

The provision in the existing Constitution limiting the session of the Legislature to one hundred days, has had no good practical effect. It has not lessened the amount of legislation; it has simply caused the members to act with the more haste. The restriction should be removed and a fair annual salary be paid to Senators and Assemblymen. There is no true economy in withholding from public servants a just compensation for their labor.

As a better restraint upon undue prolongation of a session, I suggest that power should be given to the Governor to prorogue the Legislature at any time after it shall have been in session for one hundred days.

The chief office of a Senate should be to review the action of the other House, to check and restrain improvident, hasty or unwise legislation; and, for the best discharge of this duty, it should be composed of men well versed in public affairs. Its name imports that it is to be a council of men of long experience. Every inducement should be held out to attract the right men to service in this body. The public cannot expect, any more than a private person, to command valuable services unless it offers an adequate reward. This reward need not be wholly pecuniary; the dignity of an office is often a more powerful inducement to the class of men we need in the public service. A long term and a large constituency would greatly enhance the dignity of the office of Senator, and make it attractive to our most distinguished citizens. If the Senatorial term were made four or five years and the State were divided into a small number of Senatorial districts, so as to throw the choice of Senator upon a large constituency, and the compensation made a fair one, I do not doubt that the ablest and most experienced of our public men would be found ready to apply themselves, in the Senate, to the important duty of securing good laws for the people.

In the constitution of the House of Assembly no improvement suggests itself to me, except to abolish the single Assembly districts as now established, and restore county representation; that is to say, that every county shall elect the whole number of Assemblymen to which it is entitled upon a general ticket.

In respect to the judicial department, the action of the people is so recent in adopting the new sixth article of the Constitution (still further action on their part next year, upon the mode of selecting judges in the future, being also already provided for), that it would not be wise to have any changes made.

Among the general provisions of the Constitution, there ought to be one limiting the amount of indebtedness which municipalities may incur, and defining the purposes for which it may be incurred. Uniformity of the several classes of local governments, counties, towns, villages, ought to be secured by constitutional guaranty; so as to prevent special legislation with regard to them. It is impracticable, as I have already said, to frame a uniform charter for all our cities. But there are certain fundamental characteristics which ought to be found in all city charters, and ought to be secured by constitutional provision.

There should be more specific constitutional restraints upon legislative power to grant special charters for private corporations; upon special legislation generally; upon legislative awards of extra compensation to claimants under contracts and otherwise; all of which tend greatly to encumber the statute book, demoralize the Legislature, and deplete the treasury.

The veto power needs to be made more effectual. Two-thirds of all the members elected to either House should be required to overrule a veto, and where a bill contains several items of appropriation of money, the Governor should be authorized to refuse his assent to one or more of the items, while approving of others.

I have dwelt at this length upon the defects as they appear to me, of our present Constitution, as the best method of inviting attention on the part of the Legislature and the people to the subject.

The excitement of a long war, and the events succeeding it, have operated to divert our attention from our immediate home affairs. It is time we began to look to them.

The framers of the Constitution of 1846, eager for decentralization of power, made the mistake of supposing that this was to be effected by breaking apart and disconnecting the machinery whereby the State government is to be carried on, and by multiplying the number of elective officers. Decentralization consists in giving to the people of every county or other political subdivision complete control of their own proper local affairs, not in giving to the people of a county the selection of State officers, of officers whose duties are exclusively connected with the general affairs of the State and the enforcement of the laws of the State. It is singular that true decentralization, which is to be found in enlarging the powers of the boards of supervisors of the several counties, was not provided for in the Constitution except by leaving the matter to be regulated by the Legislature.

Of the various methods by which a revision of the Constitution may be undertaken, my preference is for the appointment of a commission consisting of thirty-two members; and I recommend the passage of an act for the appointment of such a commission.

Mindful of the fact that the majority of the Legislature and the executive are of opposed political parties, I refrain from discussing questions connected with the administration of the federal government, upon which our opinions and views would widely differ; hoping that, in dealing with the home affairs of the State, we may be able to work together, earnestly and heartily, for the promotion of the general welfare of our people.

Mr. Van Buren, private secretary of His Excellency the Governor, appeared and presented the following message:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
ALBANY, January 2, 1872. }

To the Legislature:

The financial condition of New York city is a matter of great interest to the people of the State at large, and, in some degree, to the commercial world, its stocks and bonds being held for investment at home and abroad. In view of the recent events, I deemed it my duty to procure for you full information as to its liabilities and resources, and addressed a letter to the chairman of the State board of commissioners for revision of the tax laws, the Hon. David A. Wells, who seemed to me specially fitted for the work, requesting him to investigate and report to me. In consequence of delay in his obtaining some of the facts, his report did not reach me until my annual message was in print. My letter to him and his reply are as follows:

ALBANY, November 25, 1871. }

MY DEAR SIR.—The financial condition and credit of New York city are of interest as well to the people of the State at large as to its own citizens. It is important that the actual condition of our great metropolis, in reference to its indebtedness and its resources, should be made known with accuracy; and I desire to communicate the facts to the Legislature and the people of the State in my next message. Will you undertake to investigate the matter in my behalf?

Very truly yours,
JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Hon. DAVID A. WELLS, Chairman, etc.

NEW YORK, December 28, 1871.

SIR.—In response to your note of November 25th, requesting me to investigate and report to you on the relation which exists between the indebtedness of the city and county of New York and the resources available for the payment of such indebtedness, or the extent of the resources of property which may be fully regarded as constituting an adequate and inalienable security for the ultimate payment in principal and interest of such indebtedness, I have the honor to submit the following exhibit:

FUNDED DEBT.

By report furnished on request by Hon. A. H. Green, comptroller, it appears that the funded debt—bearing five, six, and seven per cent interest—of the city and county of New York, was, on the 16th day of December, 1871, $87,371,808.51; and the assets of the sinking fund of the city and county—consisting of stocks and cash—available for the redemption of debt, were, on the same day, $20,137,093.02; thus making the present net funded debt of the city and county of New York, $67,234,715.49.

FLOATING OR TEMPORARY DEBT.

The temporary or floating debt of the city and county of New York—consisting of bonds issued in anticipation of receipts and assessments, arrears of interest, State taxes, unpaid warrants and the like—was, on the 16th day of December, 1871, $28,259,071.35; or, deducting cash on hand—$6,959,919.62 in the city and county treasury—$21,299,152.73.

In addition to the above, the comptroller also reports claims already presented on unsettled accounts, to an estimated aggregate of $6,000,000; which last included would make the total ascertained debt and "claims presented" of the city and county of New York, on the 16th of December, 1871, $94,523,867.22.

PROSPECTIVE INDEBTEDNESS.

So much for the present aspect of the indebtedness of the city and county of New York. In respect to the future, it is to be noted:

First. That much of the existing temporary and floating debt of the city and county of New York, as above indicated—including an aggregate of assessment bonds issued in anticipation of the tax receipts of $14,950,700.00—is redeemable from the collection of assessments, or arrears of taxes, and that a very considerable amount of these assessment and arrears is certain to be collected; and,

Second. That the city holds bonds and mortgages on account of sales of real estate to the amount of $1,132,893.26; the proceeds of which, when collected, are applicable for an increase of the sinking fund held for the redemption of the funded debt.

On the other hand it is known that claims to a very considerable amount for services rendered and materials furnished to the several departments of the city and county government during the year 1871 and previously, are yet to be presented, and that the carrying out of such public works as are already in progress or are certain to be authorized, will also require further additional expenditures.

But in estimating the amount of these prospective requirements for expenditures, it should not be overlooked, that the amount of claims against the city yet to be presented is not likely to be in excess of the arrears of assessments and taxes yet to be collected; and further that the amount to be hereafter expended on account of public improvements cannot, with any regard for economy and moderation, ever prove disproportionate to the concurrent increase in the material resources of the city, arising from its certain and rapid increase in wealth, business and population.

So that making every allowance for contingencies, or any immediate advances on account of public improvements, the total present liabilities of New York city and county may be safely estimated as not in excess of one hundred millions of dollars; and further that the ratio which the liabilities of the city and county at present sustain to their assets and resources, is not likely to be changed for the worse in the future; certainly not if the safeguards against corruption and extravagant expenditure, suggested by recent experience, are by the Legislature authorized and provided.

INFLUENCE OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS IN AUGMENTING THE SOURCES OF MUNICIPAL REVENUE.

As bearing upon the question of future municipal liabilities, on account of expenditures for public improvements, it is interesting to note the result which has followed one of the largest single items of expenditure authorized by the city for such purpose, and which at the time of its inception was denounced by many as a measure of indefensible extravagance. We refer to the expenditure incurred by reason of the construction of the "Central Park;" the cost of which, up to 1869, is returned at $10,463,965.

Now an examination of all the facts pertaining to this expenditure will show, that so far from its having been a burden upon the city treasury, it has really proved a direct and important source of revenue. Thus, in 1856, before the park was commenced, the total valuation of real estate for taxation in the three wards around the park, the twelfth, nineteenth, and twenty-second was $26,429,566; but in 1866, when the park had been practically completed, the valuation of the same property for assessment was returned at $80,070,415, an increase in ten years of $53,640,850. And further, the revenue received by taxation on this increased valuation, was sufficient, in 1870, to not only pay the interest on all the bonds of the city issued for the park purchase and construction, but actually afforded a surplus of over ($3,000,000) three millions of dollars; or a sum sufficient, if used as a sinking fund, to pay the entire principal and interest of the cost of the park, in less time than the park was in the course of construction.

ASSETS AND RESOURCES.

The maximum of the liabilities of the city and county, on account of indebtedness, having been thus estimated, we come next to the no less important consideration of the assets and resources available for the payment of such indebtedness; or the real tangible property which may be properly regarded in the nature of security or guaranty for the payment of such obligations of indebtedness as the city and county of New York may have lawfully issued.

Any valuation of the public property of the city must from necessity be very indefinite, inasmuch, as many of the items which would be included in any inventory—as the streets, sewers, lamps, public monuments and the like, are not susceptible of a money valuation; and if attached, would be practically of no benefit in the hands of a city creditor; but apart from these, it cannot be doubted that the value of the lands and buildings, wharfs, water, ferry and market rights in possession of the city and county, and which can be readily convertible in open market into a money equivalent, is in excess of every present municipal or county indebtedness.

The valuation of the public property of the city of New York, given by the mayor in an official communication to the board of supervisors, August 16th, 1871, was $242,985,499.

In this valuation were comprised the following:

Markets	$4,767,374
Sundry lots of land.....	2,719,307
Wharfs and piers	13,322,433
Public parks and squares	106,416,490
Total.....	$126,725,574

Next to the so-called public property of the city and county, the property most rapidly available for attachment and levy in case of a default in the payment of the principal or interest of the city's indebtedness, is the real estate of the city and county, the revenue derived from the assessment and taxation of which constitutes also the main element and strength of its municipal credit.

The valuation of this class of property for the year 1871, as returned by the commissioners of taxes and confirmed by the board of supervisors, was $769,306,410. But it ought to be clearly understood, that this valuation for tax purposes does not represent any fair valuation of the property assessed, or even an approximation thereto, and in great part for the following reasons.

The taxation required to defray the expenditures of the State, as a whole, is apportioned to the several counties of the State according to their property valuation; and hence there has been for years, and is now, a strife between the different boards of county officials to run down the valuation of property to the very lowest practical figure, in order to divert as large a proportion of the State taxation as possible from themselves, and throw it upon the neighbors; and as some of the counties in the interior of the State have been so successful in doing this as to actually reduce their valuation to thirty, twenty, and even a smaller proportion of the real and true value of the property assessed, a similar course of procedure has been forced upon the tax officials of New York, as a matter of necessity and local protection. And thus it has come about that, instead of the returned assessment valuation of $769,306,410 for 1871-2, representing the true market value of the real estate of the city and county of New York, in private ownership, it does not, in all probability, represent more than forty per cent of such true value; an estimate which, instead of being a conjecture, is based on a large amount of evidence, recently collected by an expert for the board of commissioners for revising the laws of the State relative to taxation.

The conclusion, therefore, seems warranted that the value of the real estate of the city of New York—public and private—which may be fairly regarded as an available security for the liquidation of the city and county debts, cannot be less than two thousand million dollars on which the present debt, as above estimated, namely, $100,000,000 would be equivalent to a mortgage of five per cent.

In this estimate, it will be observed that no account has been taken of the valuation of the personal property owned or held by citizens of the city or county of New York. The amount of such property valued and assessed for the year 1871-2 was $306,947,223. The investigations of the State commissioners lead, however, to the conclusion that this amount does not represent so much as twenty per cent of the real value of this description of property concentrated in the city of New York; or, in other words, that the true value of the personal property of New York city cannot be estimated at less than fifteen hundred millions. Much of this property, it must be acknowledged, can never be reached for assessment purposes by any law which the ingenuity of man can devise; or which any civilized people would tolerate in respect to execution; but, whether returned for assessment or not, it nevertheless exists, and by increasing the ability to pay, operates to decrease the real burden of taxation imposed on other property of a more tangible and accessible character.

It is also to be noted, that if the new plan of assessing personal property recommended by the State board of commissioners, and which is to be presented this winter to the Legislature in the form of a definite code, is adopted, namely, doing away with the direct assessment of individuals for personal property, and substituting therefor, as an equivalent the assessment of individuals on a valuation of three times the rent or rental value of the premises by them occupied, the amount or equivalent of such property returned for assessment and taxation will be very greatly increased; and the financial resources of the city be thereby correspondingly augmented.

INCREASE OF NEW YORK IN POPULATION AND WEALTH.

In estimating the prospective ability of the city of New York to sustain and liquidate indebtedness the recent and prospective increase of the city in population and wealth constitutes an element of not a little importance. Thus, from 1820 to the year preceding the outbreak of the civil war, 1860, the average rate of increase for each successive period of five years, was 28 per cent; a continuous rate of growth, probably without precedent, in any country. During the period of the war, or from 1860 to 1865, the population of the city decreased $9\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Since 1865, or during the five years from 1865 to 1870 inclusive, the gain in the population was $26\frac{1}{2}$ per cent; thus indicating that the average rate of increase experienced prior to 1860, was again likely to be approximated.

The increase in the valuation of the property of the city and county for assessment purposes, during the ten years from 1860 to 1870, was $82\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

The present increase in the value of the real estate of the whole city for assessment purposes, is estimated by experts to average about five per cent per annum.

RELATION OF TAXATION TO POPULATION AND PROPERTY.

It is also interesting to note the relation which taxation sustains to population and property in New York and some of the other leading cities of the country. The following data are derived from the most authentic sources.

City of New York.—Population, 1870, 952,292; aggregate State, city, county and school taxes, 1870, $25,403,859; special taxes as estimated by officials, $2,000,000; total taxation, $27,403,859. Taxation per capita, $29.08.

Boston.—Population 1870, 250,526; aggregate of all taxation, 1870, $9,050,420; taxation per capita, $36.

Chicago.—Population 1870, 298,977; total taxation, general and special, 1870, $9,256,333; taxation per capita, $30.

But as in the opinion of some experts, the burdens of taxation in any community are properly represented by the relation which the aggregate of the annual levy of taxes sustains to the value of property assessed, attention is further asked to the following comparisons:

In Boston and Philadelphia real estate is returned for assessment at nearly its full marketable value. On this basis, the relation of taxation to real estate valuation in these two cities would be as follows:

Boston.—Real estate valuation, 1870, $365,593,100; aggregate taxation 1870, $9,050,420; ratio of taxation to real property valuation, 1 to 40.

Philadelphia.—Real estate valuation, 1871, $491,844,096; aggregate taxation, 1871, $9,026,753; ratio of taxation to real property valuation, 1 to 54.

Cincinnati.—Real estate valuation as made anew for 1871, $123,427,888; aggregate taxation 1871, $4,004,035; ratio of taxation to real property valuation, 1 to 30.

In the city of New York on the other hand on valuation of real estate acknowledged to be only about 40 per cent of the real property, the ratio of aggregate taxation to real property valuation would have been in 1870, as 1 to 27; but if the valuation of the real estate of New York were advanced in proportion to the value taken for assessment purposes in Boston and Philadelphia, the ratio instead of being as 1 to 27, would be much more favorable than in either of the cities above mentioned, or in the approximative ratio of at least 1 to 65.

It is therefore evident, that in comparison with the actual accumulated and tangible wealth of the city of New York, any liability, on account of indebtedness, which the city has yet incurred, or is prospectively likely to incur, is very insignificant; and, with a reasonably honest, efficient and economical government, such as public opinion and legislative authority, guided by recent experiences, seems certain to compel, there can be no good reason why the interest bearing debt obligations of the city should not be regarded as the most desirable of investments.

I am, yours, most respectfully,

DAVID A. WELLS,

Chairman Board of Commissioners for revision of the laws of the State of New York, relating to the assessment and collection of taxes.

To Hon. JOHN T. HOFFMAN,

Governor of the State of New York.

I have also received a letter, dated 29th December, 1871, from Hon. Andrew H. Greene, comptroller of the city of New York, in which he says:

"Immediate legislation is essential for the maintenance of the credit of the city by the meeting of the obligations maturing early in January and to make provision for past claims which are due and which are of pressing importance. Equally important is prompt legislation to make provision for the maintenance of the government of 1872.

"As the law appears now (chap. 583, sec. 3 of 1871), no authority exists to make appropriations until May next, leaving the four first months of the year 1872 without any provision by which payments of necessary expenses for these months can be made."

I respectfully ask your immediate attention to those suggestions, and such early legislation with reference to them as may be necessary and proper.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Which was laid on the table and ordered printed, and referred to the committee on the affairs of cities, when appointed.

Mr. Moulton offered for the consideration of the House a preamble and resolution, in the words following, to wit :

Whereas, His Excellency the Governor, in his recent message to the Legislature, has made the following recommendations: "The people cannot be too fully awakened to the dangers inseparable from the growth of moneyed power in this country, whether wielded by individuals or corporations. It makes itself felt everywhere in our politics, and aims to control, and too often does control, legislation in Federal and State capitals. We cannot directly strike at it in other States, or at Washington, but we can begin at the capital of our own State, and set an example to others. There is a popular belief that much important legislation, in past years here, has been influenced by the direct use of money. This belief is so general and wide-spread, that it is due to the people that there should be a prompt and thorough legislative inquiry to ascertain whether it is well founded. If it be so, guilty men should be brought to justice under existing laws, if that is possible. If not, then proper laws should be passed to meet cases which may hereafter arise. The people will be slow to obey laws which, they believe, are enacted by a corrupt Legislature. Their demand to-day is not for municipal reform only, but for reform in every department of government, State and Federal, in which abuses may be shown to exist. Authority, whether executive or legislative, to be cheerfully obeyed, must be respected and honored."

And whereas, Various charges have been made in the daily and insurance press and otherwise, that the Superintendent of the Insurance Department has been during his official term, and still is receiving fees and perquisites for his own personal use and emolument, which should, by law, be paid into the State treasury, particularly the one-fifth of one per cent chargeable to insurance companies in the transfer or withdrawal of securities under the supply bill of 1870 (chapter —), and it has also been charged that inordinate and illegal fees have been collected by the Superintendent for making special and other examinations of insurance companies in this and other States; and that money has been raised in large amounts in order to pass alterations of the insurance laws conferring additional powers upon the Superintendent in the appointment and selection of receivers and otherwise, and that other irregularities have occurred and still exist in the administration of the said insurance department; therefore be it

Resolved, That the standing committee on insurance be and is hereby authorized, empowered and required to inquire into, investigate and report upon the truth or falsity of the said charges, and any others relating to the administration of the insurance department, in any respect, and that the said committee be and is hereby authorized to send for persons and papers.

MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1872.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by the Rev. Dr. Bridgeman.

The journal of Saturday, was read and approved.

Mr. Husted rose to a question of privilege, and addressed the House thereon, as follows :

MR. SPEAKER.—I rise to a question of privilege. While I do not believe that the floor of this Chamber is the proper place for any gentleman to ventilate his private griefs, or seek redress for what he deems his private wrongs, yet the circumstances of the present case seem to present no other alternative.

On the 30th day of December last, the New York Times published an article reflecting upon my character as a man. This article appearing before the organization of the House, I felt that it was not a fit topic to discuss here subsequent to that organization.

On the 3d day of January, a derogatory allusion was again made bearing upon the same subject. At that time I was confined to my room by illness, and was unable to reply.

On Saturday last a direct imputation was hurled against me in the editorial columns of the same journal. To that article, couched in terms demanding a response, I now propose to reply, and I propose in so doing, to vindicate as far as in me lies my personal honor. I take this course, sir, for one reason and one reason only. A leading journal of our party, which has been active in the cause of reform, to which we are all pledged, has made statements which if allowed to pass unheeded by me would undoubtedly prejudice against me even the fairest and most impartial minds. Therefore, sir, a due regard for the good opinion of the public, and especially for that of my fellow-members upon this floor, compels me to make what, under other circumstances, I should regard as ill-timed and highly improper, viz., a statement of my private affairs. The article is incorrect in many particulars, and was either inspired by pure malice, and written at the instigation of some personal enemy who had not the manliness nor the courage to appear under his own signature, or it was based upon information which had no foundation in truth. The article is as follows:

“While the Legislature is in the humor for investigating charges of corruption against its members, would it not be well to institute an inquiry into the connection of Mr. Husted, of Westchester, with that mythical concern known at the Peekskill Gravel Company? A gravel company that did not possess a single gravel pit, was somewhat of a curiosity; but the peculiarities of the Peekskill concern did not end here. As we have already pointed out, this company, of which Husted and ‘Aleck’ Frear were the chiefs, was constituted for the sole purpose of supplying the late park commission with the same gravel for which their predecessors paid $2.60 per cubic yard, at the advanced price of $3.80. In other words, with the consent of Hilton, Sweeney and Fields, the proprietor of the gravel-pit at Peekskill ceased to deal directly with the park commissioners, but sold his gravel to Husted, Frear & Co. at $2.60, while they supplied it to the city at a modest advance of fifty per cent. By this little transaction the tax-payers were swindled out of some $33,000, and as Mr. Husted has volunteered no explanation on his share in the fraud, the Legislature and the public have the alternative of branding him as dishonest, or of requesting him to vindicate himself.”

The facts are these: About the time that the Central park was first laid out, a bank composed of ground of a very superior quality for road making was opened at Roa Hook, near the village of Peekskill, from which to the present time the Central park and the Prospect park have been supplied. A few years later other banks on the opposite side of the river, of the same general characteristics, were opened, and between the lessees of these different deposits an active rivalry sprang up. In the year 1870, in connection with other gentlemen, I organized the Hudson River Gravel Company, which thereupon entered into competition against all others. Very soon after the organization of the company, the different parties in interest, finding that rivalry rendered their business profitless to all, and being without the capital necessary to make a successful contest, entered into the service of the company, which thereupon supplied the city of New York at the same prices that had ruled for several years. At the close of the season an examination of the books showed that the company had lost money, there being less than $1,200 in the treasury, an amount insufficient to pay the salaries of the officers of the company, which was thereupon dissolved by mutual consent, and has never since conducted its business.

In the winter of 1871, I determined, if possible, to make the business successful. I leased, in connection with Mr. Frear, the Roa Hook bank, at a rental of $10,000 a year, and I also secured sub-leases of all the banks lying on Peekskill bay, which produced a similar quality of gravel. We thereupon, under the title of the Peekskill Gravel Company, offered our goods in the open market at a fixed price, viz., $3.50 per yard, delivered at any point on the Central Park, in the city of New York, and at proportionate prices delivered at any other points. The Commissioners of the Central Park sought to purchase from us at the old price. We declined to sell; we determined to have a profit on our goods or abandon the business. Finding our terms to be absolute, after some delay and after repeated efforts to purchase at a lower price, the department sent us a requisition at the price named, and so continued to do, as they from time to time needed material. Subsequently desiring screened gravel, they demanded our terms for that. We ascertained the extra expense to be thirty cents a yard, and we offered to supply the department at that extra charge. From this difference in price we received no benefit, the additional amount being paid by us to the party who did the work. Such is the brief and plain, but correct statement of this whole matter. If it differs in any way from an honorable and straightforward business transaction, I must confess my ignorance of the rules that obtain in the business community.

As to the gratuitous, false, and unwarranted assumption that any arrangement was ever made or entertained as between the parties in interest and any of the officials in any way connected with the department of public parks, I have only to say that for such a charge there is not the slightest foundation. On the contrary, as I was informed by our superintendent, the department made searching inquiry and earnest efforts to obtain a similar quality of gravel from other parties, and it was not until they ascertained that none other could be obtained that they acceded to our terms. So persistent was that determination to procure material from other quarters, if possible, that they refused to make any contract for any specified amount, and sent their special requisitions only from time to time as their necessities demanded.

In conclusion, sir, as to myself, I have only to say that I never exchanged a word with either of the commissioners, or with any of the employes of the department relative to the business. The superintendents of the company, who are honorable and honest men, attended to all of the details, and had the sole charge and management of the books, and the accounts, which were always kept in perfect order, and which, of themselves, by a comparison with the records of the department will show most exclusively that any charge of fraud, direct or constructive, is untrue in fact and unsupported by evidence.

As to the immense profits that are reported to have been made, I state here unqualifiedly that since my connection with the business the profits have not exceeded ten per cent on the gross receipts, and this fact the books of the company will also show. In deference to public opinion and the good opinion of my associates in this Legislature, I have given this explanation; and now, sir, if it shall appear to any gentleman on this floor, after what I have said, that my vindication is not full, satisfactory, and complete, I shall be only too glad to have such proceedings instituted by this body as will enable me to sustain by documentary and parol evidence the correctness of my position, and the truthfulness of my statements.

Mr. Hawkins rose to explain, and said:

Mr. Speaker.—I desire to make a personal explanation in relation to some of the gentleman's remarks. I suppose, perhaps, that there is no one on the floor of this House who is better acquainted with the circumstances under which those articles were written in that leading journal than myself, although I had nothing to do with them, nothing to do with the writing of them, nothing to do in relation to obtaining the information upon which they were founded. I know positively that the information that was derived by the writer of those articles came directly from the office of the Central Park Commission, after Judge Hilton had left the presidency of that commission.

The facts, as I understand them, are simply these. The statement of facts came from the Central Park office, and, the Central Park office is responsible for these facts or these falsehoods whichever they may be. I believe the articles were sincerely written in the interest of reform, and were not inspired by any personal spite or malice. They were printed by the proprietor of the New York Times precisely as another article would have been printed in the interest of reform that had been presented to his favor by a responsible man. That was the case in relation to these articles. I know positively there was no malice in it. They were inspired from a proper feeling of the responsibility of the position which the proprietor of that journal feels that he holds toward the public, and, I know, for the purpose of ventilating not only other abuses but this one at the same time, going for republicans, in other words to use a well known phrase, as well as for the democracy engaged in committing these frauds upon the public.

The facts I understand to be simply these: That a man by the name of Ryder, residing, I think, in the same district with the member who has just spoken, had furnished to the Central Park Commissioners, from the date of its organization up to the time it passed into the hands of the new Tammany Hall Commission, as we call it in New York, for $2.40, pretty soon after the new commissioners had taken charge, and Collector Stebbins and Mr. Green and the other gentlemen had gone out of the management. While Mr. Green remained there he never was consulted, and he hardly ever saw the inside of the offices of the Park Board, and had very little to do with their affairs, in fact was snubbed upon every occasion. Very soon after the new commissioners came into power they passed a resolution, without giving any authority at all for it as I understand it, authorizing a contract or purchase of the new company to which the member has just referred, and the price under the new arrangement for supplies.

Mr. Alvord rose to a point of order, and said: The gentleman from the Eleventh district of New York is not speaking to a question of privilege unless he affirms the truth of the article, and then I will not undertake to interfere with him, or that he does not believe the statement of the gentleman from Westchester (Mr. Husted), and intends to move for a committee of investigation.

The Speaker: The Chair is of the opinion that the question of privilege belongs to each member as a question of right, and the subject is not debatable. The gentleman from New York is not in order unless he rises to a question of privilege.

Mr. Hawkins: I will rise to that question for the purpose of explaining, not an insinuation, not an attack, but as to the aspersion upon a gentleman who cannot answer upon this floor.

Mr. Alvord: I insist upon my point of order that the question of privilege must be personal to the individual.

The Speaker decided the point of order well taken.

Mr. A. L. Van Dusen, from the committee on engrossed bills, reported as correctly engrossed the bills entitled as follows:

"An act in relation to filling vacancies in the board of public instruction of the city of Albany."

Mr. Alvord moved to reconsider the vote of Saturday last, by which a resolution was adopted, in the words following:

Resolved, That 2,500 copies of the annual report of the New York Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb be printed under the direction of the Clerk of the House, for the use of the trustees of that institution, and 1,000 copies for distribution by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, in violation of Assembly rule 53, and joint rule 13.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. Alvord then moved that said resolution be referred to the committee on public printing.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. Prince offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following, to wit:

Resolved, That the daily sessions of the Assembly hereafter commence at 10 o'clock A. M.

Said resolution giving rise to debate,

Ordered, That the same be laid on the table.

The House resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the bills entitled as follows:

"An act in relation to affidavits of merits in actions brought in the courts of this State."

And after some time spent therein, Mr. Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Husted, from said committee, reported that they had stricken out the first section and the title of said first mentioned bill; which report was agreed to.

Mr. Husted, from said committee, also reported that they had stricken out the enacting clause of said second mentioned bill; which report was agreed to.

Mr. Husted, from said committee, also reported in favor of the passage of said third mentioned bill, with an amendment.

The question being upon agreeing to the report,

Mr. Prince moved to amend said report by striking out the amendment adopted in committee of the whole, in the words following, to wit:

A grand jury may be impaneled in the court of oyer and terminer and another in the court of general sessions and may meet at, and sit during the same time, but whenever either grand jury shall present an indictment against any person for any offense it shall not be lawful for the other grand jury sitting at the same time to hear or act upon the same matter, or make any presentation in relation thereto, so far as it shall relate to the person so presented by the other grand jury," and re-inserting the words stricken out, as reported from the committee on the judiciary.

Mr. Alvord raised the point of order that said motion was out of order, for the reason that no such motion was offered in the committee of the whole.

On motion of Mr. Alberger,

Whereas, The aggregate sum of $85,400 was appropriated to the commissioners of quarantine by chapter 715, of the Laws of 1871, for the support of the quarantine establishment, and paying the expenses of repairs to the Illinois and the quarantine steamers; and

Whereas, By said chapter the further sum of $200,000 was appropriated to the board of commissioners, constituted by chapter 751, of the Laws of 1866 (composed of the commissioners of quarantine, the mayor of the city of New York and the mayor of the city of Brooklyn), for the purpose, among other things, of defraying the expense of erecting and fitting up buildings on West Bank for the reception of passengers who may have been exposed to disease; and

Whereas, By the report of the commissioners of quarantine which has been submitted to this House, it appears that the whole of the moneys so appropriated to them have already been expended, and that they have incurred large liabilities for alleged quarantine purposes in excess of said appropriation; and

Whereas, It does not appear from said report under what understanding or arrangement said liabilities have been incurred, nor is any detailed statement of said expenditures given, from which this House can form an accurate judgment as to the propriety thereof; and

Whereas, It appears from said report that no buildings have yet been erected upon West Bank pursuant to the appropriation to the aforesaid board of commissioners, and no report has been made to this House showing the expenditure of said appropriation, but it is alleged that the greater part thereof has been expended; therefore

Resolved, That within ten days after service of a copy of the foregoing preamble and this resolution upon the commissioners of quarantine or one of them, they furnish this House with a detailed statement verified by their treasurer, giving the names of all persons to whom moneys have been paid by them during the period covered by their said report, the amount paid to each with the date of payment, the nature of the claim or demand paid in each case, the amount of liabilities incurred by them which remain unpaid, to whom the same are payable and the amount due or to become due to each person; under what understanding, agreement or arrangement, and for what particular purpose said liabilities were incurred; and what portion of the appropriation of $200,000 mentioned in said preamble has been expended and for what purpose, specifying the names of the persons to whom paid, and the date, amount and purpose of each payment.

Resolved, That the clerk forthwith serve a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolution on one of the commissioners of quarantine.

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber, and presented a communication from the Governor, in the words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
ALBANY, January 30, 1872. }

To the Legislature:

I have this day affixed my official approval to Assembly bill No. 19, entitled "An act relating to appropriations and deficiencies in the city and county of New York, and the audit and payment of salaries and claims in said city and county."

I have done this with reluctance. The bill appears to me to be faulty in its structure; yet not so much so perhaps as to preclude arriving at an intelligent construction of its intent. It is, however, seriously erroneous in principle. It provides not only for the audit and payment of claims accrued in the year 1871, against the city and county of New York, to an amount not to exceed the sum of $8,500,000, but also for appropriations and apportionment of moneys to carry on the local government for the first four months of the present year. The power to audit and pay last years claims up to a fixed amount, and to make appropriations for the expenditures of the current year up to the 1st of May next, without limit as to amount, is conferred upon the three persons who now are or may hereafter be heads of certain departments of the city government, to wit, the comptroller, the president of the department of parks and the commissioner of public works, all of whom are appointees of the mayor, none of them having been elected by the people. The bill ignores the chief executive officer of the city and the legislative branch of the local government. A bill which seeks to carry on the government of a great city and county without the concurrence of its mayor and common council and board of supervisors, or any of them, and which places this great duty in the hands of certain subordinate officers, appointed by the mayor, without associating with them in it either the mayor or the legislative branch of the local government, or some representative of the latter, can be justified only by an extraordinary condition of affairs. A limit is placed by the bill upon the amount which is to be applied to the payment of claims against the city, however well founded these may be; but none is imposed upon the appropriation of money for current expenses. The omission of a limit upon the amount of public moneys which these three officers are authorized to appropriate cannot be justified; and is overlooked by me, now, in the faith that you will, by prompt supplemental legislation, affix one. No condition of things can render this omission necessary or proper.

Specific provision is made in the bill for providing means for paying the accrued claims by the issue of revenue bonds; but while the bill authorizes the appropriation of money for all the current expenses of the first four months of this year it does not provide any means for obtaining the money to meet such appropriations, either by tax or by borrowing. There has been, in nearly all the tax levies for the city and county of New York, heretofore passed by the Legislature, explicit authority conferred to issue revenue bonds in anticipation of the receipt of taxes for the year, and there are also to be found in the laws general provisions authorizing the comptroller of the city to borrow in anticipation of the revenues of the city and county such sums as may be necessary to meet the ordinary expenditures of the local government for each current year, not exceeding the amount of such revenues, yet it may be, and I think is, a matter of serious doubt whether any of these general provisions will apply to moneys appropriated and to be expended under the extraordinary and exceptional powers conferred on the board created by this act, for a portion of the year only, no revenue for the year being as yet provided for or determined. An extraordinary condition of affairs does exist in the city requiring prompt remedy, and making necessary temporary and unusual measures of relief. The needs of the employes of the city government, and of many of its honest creditors are pressing; various important charities which are, in part, dependent upon the city government for the means of relieving the helpless under their care cannot be longer kept out of the money which has been promised them, without producing great and extensive suffering; and there is a necessity for some temporary means of carrying on the public business of the city until the Legislature shall determine what shall be done with reference to the permanent reorganization of its government.

If I were to return this bill for reconsideration by you, on account of the objectionable features I find in it, great delay might ensue in providing the means of paying the city's rightful creditors and of carrying on its government for the time.

The remedy for the existing condition of things ought to be prompt. While I think that, even under the necessity for immediate legislation on the subject, a bill more cautious and more in conformity with correct principles ought to have been prepared, I have signed this bill rather than risk further delay in furnishing relief to those having just claims on the city, and many of whom have suffered already from their non-payment; and in the confident belief that the extraordinary powers conferred by the bill will not be abused. I make this respectful communication to the Legislature to the end that I may not be held committed, by giving to this bill my signature, under the very extraordinary circumstances connected with it, to its objectionable feature in other cases, if any such should arise hereafter; and I respectfully, but earnestly, recommend that the Legislature promptly pass a supplementary act limiting to such amount as to it may seem proper, the sum which may be appropriated by the board created by this act, for the expenses of the city government from the first of January instant to the first of May next, and also conferring specific power on the comptroller of the city to issue revenue bonds, payable out of such taxes as may be levied this year, for the purpose of providing means for the expenditures to be made in the period named.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

The House again resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the bills entitled as follows:

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber, and presented a communication from the Governor, in the words following :

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
ALBANY, January 31, 1872. }

To the Assembly :

To a resolution, passed by you yesterday, requesting me to inform you whether bills had been presented to me purporting to have passed the Legislature, from which I withheld my signature, on the ground that certain provisions found in them had not in fact passed the Legislature, and to communicate any facts or circumstances within my knowledge having any material bearing upon the subject, I respectfully reply that there are only two instances of this nature of which I can now remember the particulars. One was a bill to authorize the New York River Road Company to construct certain railroads in the city of New York, sent to me at the end of the legislative session of 1869, which I declined to approve for reasons which will be found in the memorandum filed with the bill at the time; of which memorandum the following is a copy :

"Not approved. Amendments to this bill were made in the Senate, and it was sent to the Assembly for their concurrence therein. Some members of the House inform me that the Assembly did not thereafter act on it. The Clerk thinks it did not. The Assembly journal, nevertheless, shows concurrence; after which the bill should have been sent to the Senate to be signed by the President thereof. The usual message in such cases from the Assembly to the Senate is not found with the bill, and the Senate journal does not show that the bill was returned to it. In case of its return, the bill would have been sent by the Senate clerk to the President of the Senate to be signed, whereas the journal clerk of the Assembly admits that he took it directly to the President of the Senate, and obtained his signature; he must have done so by managing to place it among the bills then regularly before him from the Senate. This was irregular and contrary to positive orders from the Lieutenant-Governor and the Clerk of the Senate.

"The Assembly journal clerk could have had no motive for carrying the bill himself to the President of the Senate, if, by regular action of the two Houses, it had been properly on its way to that officer. The Senate's journal is, no doubt, correct. The bill was not returned, as it should have been, to the Senate, and I decline to sign it."

The other was the bill to supply deficiencies in appropriations for the support of the government, commonly known as the supply bill, passed at the last session. This bill, engrossed complete, together with the original memoranda of the conference committee, from which it had been engrossed, was, a day or two after the adjournment of the Legislature last year, brought to me by the Clerk of the House of Assembly, with the reservation that it was not to be considered as formally delivered, and with the request that before it was so delivered I would aid him in the comparison of the engrossed bill and such memoranda. I proceeded to examine the bill, item by item, and became satisfied that it was incorrectly engrossed as to three or four items found in it, which, as far as could be determined from the memoranda accompanying it, had not been reported for acceptance by the conference committee, nor passed by the Legislature.

The Lieutenant-Governor and the Speaker of the Assembly were present, and were also satisfied that the bill was erroneously engrossed, in these particulars, and they erased their signatures from it. The bill was handed back to the Clerk of the House, was re-engrossed correctly, and sent to me for signature. Other instances have occurred, during the last three sessions, of bills being sent to me for approval, engrossed so as to omit material amendments, which were shown by the messages passed between the two Houses to have been adopted, and which messages accompanied each bill when it came to me. In other instances bills have been recalled from me for the express purpose of inserting in them some amendment or correcting some inaccuracy, and have come back to me again unaltered.

It is impossible for me to give, in all these instances, the titles of the bills or the particulars in which they were found to be erroneously engrossed. In the supply bill of last year one of the items found to have been incorrectly inserted was an appropriation of extra pay to Mr. Wasson, a former Canal Appraiser; another was an amendment authorizing the appointment of two additional commissioners for building the Elmira penitentiary; another was a counsel fee appropriated for Messrs. Buell and Erhardt, and the fourth a provision regulating the publication of the periodical statements of monied and other corporations. In relation to these particulars, I speak from memory and without any record. It was found on examination that one, perhaps two, of these items had not originated in either House, but had been brought forward for the first time in the conference committee.

It is obvious that if conference committees, which are appointed for the purpose simply of adjusting matters which the two Houses have already considered, and upon which they have been unable to agree, will undertake themselves to originate propositions and pass upon them, thus assuming the proper work of the Legislature, which they have no right to do, we may expect, in all such instances as those of appropriation bills consisting of many items, that there will be great difficulty in keeping the record correct. It appeared, also, that it is the practice of conference committees, in such instances, to submit their final report, not written out in full, but in the shape of a mere list of the many propositions upon which the Houses have disagreed, with a brief mark, generally in pencil, opposite to each one, such as the words "out," and "in," "agreed," or "disagreed," to indicate, and with nothing else to indicate, what the decision of the conference committee was as to each item.

In this shape it is read to the House, the clerk supplying the proper formal words in place of the marks "out" and "in," or the like. In this rough shape it is handed over to the engrossing clerks to guide them in their important duty, and in this shape it came to me with this supply bill. When the bulk of an ordinary supply bill and the number of items found in it are considered, it is not surprising that errors in engrossing from these rough minutes should occur. If the Legislature would insist that in all cases conference committees should take time to have their report written out in full before submitting it to the two Houses, mistakes, as to the action of the committee, or of the Legislature on their reports, could hardly occur.

The vigilance of the Legislature and its committees should be sufficient to guard against inaccuracies of language, surreptitious insertion of matter not pertinent to the general purpose of a bill, errors in engrossing and the like. The Governor's duty in examining a bill submitted to him, should be limited to considering the general scope and purpose of the proposed law. Nevertheless, I have been obliged, in some instances, to refuse my signature to bills passed, simply because the language was careless and not suited to the purpose intended, and, in many more instances have, under a practice established before I came into office, returned bills to the Legislature, at its request, after they had been delivered to me, for the purpose of enabling it to correct inaccurate or fatally defective language, rather than have a bill, the purpose of which was unobjectionable (perhaps important) lost.

It is obvious that if the Legislature will not see to it that its bills are properly worded, framed consistently with other laws, or correctly engrossed, that I cannot, as a matter of duty to the people, suffer these errors to pass, when I discover them; but I submit that this duty should not be imposed on me, and that the Legislature should insist upon its committees giving all the time necessary to the proper preparation and completion of bills. Out of the seventeen bills thus far received at the executive chamber this session, several are, in their structure and phraseology, open to very serious criticism. One has been recalled by the Legislature and amended, and two others I have been requested to hold and am holding so that they may be recalled for the same purpose.

It is, of course, impossible that the Governor alone should discover all the inaccuracies, inconsistencies and improper provisions which may find their way into the one thousand or more bills which it has become the habit to pass every year. The division of labor among the many committees of the two branches of the Legislature makes it much more possible for them to do this work.

I trust that this Legislature will effect a reform in this respect and exercise more care and vigilance over both the character and the form of the bills they may pass; and by taking more time for the details of legislative work, will enact fewer laws and consequently better laws than have, for many years, appeared on our annual statute book. I repeat the recommendation made in my annual message, that all important bills, and especially the several general appropriation bills, may be matured as early as possible in the session, so that if objections occur to me as to any provisions or any items in them, I may have an opportunity to submit my objections to the Legislature to be by it considered and confirmed or overruled as to it may seem proper. The hurried character which the business of the Legislature assumes in the closing days of the session makes that a very unfit period for the consideration of bills of great importance or of so much detail as the general appropriation bills, which last need the earnest and deliberate attention of every member of both Houses.

I make these suggestions respectfully, believing that they are warranted by the spirit of the resolution transmitted to me, and I ask for them your careful consideration.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the Senate, with a message informing that the Assembly have passed the same, with amendments.

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber, and presented a communication from the Governor, in the words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
ALBANY, January 31, 1872. }

To the Assembly:

I return, without approval, Assembly bill No. 16, entitled "An act to legalize and confirm the election of Harrison Clute as superintendent of the poor of the county of Schenectady." It seems to me very clear that this bill should not become a law for the following reasons:

The act to amend and consolidate the several acts relative to the city of Schenectady (chapter 385 of the Laws of 1862) provides, among other things, for the election of a supervisor for each ward of the city, who shall be a member of the board of supervisors of the county; and declares that the supervisors so elected shall have all the powers, exercise all the duties, and be subject to all the provisions of law then applicable to supervisors of towns.

One of the provisions of law applicable to supervisors of towns, and to which, by the words just quoted, supervisors of wards in Schenectady were made subject, was that contained in chapter 80 of the Laws of 1853, which declared that no supervisor of any town should be elected or appointed to hold the office of superintendent of the poor.

At the time of the general election, held in the fall of 1871, Harrison Clute was a supervisor, representing the fifth ward of Schenectady, and the provisions of law, just quoted, in clear and unmistakable terms, forbade his election or appointment to the office of superintendent of the poor of Schenectady county. Nevertheless, he was a candidate before the people for that office at that election, and received, it seems, a majority of the votes cast. That election, so far as he was concerned, was in violation of law, and was void. The bill herewith returned is, of necessity, a recognition of the facts that the disability existed and that the election of Mr. Clute was illegal and invalid; and it declares that such disability is removed as of and from the day preceding that election, and the election "is legalized and confirmed for the full term of three years from the 1st day of January, 1872." In other words, it aims to legislate into a county office for three years a person who has not been legally elected thereto. It is, in effect, a legislative appointment of a county superintendent of the poor, and is in violation of the constitutional provision which declares that county officers shall be elected by the people or appointed by some of the local authorities of the county. However proper it may be for the Legislature to legalize acts of public officers, or of officers de facto, invalid by reason of mere omission to comply with some provisions of the statute, it should never seek to give validity to anything done in open violation of law. It is not competent, I submit, for the Legislature to make legal now an election which was void at the time it took place, nor is it competent for it to appoint a superintendent of the poor of Schenectady county; and I submit, further, that this bill will not effect the purpose for which it is designed, to wit, curing the evil now existing in Schenectady county, of a person exercising the powers of an office to which his title is not good. On the contrary, the effect of the bill, if it becomes a law, will be to prolong for nearly three years the present improper condition of things; and it would be necessary hereafter to pass a law legalizing the acts of Mr. Clute, as de facto officer, for the whole term.

Mr. Clute's title to the office is not good. I have no doubt on this point; nor has the Legislature, as is proved by its passing this bill. If there were any doubt, however, on this point, it is a question, I submit, which the Legislature should not undertake to decide; it belongs to the judiciary.

The bill appears to me to present one of the worst forms of special legislation. It merely suspends the operation of a general law, in one county, for a brief period, and for the benefit of one person; and at the end of that period the general law is to be again in full force, as well in this one county as in all others.

It is of little importance whether Mr. Clute or some other citizen is made superintendent of the poor this year. It is of importance that a precedent such as this bill would establish should not prevail.

The election was, it is admitted, illegal and void; the office was consequently left vacant; the supervisors, by chapter 257 of the Laws of 1854, have power to fill the vacancy during the year only, the vacancy to be permanently filled by election of the people at the next general election.

I respectfully submit that this bill ought not to become a law, confident that, upon reconsideration, the Legislature will agree with me.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

On motion of Mr. Alvord, said communication was laid upon the table.

And whereas, This Assembly is not an inquisition, but a legislative body, bound to act upon some general principles of right and wrong, or upon the knowledge of facts proved;

And whereas, It is alleged that in former years, charges against officials, have resulted in compromise between the accusers and the accused, while the Legislature is left, as it has been now for four weeks, to the censure of the people, for not having removed evils of which it has neither specification nor proof; therefore,

Resolved, That the Bar Association of the city of New York, and all others having knowledge of abuses, that this Legislature ought to abate, are hereby requested to present the same to this Assembly, with proof, or to the end that proof may be taken.

Rule 2. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed in one House shall be rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the House in which the same may have passed.

Rule 3. Messages from one House to the other shall be communicated by their clerks respectively, unless the House transmitting the message shall specially direct otherwise.

Rule 4. It shall be in the power of either House to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

Rule 5. In every case of difference between the two Houses, upon any subject of legislation, either House may request a conference, and appoint a committee for that purpose, and the other shall also appoint a committee to confer. The committee shall meet at such hour and place as shall be appointed by the chairman of the committee on the part of the House requesting such conference. The conferees shall state to each other verbally, or in writing, as either shall choose, the reasons of their respective Houses, and confer freely thereon. The committee shall report in writing, and shall be authorized to report such modifications or amendments as they think advisable. But no committee on conference shall consider or report on any matters except those directly at issue between the two Houses. The papers shall be left with the conferees of the House assenting to such conference, and they shall present the report of the committee to their House. When such House shall have acted thereon, they shall transmit the same, and the papers relating thereto, to the other, with a message certifying its action thereon.

Rule 6. It shall be in order for either House to recede from any subject-matter of difference subsisting between the two Houses at any time previous to conference, whether the papers on which such difference arose are before the House receding, formally or informally; and on such vote to recede, the same number shall be required to constitute a quorum to act thereon, and to assent to such receding, as was required on the original question out of which the difference arose.

Mr. D. L. Babcock offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following, to wit:

Whereas, The Albany Hospital is an institution incorporated and chartered by the State, solely for charitable purposes; and

Whereas, The said hospital has received from the State thousands of dollars annually appropriated for charitable purposes; and

Whereas, It is alleged that the funds of this charitable institution have been used for the benefit and accommodation of private patients of surgeons and physicians connected with the hospital, whereby such surgeons and physicians have received large sums of money for professional services rendered in the hospital; and

Whereas, The receiving of money from patients, privately, by medical or other officers of the institution is contrary to the purpose of its organization and continuance as well as in the violation of the by-laws, and has had the effect, as it is alleged, to produce improper discrimination prejudicial to the comfort and welfare of the poor for whom the hospital exists; and

Whereas, It is alleged that the sum of four thousand dollars, appropriated by the Legislature of the State to aid an incorporated institution, called the Albany Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, upon condition that the sum of ten thousand dollars be raised from other sources, was unwarrantably drawn from the State treasury by the president of the board of governors of the Albany Hospital, and passed to the treasury of the Albany Hospital, although said hospital has not and never has had any relation whatsoever with the infirmary aforesaid for benefit of which the said sum of four thousand dollars was appropriated, and although from no source whatsoever had the required sum of ten thousand dollars been raised; and

Whereas, The medical and other supplies of the hospital are alleged to have been purchased for years from a governor of the hospital in violation of a prohibition in the by-laws; and

Whereas, The regular meetings of the governors required by the charter and by-laws of the hospital have not been held, as it is alleged, and other meetings have been held without notification being given to all members of the board of governors as required by law; and

Whereas, It is alleged that sundry persons convening and acting as members of the board of governors at meetings called at the private office of the president were not, de jure, governors at all, since some of them were never benefactors or members of the hospital, and the contributions made by others were not sufficient in amount to entitle them to continued membership in the corporation after a definite period specified in the by-laws, which period had expired; and

Whereas, It is alleged that at meetings called as aforesaid at the president's private office, without due notification being given to all legitimate members of the board, some of the governors with sundry persons acting illegally in the capacity of governors declared, in violation of provisions contained in the by-laws, several medical officers of the hospital to be deposed and appointed substitutes to act in their place and stead, whereby the usefulness of the hospital was impaired and its reputation hurt, and whereby an ill feeling was created in the community in which a conviction had spread that the governors of the hospital had shown themselves less zealous to secure the best medical talent and skill for the poor than to compass ends of doubtful propriety while managing the institution in the interests of personal favoritism and pecuniary profit; and

Whereas, It is alleged that the governors of the Albany Hospital assumed the prerogatives of a close corporation, and persistently neglected to hold annual elections for fifteen governors, as required by the charter, but instead thereof perpetuated their power for more than ten years by continuing themselves in office and filling vacancies in the board to suit themselves; and

Whereas, It is alleged that it became necessary at last for the supreme court to issue a writ of mandamus to compel an election to be held in default of the election which should have been regularly on the first Monday in August, 1871, but which election, required by the charter of the hospital and provided for in the by-laws of the same, the governors, disregarding the law and their duty, neglected to hold; and

Whereas, It is alleged that after strenuous opposition to the issuing of said writ of mandamus, the governors did, when compelled to hold an election, appoint, in violation of the by-laws, three persons who were not members of the corporation as inspectors of the election, and these inspectors did, at the time of the election, receive and accept the ballots of some person or persons who, many years prior, had subscribed contributions to the hospital, but whose paper contributions had subsequently become bankrupt, outlawed and worthless, while not a cent of principal or interest had at any time been paid thereon; and they, the said inspectors, did receive and accept the ballots of other parties whose membership, according to the provisions of the by-laws, had expired; and the said inspectors did receive and accept from the president of the board of governors ballots in favor of himself, the said president, and his associates, authorized to be cast by proxy of persons declared by him to be contributors to the fund of the hospital, but who were not known to the treasurer as contributors, and for that reason possessing, according to the express terms of the by-laws, no right whatsoever to cast a vote; and they, the said inspectors, did, moreover, receive and accept the ballots of other parties, who were not known to be members of the corporation, except by their own declaration and the affirmation of an individual who had no right to a voice during the proceedings, since his sole connection with the hospital was, properly, only in the capacity of a medical officer; and when the vote was canvassed they, the said inspectors, did declare the old board or substantially the old board of governors to be elected; now, therefore,

Resolved, That the board of governors of the Albany Hospital be directed to present to this House, within fifteen days, a complete and detailed finance report for each year separately since the organization of the hospital; said report to be drawn from the books and records of the hospital, and otherwise, and to set forth the amount of all moneys, material or other value received by the institution, from whom received, and the date when received, whether in money, material, labor or otherwise.

Also, that said board present a full and detailed statement of all moneys expended and paid out each year separately, giving the name of each person to whom paid, with the date of each payment, and the nature of the demand or claim for which each and every payment was made.

Also, a full and detailed statement of the nature and amount and dates of all and several the liabilities and debts of the hospital, with the names of the persons to whom such liabilities are due and payable.

Also, a full and explicit statement of all valid obligations, bills receivable, debts, accounts or other value, due or to become due to the hospital.

Also, a full and complete statement setting forth the number of private patients treated by each physician and surgeon since the organization of the hospital, the date of each private patient's admission, and the length of time each remained in the institution, the amount of money each such patient paid to the hospital, with the aggregate of such amounts for each year, and the amount of money paid to the attending physician or surgeon by each private patient, either in the nature of professional fees or otherwise, with the name of each physician or surgeon who has accepted payment or fees or gratuities for services rendered in the hospital, and the aggregate sums received each year by each physician or surgeon.

Also, the number of charity patients from whom no pay for medical treatment has been received, either by the hospital or by the medical attendants, directly or indirectly, with the name of each such patient, the date of admission, duration of treatment, and time of discharge of each.

Also, the number of persons, with the names of each, who have lodged and fed at the hospital, but who were not received as patients and were not regularly appointed officers or employes of the institution, the date of the admission of each such person into the hospital, and of departure therefrom, with the duration of residence therein, the amount of money paid by each such person and the aggregate amount paid by all such persons for each year.

Also, a full and explicit statement of the disposition made of the sum of four thousand dollars drawn by the president of the board of governors from the State treasury, which sum was appropriated by the Legislature for the benefit of the Albany Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, setting forth in what manner the sum of ten thousand dollars was contributed to the said infirmary by the Albany Hospital, or by any other person whatsoever, so as to entitle the said infirmary, or its representative, to the said sum of four thousand dollars by having complied with the conditions imposed by the Legislature in raising ten thousand dollars from other sources, before the appropriation should be claimed; and also making appear by what legal action the Albany Hospital acquired the rights and privileges of another and distinct corporation, and justified the president in obtaining and the governors of the hospital in keeping and using money which the Legislature did not contemplate should pass into the treasury of the hospital, which had the benefit of a distinct appropriation the same year.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions be served on the president of the board of governors of the Albany Hospital by the Clerk of this House.

Said resolution giving rise to debate,

Ordered, That the same be laid on the table.

Mr. Tucker offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following, to wit:

Resolved, That the committee on railroads be discharged from the further consideration of the Assembly bill (introductory No. 330), entitled "An act to repeal the Erie Directors Classification act," and that the same be committed to the committee of the whole House.

Said resolution giving rise to debate,

Ordered, That the same be laid on the table.

Mr. Moulton called for the consideration of the resolution heretofore offered by him, in the words following, to wit:

Whereas, It is alleged that in the past there has been fraud and corruption in the elections, so that the free and expressed choice of the electors of the State has not been ascertained thereat; and that improper influences and appliances have been and are used with legislators;

And whereas, It is of vital importance to the State that such evils, if they have existed or do exist, should be developed, to the end that those who have perpetrated such wrongs should be punished, and that such legislation shall be had as will prevent a recurrence of these evils; therefore,

Resolved, That it be referred to a select committee of five to make investigations concerning these matters, that such committee have power to report, from time to time, by bill or otherwise as it shall think proper, and that it shall have power to send for persons and papers.

“And whereas, It is desirable that the record of the State of New York shall be clear and unequivocal in favor of the said Fifteenth Amendment, therefore,”

Ordered, That the Clerk deliver said resolution to the Senate, and request their concurrence therein.

Mr. Mackey offered for the consideration of the House a preamble and resolutions, in the words following, to wit:

Whereas, Civilization is based on intercourse among the people; and

Whereas, It is one of the first and most important duties of civilized governments to establish laws regulating such intercourse; and

Whereas, The welfare of every community depends on the cheapness, convenience and dispatch by which the facilities necessary for such intercourse are regulated; and

Whereas, Railroads have superseded ordinary highways, turnpikes, plank-roads, lakes, rivers and canals, and have grown to be the recognized modes by which persons and property are transported from one section of the country to another; and

Whereas, Railroads have been declared for public use, and, for that reason, been clothed with the right to take what private property is necessary for their construction, with, or without the consent of its owner; and

Whereas, The original charters by which railroad companies were created in this State, and under which railroads were permitted to be built, restricted the amount of the capital stock and bonded indebtedness of said companies to an amount equal to that actually and in good faith expended, either in the construction or equipment of the roads which said companies represent; and

Whereas, Said original charters also restricted the amount of interest or dividends which said companies might pay to ten per cent per annum on the amounts so actually expended, thereby proving that the Legislatures which first permitted railroads to be built intended by legislative enactment to prevent the public from being taxed for the use of such roads beyond an amount sufficient to pay the necessary operating expenses of such roads, and a fair and liberal return on the moneys actually expended on them for the public welfare; and

Whereas, The people of this State paid, during the last year, to the different railroad companies doing business in the State, nearly seventy

million dollars, for having their persons and property transported over the roads represented by said companies ; and

Whereas, Nearly five million dollars of this vast sum was appropriated by the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company to pay interest or dividends on the bonds, stock or scrip of said company, which bonds, stock or scrip represent an access over all amounts ever levied on or paid into the treasury of said company by the stock and bondholders of said company ; and

Whereas, This and similar burdens have become oppressive on the people of this State, and to be relieved from which they have repeatedly and in great numbers petitioned their representatives ; and

Whereas, The result of watering railroad stocks and bonds, and taxing commerce and travel to pay interest or dividends on such water has been to drive wealth and population from this State, to destroy milling and manufacturing enterprises, to reduce the amount of agricultural productions, and to threaten the commercial supremacy of the metropolis of this State, and generally to make railroads a source of oppression rather than a blessing to its people ; therefore

Resolved, That the Attorney-General of this State be requested to furnish this body with his legal opinion whether or not railroad companies, organized under the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this State, and having the right of eminent domain, or to take private property for public use, can levy rates or tolls on the public requiring the use of the roads such companies represent beyond an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of operating such roads and a fair and just return on their actual cost.

Resolved, That the Attorney-General be also requested to furnish his opinion whether or not any act of the Legislature can be held as constitutional and binding which permits railroad companies, organized for public use, to increase their capital stock or dividend paying indebtedness, and impose burdens on the public to pay interest or dividends on such increase, when such increase is based on the surplus earnings of such railroads, or when such increase represents an increased value of private property appropriated by such company for a public use.

Ordered, That said resolution be laid on the table and printed.

Mr. Moseley offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following, to wit :

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That when the Legislature adjourn on Friday, the 16th, it adjourn to meet on the evening of Monday, the 26th, at half-past seven o'clock.

Ordered, That said resolution be laid on the table.

A message from the Senate was received and read, requesting the concurrence of the Assembly to the bill entitled as follows :

On motion of Mr. Hawkins, and by unanimous consent, said bill was read a third time.

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber, and presented a communication from the Governor, in the words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, February 27, 1872. }

To the Assembly:

I return, without my approval, Assembly bill No. 79, entitled "An act to change the name of the First Congregational Church and Society of Poughkeepsie, New York."

Chapter 322 of the Laws of 1870, provides a very simple and inexpensive method of changing the names of incorporations by the courts. This law was enacted for the purpose of relieving the Legislature from applications of this nature, and in order to avoid encumbering, unnecessarily, our annual statute book.

The Legislature, I doubt not, will, on reconsideration, agree with me that the purpose of the law of 1870 is a good one and should be carried out; which can only be done by rigidly refusing to pass special laws in every case covered by the provisions of the general act.

The House again met, when

Mr. Speaker announced the question to be upon the motion of Mr. Fields to recommit the bill entitled "An act to reorganize the local government of the city of New York" to the committee on the affairs of cities.

Pending the debate upon said motion,

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber and presented a communication from the Governor in the words following :

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
ALBANY, February 27, 1872. }

To the Assembly :

I return, without approval, Assembly bill No. 50, entitled "An act for the extension of the Utica, Chenango and Cortland railroad."

The bill authorizes the Utica, Chenango and Cortland Railroad Company to extend its road from its present terminus to the Utica, Clinton and Binghamton railroad at Smith's Valley. The original route defined in the articles of association of this company, filed with the Secretary of State in 1870, was of the length of thirty-two miles.

The whole amount of capital stock subscribed was $32,000, being the minimum required by the general railroad law of the State as a condition to the formation of the company and the undertaking of its enterprise. The extension provided for by this bill is, I am informed, fourteen miles in length. If the bill were allowed to become a law, the company would, as to the extension proposed, be specially exempted from the salutary provisions of the general railroad act, requiring a certain amount of capital per mile to be subscribed before such associations assume the important privileges conferred on them by that act.

I cannot, therefore, give the bill my approval unless it shall be so amended as to impose upon the company, in respect of their proposed extension, all the conditions which are imposed, and, as I think, wisely imposed, upon all companies by the general railroad law.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

On motion of Mr. Squires, said message was laid upon the table.

The House then resumed the consideration of the motion of Mr. Fields.

Debate was had thereon, when

Mr. Fields withdrew his motion.

Whereupon it was renewed by Mr. Foley.

The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, Mr. Speaker announced the special order, being the report of the committee on privileges and elections in the case of the contested seat of Kilian v. Frear, and being in the words following, to wit:

Report of majority of the committee on privileges and elections in the matter of the petition of Frederick Kilian, contestant for the seat of Alexander Frear, as member of Assembly of the State of New York, from the fifteenth Assembly district of the city and county of New York.

To the Assembly :

The standing committee on privileges and elections, to whom was referred the petition of Frederick Kilian, claiming the seat now occupied by Hon. Alexander Frear, as member of the Assembly from the fifteenth Assembly district of the county of New York, respectfully submit the following report :

The contestant, Frederick Kilian, claims that he was, by the greatest number of votes, duly elected member of Assembly for the said fifteenth Assembly district of the county of New York at the general election held on November 7th, 1871.

He alleges that he was unlawfully deprived of his seat by means of fraudulent canvassing and other irregularities, perpetrated at several of the polling places in said Assembly district, and enumerates the first, third, seventh, eighth, eighteenth and twenty-fifth election districts of the twentieth ward of the city of New York, all of them being included in and parts of the said fifteenth Assembly district, as the places where such frauds and irregularities were committed.

The incumbent in general, denies the allegations of fraud and irregularities made by the contestant, charges irregularities in the thirteenth and sixteenth election districts of the twentieth ward, likewise portions of said Assembly district, and insists upon the regularity of the election and the correctness of the returns.

The committee have been attended by the parties and their counsel, and have received and carefully considered the evidence offered in support of their respective claims.

The evidence was produced or offered on the part of the incumbent, Frear, in relation to the irregularities alleged by him to have occurred in the thirteenth and sixteenth election districts of the twentieth ward.

It was shown before the committee, that immediately after the election, at the first meeting of the board of county canvassers, the contestant, Kilian, presented his protest, setting forth frauds and irregularities, claiming that the returns from certain districts should be thrown out, and that the certificate of election should be awarded to him.

This protest was referred to the committee on protests of said board of county canvassers, before whom the contestant produced affidavits to prove the alleged frauds and irregularities, and offered to produce witnesses to be examined concerning the same. This committee on protests refused to examine the witnesses, or to inquire into or pass upon the returns of votes made by the district canvassers, and the board of county canvassers sustained such action and gave the certificate of election to Hon. Alexander Frear, the sitting member. This will appear somewhat extraordinary when it is remembered that the same committee on protests, and the board of county canvassers composed almost entirely of the same persons ; at the canvass of the votes cast at the election held in November of the previous year, did enquire into and pass upon the question as to the correctness of the returns of the votes made by the district canvassers in several of the election districts, comprised within the seventh Assembly district of the county of New York, rejected several such returns, and gave the certificate of election to Hon. John Carey, instead of to Hon. Horatio N. Twombly, who, according to the returns of the district canvassers, received the greatest number of votes.

In the present case it was conceded that the number of votes, as returned by the district canvassers and allowed by the county canvassers, and upon which the certificate of election was given, was:

For Alexander Frear	2,818
For Frederick Kilian	2,791

Giving Frear an apparent majority of twenty-seven (27).

It was also conceded that the returns made by the district canvassers in the twenty-fifth election district of the twentieth ward, and allowed by the county canvassers, were, for member of Assembly:

Frear.....	228
Kilian	60
Harris	36
Logan	17

It was shown by one of the contestant's witnesses, a clerk in one of the largest banks of the city of New York, that the canvass in this twenty-fifth election district was conducted throughout in a very loose and disorderly manner, with scarcely any regard to the requisites and formalities prescribed by law.

That in the canvass of the general ticket, containing the names for State, city and county officers, in all nearly thirty-five names, the inspectors seem to have made a count, the poll clerks keeping or purporting to keep a tally; that one of the poll clerks said to the other: "Here, let's give the democrats 227 and the republicans 110 all the way round; that'll make it about fair," and the returns were accordingly so made and signed by the inspectors of election. This was not denied, although one of the inspectors, called on behalf of the incumbent, testified that he had taken charge of the "splits," of which he thought there were fifty; and another inspector testified that the return of the general ticket was correct, "just as correct" as the returns made on the Assembly ticket.

In the canvass of the Assembly ticket but two of the inspectors took part; one of them simply received bunches of tickets handed him by the other, each bunch being supposed to contain ten, and in two instances remonstrated at the other's miscount. No tally was announced by the inspectors or kept by the poll clerks, nor was any announcement made of the vote; though each of these matters, together with the manner in which it shall be performed, is specifically required and set forth in the election law, and mentioned with great particularity and minuteness in the instructions issued from the "Bureau of Elections" in the city of New York to the canvassers and poll clerks.

One of the poll clerks ultimately asked, "What did those fellows get?" whereupon one of the inspectors answered, after consultation with a bystander, "Frear 228, Killian 60, Harris 36, and Logan 17"; and the returns were accordingly so made out and signed by the inspectors. The inspectors were called as witnesses on behalf of the incumbent, but although they contradicted some of the testimony given on the part of the contestant, yet they contradicted each other in so many material points as to produce conviction in the minds of the committee of their bad faith and intent to defraud.

It was proved that, in this twenty-fifth election district of the twentieth ward, at least ninety-eight (98) residents and legal voters therein voted for Frederick Kilian, the contestant, for member of Assembly; ninety-one of these testified positively that they so voted. These witnesses seemed to be of great intelligence and respectability, and included clergymen, physicians, lawyers, bankers and merchants, who, though subjected to a rigid and somewhat extended cross-examination, adhered to their statements with clearness and positiveness. Yet the canvassers return only sixty (60) votes for Kilian in this district.

It seems proper to observe, in connection with these frauds and irregularities in the twenty-fifth election district of the twentieth ward, that one of the inspectors of election, James Riley, who, to avoid a rule of the committee excluding all witnesses except the one under examination, passed several days in their room under assumed names, testified that he had been employed by the Commissioners of Emigration, coming from Ward's island into the district but a short time before the election; that he was appointed inspector of election; that he advocated the election of Mr. Frear, who, by the way, is one of the Commissioners of Emigration, that he resided at and voted from the "Leed's Arms," a bar-room and lodging-house; that he never owned a trunk or carpet-bag; that he had but two shirts, which he considered an adequate supply for six months without washing; that he had no apparel other than that he carried on his back or in a newspaper; this person, a vagabond, and evidently of the lowest character, took charge of the Assembly box, and was permitted by the other inspectors so to do, during almost the entire day, and deposited, or was supposed to deposit in the box the ballots for Assembly, offered by the voters. It seems obviously proper to reject the returns made for Assembly, by the district canvassers of the twenty-fifth election district of the twentieth ward, and the committee have resolved to do so, being of the opinion that the discrepancy between the number of votes, indisputably proved to have been cast there for Kilian, and the number returned for him, taken in connection with the irregularities in, and indeed the loose, general nature of the canvass, furnishes sufficient evidence of fraud to justify such action.

If it be urged that such an act disfranchises the citizens of that district, the answer is that it behooves a people to see to it that a fair and honest expression of their choice is secured at the ballot-box; that if such an expression is prevented or rendered impossible, either by their own active or passive aid, or by fraud or neglect of those chosen to determine what that expression is, the consequences must be endured; the wrong thereby worked should be righted; and the only remedy which will strike deep enough to cure the evil should be applied.

The returns from that election being rejected, the vote for Assembly in the entire Assembly district, as between the contestant and incumbent, is:

Frear	2,590
Kilian	2,731

giving Kilian a majority over Frear of 141 votes.

But even if the returns of this district be not rejected, the general result remains unchanged, Kilian being allowed the ninety-one votes proved to have been given for him.

If it be assumed that the vote for Harris and Logan was correctly returned, and the votes cast for Kilian but not returned for him were given to Frear, then, taking the votes as proved before the committee, the total vote in the Assembly district, as between the parties hereto, will be:

Frear	2,780
Kilian	2,829

Kilian's majority over Frear 49

If it be assumed that the number of votes returned for Frear be correct, and that the votes proved to have been given for Kilian and not returned for him were either destroyed or returned for the other candidates, then the vote of the entire Assembly district will be, giving to Kilian the votes proved to have been cast for him:

Frear	2,818
Kilian	2,829

Kilian's majority 11

The frauds in the canvass of the twenty-fifth election district, and the character and result of the voting there, being so clearly shown, and enabling the committee to arrive at a conclusion respecting the case as between the contestant and incumbent, it is deemed unnecessary to pass upon or discuss the character or effect of the irregularities shown in the other election districts mentioned in claimant's petition.

These districts each gave Frear a majority, and if the returns should be thrown out, the contestant would be entitled to his seat as member of Assembly by a majority of more than 500 votes.

Your committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That Frederick Kilian, having received the greatest number of votes cast for member of Assembly for the fifteenth Assembly district of the county of New York, at the general election held on the 7th of November, 1871, is declared the duly elected member from said district, and as such is entitled to the seat now occupied by Hon. Alexander Frear.

ROBERT H. STRAHAN.
HORATIO N. TWOMBLY.
P. BURNS.
S. SPRINGSTED.
JOHN S. MARCY.

Mr. Strahan moved that the report and resolution of the majority of said committee be adopted.

Mr. D. B. Hill then moved to amend by substituting therefor the report and resolution of the minority of said committee in words following:

Minority report of the committee on privileges and elections in the matter of the petition of Frederick Kilian, contestant for the seat of Alexander Frear, member of Assembly of the State of New York from the fifteenth Assembly district of the city and county of New York.

The minority of the committee on privileges and elections, respectfully present the reasons why they are unable to concur in the report of the majority, that Frederick Kilian is entitled to the seat of Alexander Frear, as member of Assembly from the fifteenth district of the city of New York.

Mr. Frear was regularly declared and certified to be elected by twenty-seven majority. It is not pretended on the part of the contestant that this result was not reached in compliance with the forms of law; and the incumbent, and the election officers upon whose returns his right is based, are therefor entitled to all the presumptions which the law attaches to these facts.

To impeach Mr. Frear's right to his seat, the contestant has given evidence in relation to the first, seventh, eighth, eighteenth and twenty-fifth election districts of the twentieth ward; the ward within which the district is entirely comprised.

In the first district there was only one poll clerk present when the voting commenced. The inspectors were entirely inexperienced. They did not even know that it was necessary to keep a poll list. They, therefore, gave the poll clerk one of the registers of electors, to check off the names of the persons voting, and mark thereon what tickets they voted. The republican inspector did the same with another copy of the register. As soon as there was a lull in the voting, and when nearly 130 persons had voted, the inspectors took up the poll lists which had been provided for the election, and immediately directed the poll clerk to commence keeping one. Three hundred and sixty-seven persons voted afterward, and their names were entered on the poll list. The other poll clerk did not arrive at the polls until after twelve o'clock, when he also commenced to keep a poll list. The republican inspector continued to check one of the registers. The three inspectors were all examined, and they united in testifying that 493 persons voted; all but two of whom were registered electors. There were 566 names on the registry. Four hundred and eighty ballots were received and canvassed for member of Assembly.

This clear statement of the election officers, conclusive as it is in respect to the fairness of the election in that district, is corroborated by a most important witness. He was the challenger and watcher appointed by the republican organization in that Assembly district, of that portion of the republican party most closely identified with the national administration; being the organization in that district over which the leading counsel for the contestant himself presided. This witness, who voted for Mr. Kilian, testified that he attended every session of the inspectors at which voters were registered; that he entered in a book provided for that purpose, by the organization, the name of every person registered; that he also attended the polls from the opening to the close (his meals being brought to him), and checked in that book the name of every person who voted, except two or three who voted without having been registered; that he was present during the entire canvass of the Assembly ballots, and that the number of such ballots canvassed was less than the number of names of persons voting, checked by him in that book. He left the book the same day (as he was instructed by it to do) at the house of Mr. Davenport, United States commissioner, the gentleman who had charge of the election for the whole city, in the interest of the administration branch of the republican party, and of the committee of seventy. This evidence forecloses any possibility of doubt in regard to the correctness of the return for the first district.

In the seventh district, the challenger and watcher of the same organization, who also voted for Mr. Kilian, testified, that during the absence of one of the inspectors for dinner, another person, not an inspector, put ballots received from voters in the box provided for the reception of ballots for inspectors of election, but in no other box. He also testified, that two persons, not inspectors nor poll clerks, assisted in canvassing the split ballots for State and county officers, but that as soon as he objected they ceased to take part. He testified, moreover, that no person but the inspectors took any part in the canvass of the Assembly ballots. Although there was nothing proved to impeach the correctness of the Assembly canvass, the three inspectors were called and they verified it.

In the eighth district, the challenger and watcher of the same organization, who also voted for Mr. Kilian, testified, that during the absence of the republican inspector for dinner, he deposited the ballots of some four or five voters in two or three of the boxes, but he could not specify which. He added that he was not guilty of any fraud whatever. The two inspectors who were present testified that he put no ballot into the Assembly box.

In respect to the eighteenth district, two witnesses were called by the contestant. They concurred in stating that a person, not an inspector or poll clerk, took part, by general request, in the canvass of the general ticket, which was very difficult on account of the number of split tickets and the number of names on the ballots. One of them testified that the same person helped to unfold the Assembly ballots; while the other testified that he took no part. The gentleman himself and the three inspectors all testified that he took no part in the canvass of the Assembly ballots, but that they were canvassed exclusively by the inspectors.

In the twenty-fifth district, two witnesses were examined who were watchers at the polls and during the canvass; one for the municipal reform party, and one for the democratic reform (O'Brien) party. The three inspectors (two democrats and one republican) were also examined. These witnesses agree that the vote of the district, as canvassed, was for Frear (regular democrat), 228; Harris (democratic reform), thirty-six; Logan (independent democrat), sixteen; and Kilian (republican), sixty; the only discrepancy being as to whether Harris received thirty-six or thirty-seven.

Not the slightest proof was produced of the change of any ballot during the election. Each inspector swears that he changed none, and that he did not see any changed. Of the watchers and others who stood there during the election, not one says that he saw a ballot changed. Two witnesses testified that one of the inspectors dropped their ballots; and when he picked them up, they asked to look at them again before they were deposited in the box, and they were handed back to them, and they found that they were the same ballots, being for Kilian.

Besides this important negative proof, most of the voters examined as witnesses were asked whether they saw the ballots for Assembly which they handed to the inspectors deposited in the box. Nearly all answered that they did. Not one testified that he saw his ballot changed.

Against this conclusive case, the majority hold that the ballots must have been changed, because one of the inspectors, who was not shown ever to have done a wrong act, is young and poor; has a scanty wardrobe; was formerly in the employ of the commissioners of emigration; lives in a public house where liquor is sold; had not resided in the district for a month, at the time he was appointed inspector of election, and was present in the room of the committee during the examination of some of the witnesses, and gave a wrong name to one of the contestant's counsel, who sought to put him out. If these matters were all true, they would constitute no ground in the absence of any proof showing fraud, for throwing out the vote of a district. The proposition to disfranchise the people of an Assembly district, and force upon them a representative they have not chosen, upon such grounds as these, seems almost farcical.

It is difficult to regard it as seriously made. Least of all should the republican party, which has passed law after law providing that, in New York city, inspectors need not live in the election districts for which they act, object to an inspector because he had not so resided thirty days.

There is some discrepancy between the watchers and the canvassers as to who made the announcement of the Assembly vote. They agree that it was announced, but name different persons as making the announcement. The truth appears to be, that it was announced several times. It was announced and reannounced, and the vote was heard and known by all who were present. There was no variation, except as above stated, in respect to one vote for Harris.

There is a like difference as to who kept tallies of the votes canvassed. All agree, however, that the republican inspector (a man unfriendly to Frear, with whom he had had a personal difficulty), kept a tally, and that it accorded with the vote as announced and returned. Of all the persons present at the canvass, including the watchers, not one testified that there was any fraud in the canvass of the Assembly tickets, or that Kilian received more than sixty votes.

The contestant gave some proof as to irregularities in the canvass of the general ticket, which contained twenty-seven names, and was very difficult to canvass. But the incumbent, as it had nothing to do with his case, did not rebut it by any testimony upon the subject.

The only point in respect to the Assembly canvass, made in the testimony on behalf of the contestant, was an occurrence stated by the first witness he called. The witness testified that the republican canvasser, who first counted the tickets into tens, twice passed more than ten to the democratic inspector who next counted them; but they were immediately passed back to him. Twelve were passed instead of ten the last of the two times. In each case the mistake was corrected. The inspectors testify that there were two such occurrences, but that one was during the canvass of the Assembly ballots, when eleven were passed instead of ten, and the other during the canvass of the votes for Frear, when twelve were passed instead of ten, and the democratic inspector said, "Give the man what he is entitled to." Nothing could better show the weakness of the contestant's case than the attempt to magnify such trifling occurrences into matters of importance.

Being unable to adduce any direct proof of fraud, the contestant attempted to supply the deficiency with testimony by or about 103 persons, whom he alleges voted for him in that district. Before we consider the evidence upon this point, let us direct attention to some testimony presented to the committee by the contestant. Having personal knowledge of the matter, the counsel for the contestant (who, it must be remembered, is the presiding officer of the organization in the district recognized as regular, by the republican State convention), elicited the following significant facts: A young man, who was one of the democratic inspectors in the first district, was induced by other persons to go with them to the house of the said counsel and presiding officer. When there, some of the parties (not the inspector) wanted him to give them $1,000 to throw out the vote of the first district. He refused to do that, but said he would give $500; the parties could not agree, but left, the counsel and presiding officer saying to them as they went out, "We would like to have Kilian there anyhow, no matter how we get him there." This damaging testimony, called out by the contestant himself, with evident knowledge of its truth, was entirely uncontradicted. It is a striking commentary upon the manner in which this contest has been prosecuted in respect to the twenty-fifth district. The money that was rejected in the first district was doubtless spent in the twenty-fifth.

The first thing done there was to send a notary round the district to procure affidavits by persons that they had voted for Kilian. It was proved that some of these affidavits were sworn to by persons who did not read them; but when once sworn to, the persons making them ceased to be free agents, but were in an iron cage, from which they could not escape, unless by flight, by having the courage to break out, or by coming before the committee and backing up the careless oaths into which they had been entrapped, by positive testimony.

To show how carelessly these affidavits were made, it need only be stated that every one of the persons making them swore positively, not only that he voted for Kilian, but that the ballot was indorsed "Assembly, number five." Probably not one out of ten of the persons who made those affidavits could possibly, unless told, have repeated that indorsement; yet they all swore to it just the same as if they had known the fact.

One old and respectable citizen came before the committee and testified that he had made one of those affidavits, without reading, upon being told that he swore that he voted the reform ticket. He afterwards ascertained beyond doubt that he voted for Frear. Another respectable citizen, a German democrat, who voted for Kilian, went to one of his countrymen and asked him to make an affidavit that he voted for Kilian. The man said he did not know for whom he voted, nor from whom he got his tickets. When the former afterwards learned that the other had made an affidavit that he voted for Kilian, he was disgusted, and, as an honest man should, denounced the whole proceeding.

We will now specify some of the 103 persons, who, under the circumstances we have stated, testified, or were testified about, in respect to their alleged votes for Kilian; some of whom even swore positively that they did not vote for him.

One testified that he did not live in the election district, and did not vote there.

Another was said to have made an affidavit that he voted for Kilian, but no person testified that he ever did.

Another was said to have gone to California, but there was no proof as to how he voted.

Another was proved to have removed to Easton, Pa., but there was no proof as to how he voted.

Two who were not examined as witnesses, selected tickets said to be for Kilian, at other houses than the place of the poll, but there was no proof beyond the belief of witnesses, that they voted the tickets so selected.

Another was said to have selected such a ticket, but was not proved to have voted for anybody.

Another was shown by the poll list not to have voted for Assembly.

Another testified that he got his tickets of a person in the street, and voted them without opening any except the senatorial.

Another who came forward as a witness, with the name of Kilian on a piece of paper, admitted that he copied it from the subpoena to attend as a witness, but even with that aid, testified that he voted for "Fithian."

Another testified that "to the best of his recollection and belief," he voted for Kilian, and also for candidates for Senator and register but was equally positive that he only voted one ballot. (These three officers were on separate ballots.)

Another testified that he "presumed" that he had no Assembly ticket in his hand, when he voted, except for Kilian.

Another "thinks" he voted for Kilian.

Another "thought" the name was "Francis C." (not Frederick) Kilian, but "did not examine it particularly."

Another, who swore that he "never cared much about the election any way, to tell the truth," also testified that, while being examined, he remembered who he voted for for senator, but forgot the name before he could mention it.

Another testified that he could not say whether he voted for Harris or for Logan, or for whom; but he voted for some person indorsed by the Times newspaper. (There were twenty-one such persons, and the boundaries of Flammer's, Hawkins' and Moulton's districts were each within one thousand feet of this poll. There were also seven scattering votes for Assembly, of which no return was made.)

Another also testified that he voted for the candidate indorsed by the Times.

Another had no positive recollection of the name he voted for, but knew that he "wanted to put a republican in."

"Another said he could not swear that he had no doubt as to his vote, for he had Harris's tickets in his hand, and might have been mistaken.

Another testified positively that he would not swear whether he voted for Harris or Kilian.

Two others, when asked if they did not vote for Harris, answered, one: "I have forgotten all the names now, it is so long;" and the other: "I don't know whether I did or not."

Another swore that he voted for Kilian and for O'Brien and for Seigel, for the Assembly, but could not remember whether Kilian's name was on the State ticket; nor could he state whether he voted the democratic reform or the republican reform ticket, nor whether he intended to vote for Harris for the Assembly.

Another testified that he was overawed, when voting, by a "rough looking crowd of policemen," and then admitted that there were only two of them; he also testified that one of them might have had an arm five feet long; deliberately reiterating under oath that the statement was true.

Another testified that he had not a distinct recollection of the name, aside from his impression that he voted the reform ticket.

Another testified that he was sure he voted for Kilian because he was a German; because a friend gave him the name, and because he got tickets after the election and examined them.

Another testified that Kilian's name was on the reform State ticket, but he could not tell what other names were on it.

Another, when first applied to by a supporter of Kilian to make an affidavit that he voted for Kilian, said he did not know for whom he voted, yet he came up and testified that he knew he voted for Kilian, because "Frear had had a good thing of it, and he wanted some one else to have a good thing."

Another testified that after he selected his tickets he put them in his pocket where he had other tickets.

Another, who said there were eighteen names on the Assembly ticket, swore he knew that he voted for Kilian, because he was a German, and a respectable man, and he saw his name in the papers.

Another testified that he got his ticket at the regular reform party box, as he had done at previous elections; which was palpably false, as the reform party had not been formed at previous elections. He was also proved by another witness to have procured a ticket for Harris, and to have voted it.

Another testified that all he knew was that he "voted the whole reform ticket," and that a butcher named Kelley (who was not called as a witness), came by just before he voted, took his tickets, looked at them, and said they were all right.

Another testified on direct examination that he voted for Kilian, and on cross-examination that he voted for Frear.

Another came back, after he had been once examined, and testified that he had ascertained positively that he had voted for Frear, and was corroborated in this testimony by another witness.

Another testified that he voted the entire democratic reform ticket, and it was proved that Harris was the candidate of that party.

Another, who was a respectable clergyman, testified, that he could not say for whom he voted.

Another, who was also a respectable clergyman, testified, when first called, that he could not tell for whom he voted, and that he signed an affidavit but was not sworn to it; but when again called and confronted with the affidavit, said that he did swear to it, and that he voted for Kilian.

Eleven others each testified that they could not say how many names were on the Assembly ballot. [It only contained one name.]

All of the above specified persons were included in the 103 persons claimed by the contestant to have voted for him; and all but the first five of them are included in the ninety-eight whom the majority say were "proved" to have voted for him. Besides those we have above specified, there were others who testified as to their votes with such a manifest want of actual knowledge, that it cannot be said that it was proved that they voted for Kilian. But, deducting the forty-eight above specified from the 103 claimed to have voted for him, and there are only fifty-five left, being five less than the number who did vote for him as shown by the returns. This is surely a very poor exhibit, after the election district had been raked in various ways, by a contestant whose council was willing to pay $500 a district "to have Kilian anyhow, no matter how we get him there."

It is certain that no attempt has ever before been made in this State to unseat a member of the Legislature upon such a state of facts.

In the case of Clausen against Van Brunt, in 1868, in one district 342 votes were polled, of which Van Brunt was given 254, Clausen 47, and other candidates 41. The committee took the testimony of 221 of the voters, and only two of them testified that they voted for Van Brunt, or would have done so. Under such circumstances the vote of the district was rejected as fraudulent. But even then, ex-Speaker Pitts, in his minority report, eloquently urges that such a course ought never to be adopted. He says: "It is respectfully but earnestly insisted that no such precedent should be established. The mischief which would spring from it would by far counterbalance its benefits. It would open every closely contested election to what would virtually amount to a new election.

The contest would be changed from the ballot-box to the witness-box, and the frauds and perjuries of the election would be repeated before the tribunals investigating the same. The change of a few venal voters from one side of the contest to the other, might entirely change the result of a fair election, whenever the case was a closely contested one, and the reliance of the contestants would be upon the weakness or corruption of purchaseable witnesses, rather than upon fair proof of the ballot of the voter."

The wrong attempted in this case is made greater by the fact that there were two other democratic candidates who received over 1,000 votes. The decided preference manifested by such of their supporters as appeared before the committee, for Mr. Frear rather than Mr. Kilian, leaves no doubt that the latter is more than 1,000 in the minority in the Assembly district. The republican majority in the Assembly is surely large enough, without forcing, not only without but against evidence, a republican representative upon a district so strongly democratic. We respectfully submit the following resolution :

Resolved, That Alexander Frear is entitled to the seat now occupied by him as a member of Assembly from the fifteenth district of the city and county of New York.

ALBANY, March 2, 1872. }

To the Legislature:

I call your attention to the second section of an act of Congress, passed in 1864, (chapter 210 of the Laws of that year) under which an invitation was extended, through the President, to the States of the Union to provide and furnish statues, not exceeding two in number for each State, of deceased persons who have been citizens thereof and illustrious for their historic renown, or for distinguished civic or military services; which statues are to be placed in a hall in the capitol at Washington, set apart by Congress for the purpose, being the former hall of the House of Representatives. It has only recently been made known to me that this invitation was, in 1864, received from the President.

Some of the States have already complied with this request of the federal government; others have made arrangements for doing so; and it seems to me that our own great State ought not to be behind hand in contributing to this proper commemoration, at the federal capital, of men who have conferred distinction upon our country.

I commend to your consideration the propriety of making immediate provision for the accomplishment, on the part of this State, of its share of the work proposed.

Without wishing to interfere with the discretion of the Legislature in the matter, I respectfully suggest that, in case you decide to furnish the two statues, your choice may, with great propriety, fall upon George Clinton, who was the first Governor of the State and whose public services in the revolutionary period of our history were of marked merit; and upon Robert Fulton, who, in private station, contributed, in a very eminent degree, as well to the renown as to the prosperity of New York.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Mr. Rose offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following, to wit:

Resolved, That on and after Tuesday next this House meet at 10 o'clock A. M., take a recess at 2 P. M. till 7 o'clock P. M., till otherwise ordered by the House.

Said resolution giving rise to debate,

Ordered, That the same be laid on the table.

Mr. Mackay called from the table the preamble and resolution previously offered by him, in the words following:

Whereas, Civilization is based on intercourse among the people; and

Whereas, It is one of the first and most important duties of civilized governments to establish laws regulating such intercourse; and

Whereas, The welfare of every community depends on the cheapness, convenience and dispatch by which the facilities necessary for such intercourse are regulated; and

Whereas, Railroads have superseded ordinary highways, turnpikes, plank-roads, lakes, rivers and canals, and have grown to be the recognized modes by which persons and property are transported from one section of the country to another; and

Whereas, Railroads have been declared for public use, and, for that reason, been clothed with the right to take what private property is necessary for their construction, with, or without the consent of its owner; and

Whereas, The original charters by which railroad companies were created in this State, and under which railroads were permitted to be built, restricted the amount of the capital stock and bonded indebtedness of said companies to an amount equal to that actually and in good faith expended, either in the construction or equipment of the roads which said companies represent; and

Whereas, Said original charters also restricted the amount of interest or dividends which said companies might pay to ten per cent per annum on the amounts so actually expended, thereby proving that the Legislatures which first permitted railroads to be built intended by legislative enactment to prevent the public from being taxed for the use of such roads beyond an amount sufficient to pay the necessary operating expenses of such roads, and a fair and liberal return on the moneys actually expended on them for the public welfare; and

Whereas, The people of this State paid, during the last year, to the different railroad companies doing business in the State, nearly seventy million dollars, for having their persons and property transported over the roads represented by said companies; and

Whereas, Nearly five million dollars of this vast sum was appropriated by the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company to pay interest or dividends on the bonds, stock or scrip of said company, which bonds, stock or scrip represent an excess over all amounts ever levied on or paid into the treasury of said company by the stock and bondholders of said company; and

Whereas, This and similar burdens have become oppressive on the people of this State, and to be relieved from which they have repeatedly and in great numbers petitioned their representatives; and

Whereas, The result of watering railroad stocks and bonds, and taxing commerce and travel to pay interest or dividends on such water has been to drive wealth and population from this State, to destroy milling and manufacturing enterprises, to reduce the amount of agricultural productions, and to threaten the commercial supremacy of the metropolis of this State, and generally to make railroads a source of oppression rather than a blessing to its people; therefore

Resolved, That the Attorney-General of this State be requested to furnish this body with his legal opinion whether or not railroad companies, organized under the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this State, and having the right of eminent domain, or to take private property for public use, can levy rates or tolls on the public requiring the use of the roads such companies represent beyond an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of operating such roads and a fair and just return on their actual cost.

Resolved, That the Attorney-General be also requested to furnish his opinion whether or not any act of the Legislature can be held as constitutional and binding which permits railroad companies, organized for public use, to increase their capital stock or dividend paying indebtedness, and impose burdens on the public to pay interest or dividends on such increase, when such increase is based on the surplus earnings of such railroads, or when such increase represents an increased value of private property appropriated by such company for a public use.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said resolutions, and it was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Knapp,

Resolved, That Assembly bill No. 57, entitled "An act to amend an act to authorize the drainage of marsh lands," be recommitted to the committee on internal affairs, retaining its place on general orders.

Resolved, That the keeper of the capitol be, and he is hereby instructed to discontinue the fires in the furnaces, by which the Assembly chamber is heated; and if artificial heat in the future shall become necessary, then to make wood fires in the fire places on each side of the chamber; in addition thereto, if needed, to place a stove on the floor in front of the Clerk's desk.

(See Doc. No. 83.)

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber and presented a communication from the Governor in the words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, March 6, 1872.

To the Assembly:

I return, without my approval, Assembly bill No. 114, entitled "An act authorizing the election of a board of auditors for the town of Lenox, Madison county, and empowering other towns to avail themselves of the provisions of this act."

The bill proposes to create, in the town of Lenox only, a board of three persons, in addition to the regular town officers now provided by the general law; to abolish, in this one town only, the board of town auditors, which, by the general Statute, consists, in all towns, of the supervisors, the justice of the peace, and the town clerk; and to devolve all its powers and duties upon the new board of officers thus created. This special board is to be elected in the same manner and by the same constituency as are the members of the present auditing board, to wit, by the people at their annual town meeting. It is manifest that the Legislature did not deem this change in the powers and duties of town officers, and in the number of them, necessary or expedient in our town governments generally; otherwise it would have made the bill a general one, applicable to all the towns in the State. It is the general judgment of those conversant with such matters, so far as I can gather it, that this duty of auditing town accounts is, as a rule, performed by the supervisors, justices and town clerks of the several towns, as rigidly and faithfully as any public duty in the State. This bill must have been passed with reference to some temporary abuse of power, supposed or real, in this one town. Against such abuses, the people have in their own hands an effectual remedy now, by choosing fresh men to office. The board of town officers consists of the supervisor, the four justices of the peace and the town clerk, six in all; at every town meeting the people can put out of office the supervisor, the town clerk and one justice of the peace, being one-half of the board. There are a few instances in which towns are authorized to have more than four justices of the peace; but Lenox does not appear to be one of these. All unfaithful members of the board of town auditors can be dismissed by the people at every town meeting, except those among the justices of the peace whose term of office may not terminate with the current year. If the local abuses, supposed or real, which this bill seeks to remedy, lie in improper auditing, by this last named class of officers, of their own bills, a remedy is provided in chapter 274 of the Laws of 1871, which authorizes any tax-payer to appeal from the board of town auditors to the board of supervisors of the county, in respect to the audit of any bill of a justice of the peace. It seems to me, therefore, that the special legislation proposed by this bill, making an alteration in the form of government of this one town, which the Legislature is, obviously, unwilling should be made in the other towns of the State, is unnecessary and unwise.

One section of the bill authorizes the electors of any town in this State to make the proposed law applicable to their own town, by a vote at town meeting. This provision appears to me to be unconstitutional under the decision of the court of appeals, in the case of Barto against Himrod, 8 New York Reports, page 483, even if this were not so, the adoption of the provisions of the bill by some towns, and not by others, would create a diversity in the forms of town governments which is not desirable. It is the interest of the people that there should be uniformity in the town governments, to the end that the rights and duties of the people and of their officers may be readily and clearly understood from the general statute. The bill is special legislation, establishing a special form of government in one town, and is objectionable, in my judgment, for that reason. I feel confident the Legislature will, on reconsideration, take the same view of it.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

On motion of Mr. Hyatt, said message was laid on the table.

Mr. Fields offered for the consideration of the House the following privileged resolution:

Mr. Husted, from the committee on rules, reported a new rule, as follows :

Rule 70. It shall be the duty of the stenographer of the Assembly to be present at every session of the House. He shall take stenographic notes of the debates in the House, and in committee of the whole, and shall furnish a copy of the same, written out in long hand, to any member applying therefor, upon the payment to said stenographer of ten cents for each folio ; which charge said stenographer may receive in addition to his fixed compensation. The stenographic notes of the debates shall be filed with the clerk, and shall form a portion of the archives of the House. The Clerk of the Assembly is authorized to furnish said stenographer with proper stenographic blank books in which to record said debates, not to exceed fifty dollars for any annual session of the Legislature.

By order of the committee.

JAMES W. HUSTED, Chairman.

Mr. I. D. Brown moved to amend said rule by striking out all after the words "committee of the whole."

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the negative.

Mr. Speaker then put the question whether the House would agree to the adoption of the rule as reported, and it was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. Tobey rose to a question of privilege, and addressed the House thereon as follows :

Mr. SPEAKER.—I notice in the New York World of March 1st and 2d, certain articles reflecting on the motives of the Speaker of this House in connection with certain resolutions calling upon the Superintendent of the Insurance Department for information in relation to the examination made by him into the affairs of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. In the course of the investigation into the affairs of the Insurance Department by the sub-committee, of which I am chairman, it appeared in evidence that that company had been examined by the Superintendent, for which he was paid what was claimed to be a very large bill for his expenses. It was for the purpose of ascertaining what was done by the superintendent, for which he received so large an amount, that I drew the first resolution.

I had no opportunity to offer it myself, as I was about leaving for New York, and therefore passed it over to the chairman of the standing committee on insurance to introduce as soon as it was in order. I did it on consultation with several members of the House—without any desire or thought that it would in any way affect the company—but with the sole desire to obtain all the information we could on the subject we were investigating. When the reply of the superintendent was communicated to the House, I did not think it a compliance with the resolution, and I drew the second resolution after consultation with a distinguished member of the House, not the Speaker, and the ideas contained in that resolution are, to a certain extent, his and not mine. That resolution was also drawn by me, and not by the Speaker, although I think I conversed with him as I did with other members of the House about the subject matter of the resolutions.

I certainly had no feeling against the Mutual Life, and never heard any expressed by either the Speaker or any other member of the House, and never heard any suggestion or intimation that it could in any way injuriously affect the company.

Mr. Alvord rose to a question of privilege, and addressed the House thereon as follows:

He saw that his name was also connected with this matter, and it had been charged that he had stood between the Speaker and certain members on this floor. This was an error. In any course he had taken with reference to the resolution calling upon the Superintendent of the Insurance Department for information, the Speaker was in no way responsible for it. He never had any conversation or understanding with the Speaker on the subject. The gentleman from Essex (Mr. Tobey) spoke to him on the subject of the wording of the second resolution to the insurance superintendent. His suggestion was that the superintendent had not complied with the request made by the House, and that if he had reflected a little more, would not have sent in the answer he did. He (Alvord) suggested to make the resolution a little sharper, so as to let the superintendent understand that he had acted hastily, and that the House did not regard his reply as comporting with its dignity. He repeated that he had no understanding with the Speaker, and his course towards Mr. Husted was not from any previously designed purpose or plan.

Mr. Husted then rose to a question of privilege and addressed the House thereon as follows:

He knew nothing of the matters to which reference had been made before their occurrence. His object in the discussion to which reference had been made was to protect the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company, in which he was a policy-holder. He did not want that company injured in consequence of injudicious proceedings in this House. That was his object, and his only object.

Mr. Speaker then rose to a question of privilege, and addressed the House thereon, as follows:

I regret that circumstances render it necessary for me to speak to a question of privilege. The gentleman who enjoys the privileges of this floor as a reporter of the New York World, has thought proper to write and publish in that paper that I had, as a lawyer, had a suit against the New York Life Insurance Company, had been defeated in the suit, had threatened to Mr. Lucius Robinson who, he says, was counsel in the suit for the company, that I would have revenge, and that I had resorted to the proceeding referred to by the gentlemen who have just spoken, had written or caused to be written the resolutions mentioned, and had managed to procure the result mentioned to gratify private feelings.

Of all this it is only true that I tried a cause against this company, and my client was unsuccessful. I was only counsel in the cause; I never had seen my client till she went on the witness stand; I had no personal interest or feeling in the cause; I had no reason to complain of the company's depending on the manner in which its counsel conducted their case; I had no reason to doubt, as no one ever has in any case that he decides, that the learned judge who decided this cause pronounced an honest decision; I did not and had no reason to take offense at any one on that trial; I only regretted that my client did not have a better case.

I don't think I had thought of this case from the time I left the City Hall, where it was tried, until I saw this charge in the World. I had nothing whatever to do with the resolutions mentioned, unless Mr. Tobey casually spoke to me as to his intention to make a motion to compel the superintendent to answer his first resolution. I did not write them or either of them, nor suggest them.

Mr. Tobey asked me if his second resolution was privileged, and lest I might make a mistake upon the point I did not advise him until I had had a chance to avail myself of those who had had greater experience in parliamentary matters than I had.

I would not have alluded to this matter if I had not been charged to have been guilty of a dishonorable act as a member of this House, and in a matter so grossly untrue as to have the appearance to have been prompted by the malice of the writer or some one prompting him.

I have not seen Mr. Lucius Robinson, who is mentioned, in a year. He was not counsel in the case mentioned. I could not have made any such threat to him as is alleged. I regret that gentlemen can be found who are so ready to assail the character of others, and hope that more care will be exercised in limiting statements to the truth. No interest can be substantially subserved by falsehood.

I have no ambition but to discharge the duties of this place with fidelity, doing justice to all, and with due regard to the rights of all in this House and out of it. I trust we shall all be actuated by this purpose, and that when we are criticised those who undertake it will limit their statements to the truth.

Mr. Alvord called from the table the report of the committee on ways and means relative to the charges against Hon. James W. Husted, in the words following:

Report and testimony in the matter of the investigation into the charges against the Hon. James W. Husted, of the Assembly, of fraudulent practices in connection with the sale of gravel to the city of New York, and concerning his action as a member of the Legislature of 1870, connected therewith.

To the Honorable the Assembly:

The committee on ways and means, to whom was referred, for investigation, the charges against the Hon. James W. Husted, of the Assembly, wherein it is alleged that he has been guilty of fraudulent practices in connection with the sale of gravel to the city of New York, and that his action as a member of the Legislature of 1870, was controlled by a corrupt bargain at that time entered into by him in connection therewith, beg leave at this time to respectfully report:

That they entered upon the discharge of their duties, in the city of New York, where, or near where, all the witnesses reside, on Friday, the 23d day of February instant, and devoted two days to the investigation, giving all parties interested therein full opportunity to be heard, and to call and examine such witnesses as they might desire.

Upon a thorough, careful and searching examination into the facts of the case, your committee found that the statements heretofore made on the floor of this House on two separate occasions by the Hon. Mr. Husted, touching these charges, were fully and completely borne out by the testimony.

Messrs. Andrew H. Green, Stebbins and Hilton, commissioners of the department of parks, Mr. Van Nort, late comptroller, and Mr. Barker, purchasing clerk thereof, were each examined at great length in all matters pertaining to the purchase of gravel for the parks and boulevards of New York.

We find that all gravel used upon the parks and boulevards in New York has always been bought in the open market, in as small quantities as their necessities would allow, and that under every administration of the public parks there has been unceasing efforts, on the part of the managers thereof, to find and purchase gravel of a suitable quality, at the lowest possible price; that in the case of Mr. Husted, who was in possession of a bed of gravel of a desirable and superior quality, he has from time to time received and filled orders for the same, at a price fixed by the commissioners, or agreed upon by the parties at the time of the sale and delivery of each parcel; that the transactions were in no regard in the nature of a pre-existing contract for the exclusive control for the delivery of gravel at a price fixed and unalterable by the terms of the contract, but were, in all respects, an ordinary and business operation, in which no collusion or corrupt practice or bargain had been entered into, between any of the city or park officials and Mr. Husted.

Mr. Ryder, the gentleman upon whose letter, published in the New York Times of the thirty-first of January last, and the comments of the press thereupon, Mr. Husted founded his demand for this investigation, testified positively to a want of any knowledge of any such fraudulent practices, or of any influence growing out of the business transaction of Mr. Husted with the commissioners of parks, that in any way affected his action as a legislator at any time.

Mr. Ryder was anxious and persistent in requiring of the committee an examination into the personal and private difficulties between himself and Mr. Husted; but the committee decided that personal and private grievances, and difficulties growing out of business transactions between individuals, were in no sense a part of the legitimate duty of the Legislature to investigate and examine.

Your committee therefore report that Mr. Husted stands entirely acquitted of any fraudulent practices in connection with the sale of gravel to the city of New York or the department of parks; and that his action as a member of the Legislature was not, in the opinion of your committee, from the evidence, in any manner in the slightest degree controlled or affected by any corrupt or other bargain connected therewith, at that or any other time entered into by him.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

By order of the committee.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
ALBANY, March 14, 1872. }

To the Assembly:

I return, without approval, Assembly bill, not printed, entitled "An act to authorize the trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Northville to convey real estate."

The bill provides for the sale of the present parsonage house and for the investment of the proceeds in a house and lot adjoining the church.

The laws of the State, long ago, referred such matters to the courts of justice. By the Revised Statutes the supreme court is authorized to make an order for the sale of real estate belonging to a religious corporation and directing the application of the moneys arising from the sale to such uses as the court may deem for the interest of the society.

The wisdom of this provision in our laws has never been doubted. The merits of applications of this kind and the propriety of the proposed use of any money arising from sales of the corporation property can be best ascertained by inquiries under the rules of a court of justice. If the Legislature, in any one case, overlooks the established policy of the State in this respect, it will encourage frequent and unnecessary demands upon its time for the discharge of a duty which properly pertains to the judiciary.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Mr. Bemus moved that said message be laid on the table.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the negative.

Mr. Speaker put the question, "Shall this bill be passed notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?" and it was determined in the negative, two-thirds of all the members present not voting in favor thereof.

Ordered, That the Clerk deliver said bill to the Senate, with a message informing of concurrence in their amendments.

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber and presented a communication from the Governor, in the words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, March 20, 1872. }

To the Assembly:

I return, without approval, Assembly bill No. 37, entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Port Chester Savings Bank, passed March 14, 1865."

The bill provides that it shall be lawful for the bank to invest twenty per cent of its assets in county, town or village bonds, and also to lend ten per cent of its assets upon the pledge of town or village bonds, so that, in all, thirty per cent of its total assets may be in the class of securities above described. The general town bonding law has a provision in it allowing savings banks to invest ten per cent of their deposits in bonds issued to further the building of railroads; which was a general act applying to all the savings banks in the State.

It may be presumed that, on the passage of that act, applying, as it does, to all the savings banks of the State, the Legislature gave to the question involved in the present bill more careful consideration than would be likely to be bestowed upon it when presented, as now, in a case in which the interest of one bank only is involved.

The Legislature cannot be too careful in providing, by proper restrictions, for the safety of the money deposited with this class of institutions. They are created for the benefit of those who have no direct interest in speculative enterprises, and whose accumulations are savings from the wages received for labor. They should be managed exclusively with reference to the interests of that portion of our population who live by the wages of labor, and other persons of small means, and, to that end, the assets of savings banks should always consist of investments of the highest ultimate security, and of such as are least likely to fluctuate in value. It is also important that a large portion of their assets should be of such a nature that, at any time, or under any circumstances, they can be sold readily in the public market. While the bonds of towns and villages may be perfectly safe as a permanent investment, they are not of that class of securities which are daily bought and sold in our large markets, and cannot, therefore, be counted upon to be converted into money promptly, at a time of difficulty or of unusual demand upon the savings banks from their depositors. I have submitted the bill to the Superintendent of the Banking Department, who thinks it not advisable that the limitation now imposed upon the savings banks generally, restricting their investments in town bonds to ten per cent of their assets, should be enlarged, and I concur in his views.

The bill would be objectionable, in my judgment, if it applied to all savings banks; and is also objectionable because it specially exempts this one bank from the restrictions which have been by law imposed on all of these institutions.

Occurrences within the past year have shown that our laws cannot be made too rigid in restraining savings banks from investing the money of their depositors in any but the very best class of securities.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

On motion of Mr. Badeau, said message was laid upon the table.

"An act to incorporate the Importers' and Grocers' Board of Trade of the city of New York."

Ordered, That the Clerk deliver said bills to the Governor.

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber and presented a communication from the Governor in the words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, March 28, 1872. }

To the Assembly:

I return, without approval, Assembly bill No. 77, entitled "An act in relation to non-resident highway taxes upon certain lands in the counties of Hamilton and Warren."

The bill provides that the county treasurers of Hamilton and Warren counties shall pay over to the Comptroller the amount of any highway taxes assessed upon townships Nos. 3, 9, 10, 11 and 29, in Totten and Crossfield's purchase in the counties of Hamilton and Warren, which townships are by the bill made a road district, and that the Comptroller shall pay such moneys over to certain commissioners named in the bill, to be expended upon the road from Washington Craig's, in the town of Wells, Hamilton county, to Rollin Russell's, in the town of Johnsburgh, Warren county.

Township No. 3 is distant more than five miles from the town of Wells, taking a direct line from the points in each nearest to each other. The road begins at some point in the town of Wells and runs continually farther and farther from township No. 3. There can be no propriety in the taxes assessed on this township being applied to the proposed road. Moreover, the eastern portion of township No. 9, the whole of township No. 10, and part of 29 are already subject to an assignment of their non-resident highway taxes to the purposes of a special road by the provisions of chapter 507 of the Laws of 1867. The repealing clause in this bill will not serve to avoid complication.

The commissioners are required by the bill to account to the Comptroller, and yet to give bonds to the county treasurer of Hamilton county. Vacancies occurring among them are to be filled by the county treasurer of Hamilton county. It seems to me proper that the vacancies should be filled by the Comptroller, as is provided in similar acts on the statute book.

The special laws so often passed in relation to roads in this region of our State are becoming complicated, and it is very difficult, with the changes that are from time to time made in enlarging or diminishing the area, the taxes of which are to be applied to special road purposes and in partially repealing the provisions of one act by some subsequent law, for the Comptroller to administer them. This class of legislation should not be encouraged; but the roads should be left to be worked out as best they may under general laws and under the regular authorities.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

On motion of Mr. Rose, said message was laid upon the table.

Mr. Speaker presented the annual report of the Eclectic Medical Society; which was laid on the table and ordered printed.

(See Doc. No. 120.)

Mr. Lincoln moved that the vote on the final passage of the bill entitled "An act to amend chapter 195 of the Laws of 1846, entitled 'An act to authorize the New York and New Haven Railroad Company, to extend their railroad from the Connecticut line to the New York and Harlem railroad,' passed May 11, 1846," be reconsidered, and that that motion be laid on the table.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion to lay on the table, and it was determined in the negative.

Mr. Speaker then put the question whether the House would agree to said motion to reconsider, and it was determined in the negative.

In addition to these departments, there shall also be an officer to be called the "superintendent of public markets," who shall be appointed by the mayor, and be removable by him for cause. He shall receive an annual salary of $2,500. He shall have all the powers now vested by law in the existing superintendent of public markets, subject to the ordinances of the common council, except the power to collect the income arising from public markets, which power is hereby vested in the department of finance.

§ 29. In every department there shall be kept a record of all transactions, to be accessible to the public from three to five o'clock each day; and at the end of each day a brief abstract, omitting formal language, shall be made of all transactions and of all contracts awarded and entered into for work and material of every description, which abstract shall contain the name or names of the party or parties to the contract, a copy of which abstract shall be transmitted to the clerk of the board of aldermen for insertion in the city journal.

In case of any vacancy in the board by the resignation, removal, death or otherwise, of any commissioner elected by the board of aldermen, those members of the board, by whose vote such commissioner was chosen, acting by a majority of their number, shall proceed to fill such vacancy. § 33. Whenever the words "chief engineer of the Croton aqueduct board," or "president of the Croton aqueduct board," or "street commissioner," or "department of docks," occur in any existing law, ordinance, resolution, contract or document, they shall be deemed to mean the aforesaid commissioners of public works, and whenever in any law or in any ordinance or obligation of the corporation, the words "street department," or "Croton aqueduct board," or "department of docks" occur, they shall be deemed to mean the "department of public works, and the commissioners thereof.

§ 62. They shall be appointed and elected, respectively, in the maner hereinbefore provided and prescribed for the appointment and election of commissioners of public works, and be subject to removal in like manner. All the provisions of sections thirty-one and thirty-two of this act, as to election, appointment and removal, shall be applicable to the commissioners of public charities and correction. Said board shall possess all the powers, and discharge all the duties now conferred upon the department of public charities and correction by special laws, and by the provisions of chapter five hundred and ten of the laws of eighteen hundred and sixty, and acts and part of acts amendatory thereto, except the power to incur indebtedness and to raise and expend money, and except as the same are modified or repealed by the provisions of this act.

§ 63. There shall be two bureaux in this department, a bureau of charities and a bureau of correction. The commissioners shall appoint a superintendent for each bureau, who shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars. The bureau of charities shall have especial charge of all institutions, the inmates of which have not been committed for any offense against the laws. The bureau of correction shall have charge of all other institutions; and the two just designated classes of persons under the charge of the commissioners shall be, as far as practicable, separated. The commissioners shall invite all incorporated charitable or benevolent societies, not denominational or sectarian, including hospitals, to file with the bureau of charities a statement of the objects for which said societies were established, the class of persons to whom they extend relief, and the mode of relief adopted; also to report, from time to time, the means at their disposal and the sources whence derived, the names of persons relieved, and the amount of relief extended to them, and, in the case of hospitals or asylums; what number of additional inmates they can receive, and such other details as the commissioners may deem advisable. If, upon a report of this department, such aid in support of, or the maintenance of such eleemosynary institution or charity, shall be extended by the common council and accepted by such institution or charity, said commissioners shall thereupon be a board of visitors of said institution or charity, with power to send to such institution or charity for treatment or care, free of charge to the city, such cases as, in the discretion of the said commissioners, can be better treated therein than in the public charities of the city, not, however, involving any expenditure to the said institution beyond the amount of aid received by it from the city. If such aid shall consist of a periodical allowance of money or loan of credit, said powers of said commissioners shall continue during such period. If such aid shall consist of a donation of property of the city, then such powers of said commissioners shall be perpetual. Provided that no public money, property or credit shall be appropriated to any institution that is under the management or control of any sectarian or religious denomination.

§ 65. The commissioner appointed by the mayor shall be chairman of the board. The commissioners of charities and correction shall be entitled to seats in the board of aldermen, and shall have a right to participate in the discussions of said board affecting or relating to said department and its affairs, but shall not have the right to vote upon any resolution or ordinance.

ARTICLE IX. — THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE.

§ 66. Until the fifteenth day of May, 1874, unless removed for cause by the mayor, the department of finance shall be under the charge of the comptroller of the city and county of New York now in office, who shall have all the powers and be subject to all the duties of the board of finance, the comptroller and the commissioner of the treasury as in this act provided, except the powers and duties of tax commissioners. From and after the fifteen day of May 1874, said department shall be under the charge of the comptroller of the city and county of New York, and of four commissioners who together shall constitute a board of finance and shall be chosen as hereinafter provided.

§ 67. The comptroller shall be appointed by the mayor, and shall be removable at his pleasure. The comptroller may appoint, and at his pleasure remove, a deputy comptroller, who shall be appointed in the manner and be vested with the powers now described by law, and shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars. The four commissioners of the treasury shall be elected by the board of aldermen in the manner hereinbefore provided and prescribed for the election of commissioners of public works, and shall be subject to removal in like manner. All the provisions of sections thirty-one and thirty-two of this act, as to appointments, elections and removals, shall be applicable to the said five chief officers of this department respectively; but no comptroller shall be appointed as in this section provided before the first day of May, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, and the commissioners of the treasury elected in the years eighteen hundred and seventy-two and eighteen hundred and seventy-three shall have no powers under this act, except the powers of tax commissioners and the powers conferred upon them by section seventy-five of this act, and any vacancy in the office of comptroller occurring before the first day of May, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, shall be filled for the unexpired term by appointment from the mayor to be confirmed by the board of aldermen.

§ 68. The comptroller shall be the president of the department, and shall receive an annual salary of ten thousand dollars. He shall have the sole and exclusive power of appointing and removing all heads of bureaux, subordinate officers and clerks in the department, except as by this article otherwise expressly provided.

§ 69. The department of finance shall have control of all the fiscal concerns of the corporation, and the money appropriated for carrying on the business of the corporation. It shall prescribe the forms of keeping and rendering all city accounts, and the manner in which all salaries shall be drawn, and the mode by which all creditors, officers, and employes of the corporation shall be paid. All payments by or on behalf of the corporation shall be made through the proper disbursing officers of the department of finance, by means of warrants drawn on the treasury, by the comptroller, and countersigned by the mayor, as provided by section seventy-two of this act. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to limit or in any manner affect the powers conferred upon the chamberlain by section seventy-two of this act. The comptroller shall countersign all checks legally and properly drawn by the chamberlain.

§ 70. All accounts rendered to or kept in the other departments shall be subject to the inspection and revision of the officers of this department; and it shall settle and adjust all claims in favor of or against the corporation, and all accounts in which the corporation is concerned as debtor or creditor (provided, however, that such settlement and adjustment shall not have the effect of a judgment or decree). Any member of the board of finance may require any person presenting for settlement an account or claim against the corporation to be sworn before him touching such account or claim, and when so sworn to answer orally as to any facts relative to the justness of such account or claim.

§ 71. There shall be the following bureaux in this department:

1. An auditing bureau, for auditing, revising and settling all accounts in which the city is concerned as debtor or creditor, and which shall keep an account of each claim for or against the corporation, and of the sums allowed upon each, and certify the same to the comptroller, with the reasons for the allowance; the chief officer of which shall be called "auditor of accounts," who shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars.

2. A bureau for receiving of all moneys paid into the treasury of the city, and for all payments therefrom on warrants drawn, according to law, by the comptroller and countersigned by the mayor; the chief officer of which shall be called the chamberlain. Any commission or percentage allowed to or received by the chamberlain as such, or as county treasurer, for collecting and paying State tax or any other money, or otherwise, shall be paid to the commissioners of the sinking fund.

3. Such other bureau or bureaux as the department of finance, by a vote of four of its members, of whom the comptroller must be one, may establish.

4. A bureau for the collection of the revenue accruing from rents including therefrom wharves, piers and slips, and interest on bonds and mortgages, and the revenue arising from the use or sale of property belonging to or managed by the city, the head of which bureau shall be called "the collector of city revenue," and shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars.

5. A bureau for the collection of taxes and assessments, the head of which shall be called "the receiver of taxes and assessments," and shall receive an annual salary of six thousand dollars, and shall have all the powers and perform all the duties now prescribed by law for the receiver of taxes and also for the collector of assessments. The duties and powers now imposed upon and vested in the department of public works in regard to the collection of assessments are hereby imposed upon and vested in the department of finance.

6. A bureau for the collection of revenue derived from the sale and use of water, the chief officer of which shall be called "the collector of water rents," and shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars and shall have all the powers, and perform all the duties of the water register under existing laws. The duties and powers now imposed upon and vested in the department of public works in regard to the collection of revenue derived from the sale and use of water are hereby imposed upon and vested in the department of finance.

7. A bureau for the collection of arrears of taxes, assessments and water rents, the head of which shall be called "the collector of arrears," and shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars.

8. A bureau for the collection of revenue derived from licenses and rents for public markets, the head of which shall be called "the collector of licenses and market rents," and shall receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars. The collector of city revenue, the receiver of taxes and assessments, the collector of water rents, the collector of arrears, and the collector of licenses and market rents, shall pay over to the chamberlain all moneys received by them on the day of the receipt thereof, or on the business day next succeeding.

§ 72. The chamberlain shall be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the board of aldermen, and shall hold his office for one year. He may be suspended or removed by the mayor for cause. He shall, within ten days after receiving notice of his appointment and confirmation, and before he enters upon the execution of his office, give a bond to the city in the sum of one million dollars, with not less than four sufficient sureties, to be approved of by the mayor, conditioned that he will faithfully execute the duties of his office. Such bond shall be deemed to extend to the faithful execution of the duties of the office until a new appointment shall be made, and a new bond given and approved under such new appointment. Said chamberlain shall exhibit to the common council, at its first meeting in the month succeeding that in which he enters upon the execution of his office, an exact statement of the balance in the treasury to the credit of the city, with a summary of the receipts and payments of the treasury during the preceding year, and since the last preceding report required by law, if more than a year shall have elapsed since such report. He shall receive all moneys which shall from time to time be paid into the treasury of the city. He shall deposit all moneys which shall come into his hands on account of the city, on the day of the receipt thereof, or on the business day next succeeding, in such banks and trust companies as shall have been designated as deposit banks, not exceeding two millions of dollars in any one bank or trust company. The moneys so deposited shall be placed to the account of the chamberlain, and he shall keep a bank book, in which shall be entered his account of deposits in and moneys drawn from the banks and trust companies in which the deposits shall be made. The said banks and trust companies shall respectively transmit to the comptroller weekly statements of the moneys which shall be received and paid by them on account of the city treasury. The chamberlain shall pay all warrants drawn on the treasury by the comptroller and countersigned by the mayor, and no moneys shall be paid out of the treasury except on the warrant of the comptroller so countersigned. No such warrant shall be signed by the comptroller or countersigned by the mayor except upon vouchers for the expenditure of the amount named therein, examined and allowed by the auditor, approved by the comptroller, and filed in the office of the department of finance, nor except such warrant shall be authorized by law or ordinance, and shall refer to the law or ordinance under which it is drawn. The chamberlain shall not draw any moneys from said banks or trust companies, unless by checks subscribed by him as chamberlain, and countersigned by the comptroller; and no moneys shall be paid by either of the said banks or trust companies on account of the treasury except upon such checks. The chamberlain shall exhibit his bank book to the comptroller on the first Tuesday of every month, and oftener when required. The accounts of the city treasury shall be annually closed, on the last day of November, and shall be examined in the month of December in said year by a committee of not less than three nor more than five persons, to be appointed by concurrent resolution of the common council. Such committee shall examine the accounts and vouchers of all moneys received into and paid out by the city treasury during the year ending on the last day of November preceding such examination, and shall certify and report to the mayor and the common council in the following month of January the amount of moneys received into the treasury during such year, the amount of moneys paid out during the same period by virtue of warrants drawn on the treasury by the comptroller, the amount of moneys received by the chamberlain who shall be in office at the time of such examination when he entered upon the execution of the duties of his office, the balance in the treasury on the last day of November preceding such examination, the amount of moneys borrowed for or on the credit of the city during such year, and the amount of bonds of the city issued during such year, with the purposes for which and the authority under which such bonds were issued. Such committee shall also compare the warrants drawn by the comptroller on the treasury during the year ending on the last day of November preceding such examination, with the several laws and ordinances under which the same shall purport to have been drawn, and shall in like manner certify and report whether the comptroller had power to draw such warrants; and if any shall be found which, in their opinion, he had no power to draw, they shall specify the same in their report with their reasons for such opinion. The major part of the members of the said committee may perform all the duties required of such committee. Each member of said committee shall receive a compensation of ten dollars for every day during which he shall be employed in the actual execution of the duties enjoined in the foregoing sections, to be paid out of the city treasury. The said chamberlain shall, by written notice to the comptroller, designate the banks or trust companies in which all the moneys of the mayor, aldermen and commonalty of said city and of the county of New York shall be deposited, and may by like notice in writing from time to time change the banks or trust companies thus designated. The said chamberlain shall keep books showing the receipts of moneys from all sources and designating the sources of the same, and also showing the amounts paid from time to time on account of the several appropriations; and no warrant shall be paid on account of any appropriation after the amount authorized to be raised by tax for that specific purpose shall have been expended. The said chamberlain shall once in each week report in writing to the mayor and to the comptroller all moneys received by him, the amounts of all warrants paid by him since his last report, and the amount remaining to the credit of the city and of the county of New York, respectively. The said chamberlain shall receive the sum of twenty thousand dollars annually, and no more, for all his services as chamberlain of said city, and as county treasurer of the county of New York, in lieu of salary, and of all interest, fees, commissions and emoluments. He may appoint and remove at pleasure a deputy chamberlain, and such clerks and assistants as may be necessary, whose salaries, together with all the expenses of his office, shall be paid wholly by him, and shall in no case be a public charge.

§ 73. Full statements of the receipts and expenditures of all the departments, giving names, dates, amounts and objects of expenditure, shall be made on the third Monday of each month, by each department, to the department of finance. The comptroller, or any one of said commissioners of the department of finance, shall have power at any time to inspect, examine or copy any vouchers, records or papers in any of said departments. From the statements so returned, and other information, the department shall publish monthly, in the city journal, a detailed statement of all the receipts and expenditures of the city and county during the preceding month. No bond, certificate of stock, or evidence of public debt to be issued by the city after May 14, 1874, shall be valid unless signed by the mayor and comptroller.

§ 74. Between the first and fifteenth days of May, 1872, three tax commissioners shall be appointed in the manner prescribed in section 79 of this act who shall hold office till May fifteenth, 1874, and shall each receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars. Vacancies in their offices shall be filled as prescribed in said section seventy-nine. From and after May fifteen, 1874, the four commissioners of the treasury provided for in this act shall be tax commissioners. All such tax commissioners shall perform all the duties and possess all the powers heretofore performed and possessed by the commissioners of taxes, under existing laws, and shall each receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars in full for all services. They shall keep duplicate books, one set of which shall be open and accessible at all times to all tax-paying citizens; and said commissioners shall appoint and remove all clerks and subordinates which they may need in performing their duties as commissioners of taxes.

§ 75. On or before the first day of July in each and every year, after the year 1873, the comptroller and the said four commissioners of the treasury shall and are hereby directed, in lieu of any existing authority in relation thereto, to make and agree upon an estimate of the various sums of money which, in their discretion, will be required to defray all the various expenses necessary for conducting the various boards and departments, whether legislative, executive or administrative or judicial, of the city government, which estimate shall be founded upon reports obtained from said departments, and also for paying the interest on the city debt and the principal of such debt falling due; which amounts, when so established by said comptroller and commissioners of the treasury, shall be certified by them in detail to the board of aldermen, to be by them accepted or modified, but not increased, and certified to the board of supervisors of the county of New York as the aggregate expenses of the city; and said board of supervisors are hereby empowered and directed annually to cause the said amount of money estimated, certified and modified as aforesaid, to be, according to law, raised and collected by tax upon the estates, real and personal, subject to taxation within the said city and county of New York.

§ 76. The comptroller shall be the chairman of the board. The comptroller and the commissioners of the treasury shall be entitled to seats in the board of aldermen, and shall have the right to participate in the discussions of said board, affecting or relating to said department and its affairs, but shall not have the right to vote upon any resolution or ordinance.

ARTICLE X.—THE SINKING FUND COMMISSION.

§ 77. There shall continue to be, as now provided and recognized by special laws and ordinances, a board of commissioners of the sinking fund, composed of the mayor, comptroller, chamberlain, commissioners of the treasury, first judge of the court of common pleas in and for the city and county of New York, and chief justice of the superior court of the city of New York, with all the powers assigned, designated and ratified by existing laws and ordinances, saving and excepting, however, out of said powers, any and all authority now vested in the commissioners of the sinking fund, to authorize the expenditure of money by other departments, and to incur or authorize the incurring of indebtedness.

§ 78. Said commissioners of the sinking fund shall cause all bonds and other evidences of indebtedness belonging to them to be stamped upon the face thereof as belonging to said sinking fund.

ARTICLE XI.—OF THE LAW DEPARTMENT.

§ 79. The chief officer of the law department shall be called the corporation counsel, and shall receive an annual salary of ten thousand dollars. He shall be a member of the bar of this State, who shall have resided or had an office in the city of New York at least five years consecutively immediately prior to the time of his appointment, and shall be appointed by the mayor, the comptroller, and the first judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, or a majority of them, between the first and fifteenth days of May in each year, and shall hold office until his successor shall be appointed. The mayor may remove him at pleasure, and the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the persons above provided.

§ 80. The said corporation counsel shall act as the legal adviser of all the departments; and no attorney or counsel shall receive any compensation for any services rendered to any department unless he shall have been employed by or with the assent of the corporation counsel, except as hereinafter provided. Said department shall semi-annually report to the board of aldermen the condition of all suits pending, the names of all attorneys and counsel employed, the fees paid to attorneys and counsel, all receipts of the office, and all other matters pertaining to the business of said department.

§ 81. There shall be a bureau in this department, the chief officer of which shall be called the "corporation attorney;" a bureau, the chief officer of which shall be called the "public administrator," and a bureau, the chief officer of which shall be called the "attorney of street openings and assessments," each of which chief officers shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars.

§ 82. The law department shall have the charge and conduct of all law business of the corporation and of its departments; and the charge and conduct of the legal proceedings necessary in widening, opening, or altering streets, boulevards, avenues, and public places; and shall, whenever applied to by the comptroller, draw the leases, deeds, and other legal papers connected with the finance department.

§ 83. The corporation attorney and the public administrator shall have and exercise the powers, rights, and duties now conferred by law upon the officers so named respectively, subject to the control and supervision of the corporation counsel, so far as such control and supervision are not inconsistent with the laws of the State.

§ 84. The attorney of street openings and assessments shall have and exercise the powers, rights, and duties in relation to street openings and widenings that are now had and exercised by the corporation counsel, and such others as may be by law conferred upon him.

§ 85. The corporation counsel shall be entitled to a seat in the board of aldermen, and shall have the right to participate in the discussions of said board affecting or relating to said department and its affairs, but shall not have the right to vote upon any resolution or ordinance.

ARTICLE XII. — THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

§ 86. There shall be a department of public instruction, at the head of which shall be the board of public instruction, which shall have the same powers and discharge the same duties which are now vested in the department of public instruction by article fifteen, section one hundred, of chapter three hundred and eighty-three of the laws of eighteen hundred and seventy, as amended by chapter five hundred and seventy-four of the laws of eighteen hundred and seventy-one.

§ 87. Said board shall consist of not more than thirty commissioners, who shall be styled "the commissioners of public instruction," and shall constitute the board of public instruction of the city of New York.

§ 88. Said commissioners shall be elected as follows: At the elections provided for by section two of this act, there shall be elected in each Senate district of the city, as now established by law, six commissioners of public instruction. Said election shall be held in the manner hereinbefore prescribed in sections four and five of this act for the election of aldermen, except that the ballots shall be indorsed "commissioners of public instruction." All the provisions of said sections four and five shall apply to said election of commissioners of public instruction, so modified, however, as to provide for the election of six persons only. All ballots containing more than six names shall be rejected. There shall also be elected at the same time in each ward of said city six trustees of common schools for the said wards respectively, who shall be elected in the manner prescribed in sections four and five of this act, except that the ballots shall be indorsed "trustees of common schools," and shall provide for the election of six persons only. Said commissioners and trustees so elected shall take office on the first Monday of May next succeeding their election, and shall hold office for the terms of one, two, three, four, and five years respectively. The commissioners and trustees elected for each Senate district shall respectively designate one of their number, and the five commissioners and five trustees so designated shall meet between the first and fifteenth days of May, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-two, in the office of the mayor and in his presence, and by such method as he shall approve, determine by lot the respective terms of office for one, two, three, four, and five years for which the commissioners and trustees elected in the respective Senate districts and wards respectively shall hold office; and thereafter, at every annual election under this act, there shall be elected six commissioners and six trustees in the manner provided in this section in the Senate district, and wards respectively only for which the term of office of the commissioners and trustees so elected expires, who shall hold office for the period of five years. The members of the board of public instruction shall not receive any compensation for their services.

§ 89. Said board of public instruction shall forthwith, after their organization elect a board of nine trustees, who, together with the president of the "college of the city of New York" ex-officio, shall be trustees for the management of said college of the city of New York, which said nine trustees shall hold office during the pleasure of the board of public instruction. The said nine trustees shall be elected by the board of public instruction in the same manner as the four commissioners of public works, provided by this act, are elected by the board of aldermen, except that each commissioner shall give nine open ballots instead of four, and the votes shall be recorded by the clerk of the board of public instruction, stating the vote of each commissioner, with his name. The nine persons having the largest number of votes shall be elected.

§ 90. The mayor shall immediately, after the first Monday of May, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-two, appoint three inspectors of common schools for each Senate district, who shall hold office at his pleasure.

§ 91. From and after the first Monday of May, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-two, the commissioners of public instruction, trustees, and inspectors of common schools, who shall be elected and appointed respectively under the provisions of this act, shall be vested with, and discharge all the powers and duties which are now vested in, and discharged by, the commissioners of the department of public instruction, trustees, and inspectors of common schools.

§ 92. It shall not be lawful to make any appropriation of public money or property, or to make any loan or lease of city lands, or to loan the credit of the city, directly or indirectly, in aid of any private or sectarian or denominational school that is not under the control and management of the department of public instruction, and subject to the same general laws of the State as the public schools are.

ARTICLE XIII. — GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 93. Every person who shall promise, offer, or give, or cause, or aid, or abet in causing to be promised, offered or given, or furnish or agree to furnish, in whole or in part, to be promised, offered, or given to any alderman, or any officer of the corporation, after his election or appointment, or before or after he shall have qualified and taken his seat, any moneys, goods, right in action, or other property, or any thing of value, or any pecuniary advantage, present or prospective, with intent to influence his vote, opinions, judgment, or action on any question, matter, cause or proceeding which may be then pending, or may by law be brought before him in his official capacity, shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in a penitentiary for a term not exceeding two years, or shall be fined not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the court. Every alderman or officer in this section enumerated, who shall accept any such gift or promise, or undertaking to make the same, under any agreement or understanding that his vote, legal opinion, or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in any question, matter, cause, or proceeding then pending, or which may by law be brought before him in his official capacity, shall, upon conviction, be disqualified forever from holding any public office, trust, or appointment under the city of New York, and shall forfeit his office, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding two years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the court. Every person offending against any of the provisions of this section shall be a competent witness against any other person offending in the same transaction, and may be compelled to appear and give evidence before any grand jury, or in any court, in the same manner as other persons; but if any person shall give testimony in any trial or proceeding under this section, such testimony shall not be used against him in any criminal prosecution whatever, by reason of anything done by him in relation to such transaction.

§ 94. Any citizen claiming to have suffered special damage by any such vote or action of any alderman or officer given for any dishonest or corrupt motive or consideration may bring suit against such alderman or officer, and recover his damages not exceeding one thousand dollars.

§ 95. No alderman, commissioner, head of department, chief of bureau, deputy thereof, or clerk therein, or other officer of the corporation, shall be in his own name or otherwise directly or indirectly interested in any contract, work or business, or the sale of any article, the expense, price, or consideration of which is paid from the city treasury, or by any assessment levied by any act or ordinance of the board of aldermen, nor in the purchase of any real estate or other property belonging to the corporation, or which shall be sold by virtue of legal process at the suit of said corporation. If any of the officers above named shall be so interested at the time of his election or appointment, he shall forfeit his office; and if he shall, during the term for which he was elected or appointed, knowingly acquire an interest in any such contract, work, business, sale or assessment, he shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit his office and be punished as for a misdemeanor. All such contracts or sales shall be forfeited when any alderman or other officer enumerated in this section shall be interested therein. The compensation of all officers, agents, clerks and employes of the city government, shall be by fixed salaries or wages, and no such officer, agent, clerk or employe shall receive any fees, commission, per centage, perquisite, interest, or contingent compensation whatever. No such officer, agent, clerk or employe shall give or promise to give any portion of his compensation to any officer of the city or any other person in consideration of his being appointed, elected or continued such officer, agent, clerk or employe, under the penalty of his being removed and rendered forever disqualified from being elected, appointed or employed in the service of the city government.

§ 96. Any alderman, commissioner, head of department, chief of bureau, deputy thereof or clerk therein, or other officer of the corporation, may if a judge shall so order, be summarily examined upon an order, to be made on application based on an affidavit of any commissioner of the treasury, or any three aldermen, requiring such examination, and signed by any justice of the supreme court of the first judicial district, directing such examination to be publicly made at the chambers of said court, at a day and hour to be named, not less, however, than forty-eight hours after personal service of said order. Such examination shall be confined to an inquiry into any alleged wrongful diversion or misapplication of any moneys or fund, or any violations of the provisions of the last two sections, or any want of mechanical qualification for any inspectorship of public work, or any neglect of duty in acting as such inspector, or any other delinquency charged in said affidavit touching the office or the discharge or neglect of duty, of which it is alleged in the application for said order that such alderman, head of department, or other aforementioned officer has knowledge or information. Such alderman, commissioner, head of department, or other aforesaid officer, shall answer such pertinent questions relative thereto and produce such books and papers in his custody or under his control as the justice shall direct, and the examination may be continued from time to time, as such justice may order, but the answers of the party charged shall not be used against him in any criminal proceeding; provided, however, that for all false answers on material points, he shall be subject to the pains and penalties of the crime of perjury. The proceedings may be continued before any other justice in said district, and other witnesses as well as the parties making such applications, may in the discretion of said justice, be compelled to attend and be examined touching such alleged delinquencies. Such justice may punish any refusal to attend such examination, or to answer any questions pursuant to his order as for a contempt of court, and shall have as full power and authority to enforce obedience to the order or directions of himself or of any other justice as any justice of the supreme court may now have or shall possess, to enforce obedience or to punish contempt in any case or matter whatever. Such examination shall be reduced to writing and be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county of New York, and be at all reasonable times accessible to the public, and notice of the same given to the department in which said officer is employed.

§ 97. Any officer of the city government or person employed in its service, who shall willfully violate or evade any of the provisions of this act, or convert any public property to his own use, or knowingly permit any other person so to convert it, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, in addition to the penalties imposed by law, shall forfeit his office, and be excluded forever after from receiving or holding any office under the city; and any person who shall willfully swear falsely, in any oath or affirmation required by this act, shall be guilty of perjury.

§ 98. No appropriation for the contesting of the office of mayor, or any seat in the common council, or department of public instruction, or the office of any officer whose salary is paid from the city treasury, shall be made to any but the prevailing party. Nor shall such appropriation be made to such prevailing party except upon the written certificate by the chief officer of the law department, as to the value of the services rendered in the case. In the cases provided for under section ninety-six, the law department shall assign counsel to such commissioner of the treasury or alderman making the application; but should such commissioner or alderman see fit to employ other counsel than those assigned by the law department, then in that event no appropriation shall be made by the common council for his or their payment except upon a certificate of the justice or justices before whom the proceedings have been had that there was probable cause for taking such proceedings.

§ 99. Any person holding office, whether by election or appointment, under this charter, who shall, during his term of office, accept, hold, or retain, any other civil office of honor, trust or emolument under the government of the United States, or of the State, except notaries public and commissioners of deeds, or under this charter, or who shall accept a seat in the legislature, or who shall, during his said term of office, receive any fees or emoluments directed to be paid to him by any ordinance of the common council shall be deemed thereby to have vacated every office held by him under this charter. No person shall hold two charter or county offices, nor shall an officer under the city government hold or retain an office under the county government, except when he holds such office ex officio by virtue of an act of the legislature, and in such case he shall draw no salary for such ex officio office.

§ 100. No street, avenue or public place in the city of New York, which has been once paved and the expense thereof paid for by the owners of the adjoining property by assessment, shall hereafter be paved at their expense, unless such paving be petitioned for by a majority of the owners of the property who shall also be the owners of a majority of the front feet on the line of the proposed improvement; and any ordinance or resolution heretofore passed for any pavement, which has not been petitioned for by a majority of the owners of the adjoining property to be affected, and for which no contract has been entered into or award of contracts made, is hereby declared to be inoperative and void.

§ 101. All printing for said city including the printing of the city journal shall be executed, and all stationery shall be supplied under contracts, to be entered into by the comptroller and the commissioners of the treasury, or any three of them, after an advertisement in three daily newspapers printed in said city, having the largest circulation therein, for at least two weeks, inviting proposals. Said proposals shall be based upon specifications to be filed in the finance department which shall set forth, with accuracy, the number, of every description, of printed blanks; also of each description of stationery or blank books, in ordinary use in the board of aldermen and the respective departments, and likely to be required during the year for which such contract is to be given; and the bids shall be given for such number of each printed description of blanks, or of each article of stationery (including under the head of stationery letter or writing paper, or envelopes, with printed headings or indorsements) as are specified, and for each additional number as may be required, giving the price for blanks of every description, and the price for all other printing, "per one thousand ems," or for "rule and figure work," or for advertisements, per line. Separate contracts shall be made with the lowest bidder for any one description of printing, or any article of stationery involving an expense of more than five hundred dollars. EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, April 3, 1872. }

To the Legislature :

The telegraph to-day announces the death of its inventor, Samuel F. B. Morse. Born in Massachusetts, his home has, for many years of his eventful life, been New York. His fame belongs to neither, but to his country and to the world; yet it seems fitting that this great State in which he lived and died should be the first to pay appropriate honors to his memory. Living he received from governments everywhere more public honors than were ever paid to any American private citizen. Dead, let all the people pay homage to his name. I respectfully recommend to the Legislature the adoption of such resolutions as may be suitable, and the appointment of a joint committee to attend the funeral of the illustrious deceased.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

The private secretary of the Governor appeared in the Assembly chamber and presented a communication from the Governor in the words following :

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, April 3, 1872. }

To the Assembly :

I return, without approval, Assembly bill No. 430, entitled "An act to amend title 12 of the charter of the city of Albany, entitled the police department,' passed March 16, 1870."

Among the very earliest of the bills presented to me for approval, after I had come into office, was one relating to the police of the city of Syracuse, being now chapter 19 of the Laws of 1867. This bill was modeled after a law which I found upon the statute book in relation to the police of the city of Utica, chapter 414 of the Laws of 1867. In both cases there were four commissioners of police, whose term of office was four years, but divided into two classes so that half of them went out every two years, and who were to be chosen in the same mode as provided in the present bill, that is to say, every elector was entitled to vote for only one commissioner, the one having the majority of votes to be declared elected, and the one having the next highest number of votes to be appointed by the common council. The general provisions of both bills were well guarded, and the police commissioners were in each case made removable for cause in the same manner as sheriffs.

In 1870 the law of 1867 applicable to Utica was repealed. In Syracuse the law of 1869 is still in force. With more consideration of the principle involved in the Syracuse bill and with the experience of to-day, I would not have given it my approval. The method adopted for the selection of the commissioners in that bill and in the bill now under consideration, while it seemingly gives the election to the people, is, in fact, simply a designation by party caucuses or conventions, and the supposed ratification by the people is a form, and nothing more.

It is only on very rare occasion that, even in the municipal elections, more than two tickets are before the people between which to choose, to wit, the tickets nominated by the organizations representing the two great parties. If four persons are to be designated for certain offices, and every elector is restricted to voting for only two of the four, the people, in fact, can make no choice. The nominations made by the respective conventions of the two great parties are, under such a state of facts, conclusive. This method has been tried, on a larger scale, in the designation of the late board of supervisors for the county of New York. It has recently been given up there with general consent.

The bill now before me is more objectionable than those to which I have already referred, relating to Utica and Syracuse. In this bill four commissioners are to be designated at the municipal election now soon to occur, in the manner already described, who are all to hold office for four years. They are during this period to have the sole and absolute control of the police and, no matter how they may use this great power or abuse it, no provision is made for calling them to account or for removing them or any of them, however pressing may be the need of applying a corrective. For a period of four years the whole power of the police is to be in the hands of men designated by nominating caucuses or conventions, not elected by the people of the city, nor appointed by any public authorities, and subject to no correcting power in case of misconduct or malfeasance in office.

The extraordinary provision of the bill now under consideration for the filling of vacancies among the commissioners might lead to very inconvenient results. It is, that in case of a vacancy occurring, the members of the commission who shall be "of the same political party" as that of the person whose place has become vacant, shall nominate three persons and the members of the commission shall, within two weeks thereafter, choose one of these three to succeed to the vacant position, and "it shall require the votes of all the remaining members for a choice." In the meantime and until the vacancy be filled the commissioners "are prohibited from making any removals from or appointments to the police force." This puts it in the power of one member, by refusing to agree to an appointment for filling the vacancy, to deprive the commissioners of the power of enforcing necessary discipline among the members of the force for an indefinite period.

This provision, moreover, would be liable to great uncertainty in its construction. It is by no means impossible that in a period of four years the political associations of some of the members of the commission might be changed, and so there might be no one qualified to make a nomination or a serious dispute might arise as to which one of the commissioners would be entitled to make it. In this case or in case of an irreconcilable difference of opinion in regard to filling a vacancy, the affairs of the department would remain in confusion until the legislature could be convened."

The main objections are, however, that the commissioners are to be subject during their long tenure of office, to no responsibility to superior authority for misconduct, and that they are to be designated in fact by party conventions, instead of being elected by the people or appointed by some local authority.

In the efforts to obtain non-partisan boards or commissions for certain public duties, we may go so far as to set aside altogether responsible government. For the acts of a board of police appointed as this bill provides, neither the mayor nor the common council of the city would be in any degree responsible, nor could either of the great political parties be held unanswerable. The commissioners would be acting under no sense of responsibility to the people, nor of accountability to the public authorities of the city or State; the only penalty hanging over them for misconduct would be the possible displeasures of the nominating conventions of their respective parties at the distant period of the expiration of their term of four years, or the possible intervention of the Legislature by a repeal of the law and the abolition of their offices.

I feel confident that, on reconsideration of this bill, the Legislature will agree with me that entrusting power to public officers, unaccompanied by an accountability clear, distinct and capable of prompt enforcement, is dangerous to good government.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Mr. Alvord moved to lay said message upon the table.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the affirmative.

To the Honorable the Assembly:

The undersigned committee on federal relations, to which was referred the communication of His Excellency the Governor, announcing the death of Samuel F. B. Morse, beg leave respectfully to report, that they cannot more fully perform the duty enjoined upon them than to embody, in the form of resolutions, the appropriate and eminently fit words of the message of His Excellency, and therefore without farther preamble, offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the telegraph (his creation) announces the death of its inventor, Samuel F. B. Morse. Born in Massachusetts, his home has for many years of his eventful life been New York. His fame belongs to neither, but to his country and to the world, yet it seems fitting that this great State, in which he lived and died, should be the first to pay appropriate honors to his memory. Living, he received from governments more public honors than were ever paid to any American private citizen. Dead, let all the people pay homage to his memory.

Resolved, That the lightning flash, first compelled from Heaven by mortal hands, through the instrumentality of a Franklin, utilized and rendered the hand-maid and most efficient aid of civilization, by a Morse, will never perform a more painful and sad act than when it set the tune to the requiem over the grave of one who, by the control of its mighty power, is acknowledged and known of all men as one of the greatest human benefactors of his age or of the world in its history.

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed by the Chair to attend the funeral of the late Samuel F. B. Morse.

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Assembly is hereby directed to transmit a properly engrossed copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased.

Mr. Husted moved that the vote on the adoption of said resolutions be taken standing and in silence.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the affirmative.

And said resolutions were adopted unanimously.

Mr. Speaker announced as such committee Messrs. Husted, Prince, Griffin, Simpson, Moulton, Osgood and Tilden.

Leave of absence was granted to Messrs. Eastman, Knettles, Mosher and Rice indefinitely.

Mr. Speaker stated the question to be under the special order of the House upon the adoption of the resolution, offered by Mr. Fort yesterday, in words following:

Whereas, The committee on canals have been directed to investigate charges against William W. Wright, Canal Commissioner, and John Haggerty, late superintendent on the Cayuga and Seneca canal; and

Whereas, The services of a stenographer will be necessary in taking the testimony on such investigation; therefore,

Resolved. That the committee be authorized to employ Worden E. Payne, Esq., as stenographer, at a compensation of fifteen cents per folio for a term not exceeding fifteen days.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said resolution, and it was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the affirmative, two-thirds of all the members present voting in favor thereof.

Mr. Springsted then moved to take from the table said message in words following:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, April 3, 1872. }

To the Assembly:

I return, without approval, Assembly bill No. 430, entitled "An act to amend title 12 of the charter of the city of Albany, entitled 'The Police Department,' passed March 16, 1870."

Among the very earliest of the bills presented to me for approval, after I had come into office, was one relating to the police of the city of Syracuse, being now chapter 17 of the Laws of 1869. This bill was modeled after a law which I found upon the statute book in relation to the police of the city of Utica, chapter 414 of the Laws of 1867. In both cases there were four commissioners of police, whose term of office was four years, but divided into two classes, so that half of them went out every two years, and who were to be chosen in the same mode as provided in the present bill, that is to say, every elector was entitled to vote for only one commissioner, the one having the majority of votes to be declared elected, and the one having the next highest number of votes to be appointed by the common council. The general provisions of both bills were well guarded, and the police commissioners were in each case made removable for cause in the same manner as sheriffs. In 1870 the law of 1867, applicable to Utica, was repealed. In Syracuse the law of 1869 is still in force. With more consideration of the principle involved in the Syracuse bill, and with the experience of to-day, I would not have given it my approval. The method adopted for the selection of the commissioners in that bill, and in the bill now under consideration, while it, seemingly, gives the election to the people, is, in fact, simply a designation by party caucuses or conventions, and the supposed ratification thereof by the people is a form and nothing more.

It is only on very rare occasions that, even in municipal elections, more than two tickets are before the people, between which to choose, to wit, the tickets nominated by the organizations representing the two great parties. If four persons are to be designated for certain offices, and every elector is restricted to voting for only two of the four, the people, in fact, can make no choice. The nominations made by the respective conventions of the two great parties are, under such a state of facts, conclusive. This method has been tried, on a larger scale, in the designation of the late board of supervisors for the county of New York. It has recently been given up there with general consent.

The bill now before me is more objectionable than those to which I have already referred, relating to Utica and Syracuse. In this bill four commissioners are to be designated, at the municipal election now soon to occur, in the manner already described who are all to hold office for four years. They are during this period to have the sole and absolute control of the police, and no matter how they may use this great power or abuse it, no provision is made for calling them to account or for removing them or any of them, however pressing may be the need of applying a corrective. For a period of four years the whole power of the police is to be in the hands of men designated by nominating caucuses or conventions, not elected by the people of the city nor appointed by any public authorities and subject to no correcting power in case of misconduct or malfeasance in office.

The extraordinary provision of the bill now under consideration for the filling of vacancies among the commissioners might lead to very inconvenient results. It is, that in case of a vacancy occurring, the member of the commission who shall be "of the same political party" as that of the person whose place has become vacant, shall nominate three persons and the members of the commission shall, within two weeks thereafter, choose one of these three to succeed to the vacant position, and "it shall require the votes of all the remaining members for a choice." In the meantime and until the vacancy be filled the commissioners "are prohibited from making any removals from or appointments to the police force." This puts it in the power of one member, by refusing to agree to an appointment for filling the vacancy, to deprive the commissioners of the power of enforcing necessary discipline among the members of the force for an indefinite period.

This provision, moreover, would be liable to great uncertainty in its construction. It is by no means impossible that in a period of four years the political associations of some of the members of the commission might be changed, and so there might be no one qualified to make a nomination, or a serious dispute might arise as to which one of the commissioners would be entitled to make it. In this case or in case of an irreconcilable difference of opinion in regard to filling a vacancy, the affairs of the department would remain in confusion until the Legislature could be convened."

The main objections are, however, that the commissioners are to be subject during their long terms of office, to no responsibility to superior authority for misconduct, and that they are to be designated in fact by party conventions, instead of being elected by the people or appointed by some local authority.

In the efforts to obtain non-partisan boards or commissioners for certain public duties, we may go so far as to set aside altogether responsible government. For the acts of a board of police appointed as this bill provides, neither the mayor nor the common council of the city would be in any degree responsible, nor could either of the great political parties be held answerable. The commissioners would be acting under no sense of responsibility to the people, nor of accountability to the public authorities of the city or State; the only penalty hanging over them for misconduct would be the possible displeasure of the nominating conventions of their respective parties at the distant period of the expiration of their term of four years, or the possible intervention of the Legislature by a repeal of the law and the abolition of their offices.

I feel confident that, on reconsideration of this bill, the Legislature will agree with me that intrusting power to public officers, unaccompanied by an accountability clear, distinct and capable of prompt enforcement, is dangerous to good government.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion to take from the table, and it was determined in the affirmative.

The question then being "Shall this bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"
